

WILL CALL DYNAMITE CASES

Trial of Labor Leaders Will Begin at Indianapolis Monday.

FIFTY-FOUR MEN INDICTED

Charge is Violating Federal Statute Forbidding Transportation of Explosives on Passenger Trains.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—Charged with complicity in the so-called "dynamiting conspiracy," fifty-one men, present or former officials of labor unions, are to appear for trial before Judge Albert B. Anderson and a jury in the federal court of this district on October 1.

Indicted under a federal statute forbidding the transportation of explosives on passenger trains the defendants are alleged to have been concerned in nationwide plot to destroy the property of contractors employing nonunion ironworkers, culminating in the explosion in the Los Angeles Times building, which cost twenty-one lives.

Fifty-four were indicted by the grand jury in its report of February 6 last, but of this number John J. and James B. McNamara are in San Quentin prison, and J. J. McCray, a former member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, has not been found by the federal authorities.

Most of the defendants are or have been connected with the iron workers' association, which, since 1905, has been engaged in a struggle with the National Erectors' association, an organization of structural steel and iron contractors employing nonunion workmen. Members of this employers' association suffered loss from more than 100 explosions from 1895 to 1911.

Following the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the iron workers' association, at its headquarters in this city, and the arrest of James B. McNamara and Orrie E. McManigal in Detroit, in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion, presentments were made to the federal grand jury of this district that officials of the iron workers' association and other labor unions had been concerned in a conspiracy to intimidate employers of unorganized labor by a systematic destruction of their property.

Orrie McManigal's confession, in which he related that he had been employed by the McNamara brothers and Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary-treasurer and the alleged head of the "dynamiting crew," John T. Butler of Buffalo, first vice president, and Michael J. Young of Boston and Phillip A. Cooley of New Orleans, members of the executive board.

Business agents and secretaries of local iron workers' unions throughout the country, alleged to have been implicated in the illegal transportation of explosives from state to state, make up the greater part of the list of defendants, but officials of other unions are indicted. They are Olat A. Trevison, secretary of the Building Trades council of California; William K. Beason, former president of the Detroit Federation of Labor; Clarence E. Dowd, organizer for the International Association of Machinists; Hiram Cline of Muncie, Ind., organizer for the Association of Carpenters and Joiners, and Spurgeon P. Meadows, business agent for the carpenters and joiners' unions of Indianapolis.

United States Senator John W. Kern is to be chief counsel for the defendants and the government will be represented by District Attorney Charles W. Miller and his assistant, Clarence Nichols, who conducted the grand jury's investigation.

Boy Bandits Held on Robbery Charge

Arthur Nelson, Gilbert Lindeman and John Kohn, the boy bandits who were arrested for terrorizing the north end of town with numerous hold-ups and who later confessed, were arraigned in police court on a charge of highway robbery. They waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the district court in the sum of $1,500 each.
