FREMONT COLLEGE.

Brief Mention of the Week's Happenings.

In chapel last week Prof. C. W. Weeks gave a vivid description of Vermont, where he spent his vacation visiting his old home.

The pharmacy class has organized a Pharmaceutical club, which will hold meetings the first and third Thursday nights of every month. It is the purpose of the club to discuss subjects of a pharmaceutical nature and secure from time to time professional men who will address the club.

The Young Women's Christian association held a reception for the girls of the college at the association rooms September 18.

Leon Jensen from Dannebrog, Neb., has entered the commercial work. He is a friend of William Nielson, who is assisting in the pharmacy department.

In chapel Wednesday the stage was crowded with members of the teachers' class and their exercises clearly showed that quality in that class is in equilibrium with quantity.

Miss Mendenhall spent Saturday and Sunday with her brother at Grand Island, J. E. Dobson has returned to resume his work in the pharmacy department.

Prof. Ray led the students through the national park on Thursday by the description of his trip. He gave them a breath of sulphur dioxide and directed their eyes to the Great canyon and "Old Faithful" and the "Lone Star."

DOANE COLLEGE NOTES.

Annual Reception to New Students Given Friday Evening.

The annual sophomore-freshmen reception occurred at Doane college Friday evening, and the reports are that the freshmen received the most rousing reception that any class has received in many years.

Monday night the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church held an informal to the new students to get them interested in the work of that organization. A large number were in attendance. This has become an annual affair.

Arrangements are being made toward settling the question for debate in the triangle between Cotner, Bellevue and Doane. Debate at present holds a high place in the interests of the students and some winning teams should be produced this year.

The foot ball squad were given their signals Thursday evening and spent most of Friday evening in practicing them. Saturday afternoon occurred the first scrimmage of the season. Doane has more material, and good material, too, for each position, than it has had for years, and the prospects are certainly encouraging. Goble, last year's fullback, had been about given up, but the word came Friday that he was on his way. The back field this year will be second to none in the state, with him back, and Kretzinger and Harris as halves and Gates, Koester, Medlar and Wishart, a new recruit, as other candidates for those positions.

KEARNEY NORMAL SCHOOL.

Activities of the Opening Days in the Various Departments.

The eighth year of the Kearney Normal opens with an unusually large attendance. The chapel is filled to overflowing and all classes are well represented. The enrollment in the higher classes is much larger than usual. Prof. H. O. Sutton of the department of physical science, is getting his laboratory equipment installed and is anxiously awaiting opportunity to put more than 100 chemistry students to work by the middle of the coming week.

Dr. Archer C. Flesham of DePauw university is now installed as head of the department of education. His classes in psychology, history and education and theory of education are largely attended. Dr. Flesham is using his own book, "Education Process," in his theory of education, to the delight of his students.

Activity has already begun in the various musical organizations of the school. The normal orchestra has rendered some splendid music for the chapel exercises. Prof. Porter had a fine showing for his band last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Steadman is having good enrollment in her choruses and glee clubs.

It becomes necessary to heat the building at an earlier date than last year. It was found necessary on the 18th to get the boilers in shape and steam up. Last year steam was not required until about the middle of October, making nearly a month's difference. Only one boiler, however, is required at the present time to heat the building, including the dormitory.

The department of agriculture is proud of its crop of beets. As an experiment in the spring the department planted several acres on the normal grounds. The irrigation system was used and the beets are of unusual quality. The department expects to receive considerable revenue above the expenses from its experiment.

Thirteenth regular meeting of the faculty for the year will be held at the residence of the president, September 23, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The meeting will be a combined business and professional meeting.

NEBRASKA WESLEYAN.

Total Enrollment Will Exceed One Thousand.

Nebraska Wesleyan university began its year's work last Monday, and enrollment continued through the week. The enrollment in the College of Liberal Arts is larger than ever, as is also that of the school of expression and the academy. That of the conservatory is about normal. The total will doubtless exceed the 1,000 mark.

