Mrs. J. Van Rensselaer and son, Beverly, have returned from a two months

September 29, 1886—Mr. Charles B. Keller and Miss Cora Doane were married at Trinity cathedral by Bishop Worthington. At a few minutes after 8 o'clock the bridal party drove up to the arch that had been erected in front of the cathedral and as the organ began a subdued prelude every eye of the large crowd turned in expectancy toward the door. The bridal cortege was preceded by two fairies in pink and blue, Miss Jennie McClelland and Miss Birdie Barber. Miss Wakeley was the first bridesmaid, and Mr. A. Wakeley and Mr. Guy Doane acted as groomsmen.

September 29, 1874—Philly Potter, Nebraska manager for the American Surety company, thirty-eight years ago married Miss Fanny M. Clark at Fort Calhoun, Neb.

September 29, 1891—Mr. W. M. Burroughs and Miss Alice Chute, both of Omaha, were married at the bride's home. Rev. F. W. Foster tied the knot. The wedding was a quiet affair, just the relatives of the contracting parties being present. Mr. Burroughs was the assistant general agent of the Northwestern Life Insurance company.

September 29, 1887—Mr. Arthur Metz of Omaha and Miss Emma Schmidt of Davenport, Ia., were united in marriage at the bride's home. Rev. A. M. Judy of the Unitarian church performed the ceremony under a beautiful canopy of smilax and pink carnations. An elegant wedding supper was served in the private banquet hall of the library hall. From earliest childhood the bride possessed a pronounced love for music, and she became an accomplished musician and teacher. Mr. Metz is the son of Senator Fred Metz of Omaha and was the secretary and treasurer of the Metz Bros. Brewing company. The happy couple enjoyed an extended wedding tour of the east. Among the guests present from Omaha were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Metz and Mr. Arthur C. Smith.