With the return of Captain McCandless, who has been ill at his home in Broken Bow, foot ball stock took a decided rise. Sandalt, Aden, Chamberlain and Neighbors are back and in good form, twenty-five or thirty men are taking part in preliminary practice. The first game will be with the Grand Island college team on October 4, on the home grounds.

Friday morning at convocation Chancellor Fulmer introduced the new faculty members formally, to the student body. Each one responded with a few appropriate remarks. Prof. Aller succeeds Prof. Magendanz as director of the conservatory, Prof. Venner succeeds Prof. Churchill in the English department, while Dean Alabaster has been relieved of the work in the department of Latin and Prof. Hutchinson placed at its head.

The Young Men's Christian association and Young Women's Christian association gave a joint reception at the gymnasium last Thursday evening. After an interesting program all present enjoyed a melon feed.

The Epworth league gave a reception to the new students in the basement of the First Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening. A large number of both new and old students enjoyed the program.

S. E. Cozad, president of the Prohibition State Oratorical society, has opened an office in the C. C. White building. Mr. Cozad is the student who won first place in the state and district contests last spring.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL.

Enrollment in Junior Class Twice as Large as Last Year.

The State Normal school at Wayne, Neb., opened Tuesday with a large enrollment for this season of the year. The increase in attendance is found almost entirely in the number who are taking advanced work, the junior class being double the class of last year. During the summer the work was completed on a new library and science hall and the building was ready for use at the opening of the new year. This is a strictly fireproof building, for which an appropriation of $55,000 was made at the last session of the legislature, and it is one of the finest school buildings in the state.

Three new teachers have been added to the faculty. Miss Alvine W. Luers, who spent last year in the University of Chicago, has charge of the work in the kindergarten department. Miss Elizabeth Bettcher was elected critic teacher for the intermediate grades at a recent meeting of the Board of Education and began her work at the opening of the term. During the last year Miss Bettcher has been employed in the office of the state superintendent and was a member of the board of examiners for life certificates.

Work in domestic science has been added to the curriculum, and Miss Mary Pettit of Kentworth, Ill., has been placed at the head of this department. The work as outlined for the present semester includes cooking, sewing and sanitary science. Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury took advantage of a leave of absence granted her by the Board of Education and spent the summer abroad, returning to Wayne September 16 to take up her work in the normal.

Chadron Normal Opens.

The Chadron State normal opened with an attendance of 264. The school has so outgrown the part of the building already erected, it has rented four rooms in the West ward school house. As the two buildings are nearly a mile apart this makes extra work for teachers and pupils, but is the best that can be done until the legislature makes an appropriation for the wings of the building as planned.

Miss Susie Frazier, Miss Ethel Datzell, Miss Edith E. Copeland and Clarence A. Derge are new members of the faculty.

There are three more to be appointed. All the first year's teachers re-elected are on hand and work under President Sparks is proceeding in orderly manner.

Educational Notes.

The enrollment in the public schools of St. Louis reaches 50,000. There are 114 average and 2,500 teachers, whose salaries average $2,100 per year. The largest New York for 1913 totals up $38,316,500. The salaries of the school superintendent and building superintendent have been advanced from $10,000 to $12,000 a year.

Gifts to Yale were made known at the meeting of the corporation, the largest being $10,000 from the Misses Kingsbury of Waterbury in memory of Frederick John Kingsbury, for many years a member of the corporation.

Omaha Boosters Land Commercial Men's Annual Meeting

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—The next annual convention of the Central Association of Commercial Secretaries will be held in Omaha. This was decided today after a fierce fight on the floor of the convention, several other cities having extended invitations to the national body of Commercial club managers.

The convention which ended today has been one of the most successful in the history of the organization. John M. Guild of Omaha, the retiring president, with E. V. Parrish, manager of the publicity bureau of the Omaha Commercial club, conducted the fight and were aided by Nebraska delegates.

The membership of the Central Association of Commercial Secretaries has increased 20 per cent since last year and the number of delegates and guests that will attend the Omaha convention undoubtedly will be much larger than the attendance here. The Central association is a national body and members from the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts attended the meeting here.

E. M. Clendenen, secretary of the Commercial club of Kansas City, was elected president.

Thordike Deland, secretary of the Denver Chamber of Commerce, was elected secretary.

Library Takes Paper That Costs Twenty-Four Dollars a Year

How would you like to pay $24 in advance for your daily newspaper without the big Sunday number? There is no danger that you will have to do so, but the revision of the list of periodicals taken by the Omaha public library discloses that $24 is the amount paid for the London Times, six days in the week, for one year. A good part of this is an addition for extra postage. The London Times is the one standard European newspaper kept in the library's newspaper reading room, and the invaluable feature of it is that it publishes an index to its contents quarterly, which becomes practically an index of current events as chronicled in all the newspapers kept on file at the library.

Pressman's Arm Drawn in Machine

William Breil, assistant pressman at the Council Bluffs Nonpartei office had his left arm badly crushed last night in an accident in the press room. He was standing by the side of the press shortly after it had been started, and in changing his position in some manner his foot slipped. In his endeavor to prevent himself from falling from the low platform on which he was standing he threw up his arms, when his left arm was caught and drawn into the machine. Pressman Wadum was standing near the starting lever and saw the accident when it occurred and instantly shut off the power. Breil's arm was drawn so far between the cylinders that it was necessary partly to dismantle the press to release him. An ambulance was summoned and it reached the office before the man was released. He was taken to the Jennie Edmundson Memorial hospital, where Dr. Macrae attended him. His arm was found to be so badly crushed that it was thought at 11 o'clock last night amputation would be necessary. Breil is about thirty years old. His home is in Omaha, but he has been boarding on this side of the river.

T. R. BLOCKS CAUSE OF PEACE

Colonel No Longer Considered an Aid to Movement to End War.

HOW THE WORK PROCEEDS

Baroness Von Suttner of Austria Talks of What is Being Done in the World Peace Effort.

Baroness Bertha von Suttner of Austria, advocate of world peace, denounces the attitude of her co-worker in the peace movement, Miss Jane Addams. "I have pointed out to her in a letter," she said, "that she is inconsistent in aiding the belligerent Colonel Roosevelt and at the same time pushing the peace movement."

"We give Mr. Roosevelt credit for having done much to promote world peace, but there is no doubt that his ideals are different now. He is—belligerent."

Baroness von Suttner said Europe expects little aid in the peace movement from the colonel and the powerful peace associations have frowned upon him since he has so ardently intimated that preparedness for war is the best preventative of war.

The baroness addressed a large crowd at the Young Men's Christian association auditorium last night. John L. Kennedy presided and addresses on the peace movement were made by Superintendent E. U. Graf of the city schools and Dr. D. E. Jenkins of the University of Omaha.

Introducing the visitor, Mr. Kennedy said: "War is one of the brutalities of life. It is a blot on civilization. European countries are bound by warlike traditions, while the history of our own nation has, in the main, been one of peace."

Mr. Kennedy said it was peculiarly fitting that a peace message from Europe should come from a woman's lips.

"I did not come across the ocean to preach peace, but to tell you of the progress made in my country, to tell you of some things which perhaps you do not know about," said the baroness.

Referring to a statement by Superintendent Graf, who spoke on the American School Peace league, Baroness von Suttner said: "The work is—what do you say?"

"Advancing," some one in the audience suggested.

The baroness thanked the auditor, saying she sometimes found it difficult to say the word she wanted to use. However, during the remainder of her discourse she spoke fluently.

"America is that land that is not only the cradle of the peace movement, but the land that is aspiring to lead in it," she continued. She said there is a "Jingism in France as well as in this country, but the advocates of peace are gaining a wider hearing.

Europe Sets Peace Back.

Efforts to promote peace between England and Germany have been so strenuous that fifteen years ago similar attempts would have resulted in sudden war. In her own country, Austria, she declared the policy that keeps 600,000 men in arms in time of peace and increases the number to 2,000,000 in times of war. Italy, she declared, has by recent actions, thrown the peace move a century behind.

Americans frequently write the baroness letters, she said, that show an ignorance of social conditions in this nation, where 60 per cent of the revenues of the federal government go to prepare for war or pay for past wars.

Heavy Cost of War. "You don't feel the burden of the armaments and you do not feel the dangers of war. You do not know that the burden is heavy."

In America, she said, manufacturers of war material are working earnestly to promote the war sentiment against the opinion of the majority of the people. Apathy of the masses, their inaction in working either to promote peace or war, is largely responsible for the success of the war advocates.

She declared against the practice of teaching rifle shooting in the public schools and attacked General Baden-Powell, founder of the boy scout movement for saying that "foot ball is a good game, but better than any game was the game of man-hunting."

President Taft's attempt to promote world peace by treaty and arbitration she praised, and denounced the senate for killing the peace treaty between England, France and the United States. Concluding, the baroness said the United States is no better than European countries, for while we are not apparently inclined to war we keep on preparing for it.

Wish Peace Demonstrations. The Panama canal exposition and the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of peace between England and the United States, she said, should be made great occasions for peace demonstrations of all the nations.

Peace societies should "found press agencies" in the opinion of the baroness and keep circulating all rumors that tend toward national peace.

Urging her auditors to join in the movement, the baroness concluded, "The hour is dangerous and the work is urgent."

At the close of the meeting nineteen members joined the local organization for the promotion of international peace. The baroness will speak at 10:30 this morning in the North Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Wirt streets.

Luncheon at Happy Hollow. Mayor Dahlman welcomed the baroness to the city at Happy Hollow club, where a luncheon was given in her honor shortly after her arrival.

Speakers were Mrs. T. J. Glat, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. R. E. McKelvey, president of the Omaha Women's Democratic League, Mrs. C. W. Hays, president of the Omaha Woman's club; Mrs. George Covell of the Suffrage club; Mrs. Edward Johnson, vice president of the Nebraska Peace association; Mrs. D. C. Johns of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Cecil Berryman played a piano solo and Chief of Police Dunn sang two solos.

Mrs. C. Vincent introduced the baroness, who spoke at length on conditions in Europe, deploring the fact that the Italians and the Turks are warring.

Happy Hollow Club Elects Golf Player to Its Directory

An unusual number of stockholders participated in the election of directors for the Happy Hollow club last night. Charles Harding was elected to succeed himself and Charles H. Sherman and W. E. Shafer were chosen to succeed E. A. Benson and John L. Webster, whose terms expired. The term is for three years.

The election of Mr. Shafer to the directory is taken as an indication of the growing strength of the golfing element in the club. Mr. Shafer was club champion for two years, and was runner-up in this year's club competition, and the golfing members of Happy Hollow feel that they have made gains in being able to elect a fellow to the directory of the club.

Y. M. C. A. Campaign Proves Successful

Young Men's Christian association today membership campaign ended last night with a total of 650 new memberships. The last day saw the hardest work of the campaign and 136 memberships was the result of the day's work. The H. C. Rosacker team headed the list with seventy-three memberships, while Harman Ohlschwager won the individual prize, a sustaining membership, with twenty-six. H. C. Rosacker and Randall Curtis were next, the former having nineteen to his credit and the latter seventeen.

Here the easterners were met by a committee made up of jobbers and Commercial club members and entertained during their stay. They were given an automobile ride over the city, visiting the jobbing district, the parks and the country clubs.

This introduction has not yet taken place, but probably will occur soon, being made possible by the advent Friday evening of a daughter in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Heller, residing at the Alma apartments at Twenty-seventh and Harney streets.

The new-born infant has a living great-grandmother, spanning five generations, although the line is not direct, and one link in the chain, the grandfather, is dead. Mrs. Heller, the parent of the child, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling P. Glasgow, the great-grandmother is Mrs. Sarah Glasgow, living at Peru, Neb., and the great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Sterling P. Majors, also living at Peru, Neb.
