CRONIN APPEALS HIS CASE

Editor of O'Neill Frontier Seeks to Recover Printing Bill.

ALL OVER SCAVENGER TAX LIST

Alleges Prepared to Publish Same When County Board Ordered Job Given to Another Paper—Creston Dispute.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., June 14.—(Special.)—Dennis H. Cronin, editor of the O'Neill Frontier, has appealed from the decision of the district court of Holt county in a case where he sued the county treasurer and his bondsmen for $400 due as he alleges, on a printing bill, wherein the County Board of Supervisors had ordered the treasurer to have printed in the Frontier the scavenger tax list, but instead gave the job to another paper. Cronin alleges that he got ready to print the list and that he should be paid for it. The editor of the Frontier has twice received a verdict for $1,011.66, but appeals to the supreme court claiming insufficiency of the sum.

Saloon Case Opened. A transcript has been filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court in a case wherein the village trustees of the town of Creston, in Platte county, had granted a saloon license over the remonstrance of several citizens who set forth that the petition for the saloon did not contain a sufficient number of freeholders. The case was tried in the district court of Platte county and the board upheld. The remonstrators now appeal to the supreme court.

Contract for Boilers. The Board of Public Lands and Buildings met this morning and let a contract to Ed L. Simon of Lincoln for two boilers for the industrial school at Kearney. The price will be $4,673.

Bishop Visits Nebraska. E. C. Bishop, formerly state superintendent of Nebraska, but now in charge of the extension work of the Ames, Ia., agricultural school, was calling at the statehouse this morning. Mr. Bishop is well pleased with his new location, but admits an occasional "hankering" for Nebraska.

Fruit Prospects Good. Secretary Marshall of the horticultural society reports this morning that the fruit prospects in Nebraska are good. He says that in southeastern Nebraska, which is the great apple district, there will be an immense crop of apples. In the North Platte country the apple crop will not be so large. This is due mostly to the fact that that section had a big crop last year and that two large crops seldom follow. The cherry and plum crop will be very good and the strawberry crop fairly good. The dry weather of a couple of weeks ago has affected the strawberries more than any other fruit.

Lexington Controversy Up. Argument before the railway commission was had today in a controversy from Lexington over the matter of the Union Pacific Railway company compelling passengers to alight and get on to trains and having to pass across the main line track. The track at Lexington is a double affair and the petitioners claim that it is dangerous for passengers to cross one track to go to and from train. J. L. Cleary of Grand Island, W. A. Stewart and Mr. Cook of Lexington appeared for the petitioners and Edison Rich of Omaha for the railway company.

Boosts Legislative League. Henry Richmond of Omaha, secretary of the Legislative league, was in town yesterday in the interest of the league, and sending out correspondence tending to create a big meeting during the session of the next legislature. Mr. Richmond says that the response to invitations to get into the fold are coming in fast and that the membership at the present time is nearly 600. He expects by the time of the meeting that the league will have over 1,000 members. A banquet was held some time ago in Lincoln, which was the start of the plan, which it is hoped will result in a permanent organization which will hold its meetings at every session of the legislature.

Banks Doing Well. Secretary of the State Banking Board, Ed Royce, has just received a copy of resolutions passed by Group No. 1, which held its meeting in Lincoln recently. Among other interesting resolutions the following appear: To the Secretary of the State Banking Board, Mr. E. Royce, we extend congratulations for the able and efficient management of his office. His strict enforcement of all provisions of the banking law meets our approval. We recognize the difficulties met and overcome by him in the successful enforcement of the act which, in its inception, was distasteful to many if not most of our members. We assure him of our support in the continuation of his endeavors to furnish the people and the bankers a safe and sound banking system.

Colorado Seeks Petrina. George Pitrina, released from the penitentiary about two weeks ago, is wanted at Colorado Springs. Petrina is the man who gave out an interview after his release in which he said that things were just as bad at that time as they were at the time of the prison outbreak in March. Petrina served in the Nebraska prison for forgery, which is the same thing he is wanted for in Colorado. The crime was committed three years ago.

Nebraskans to Convention. The list of Nebraskans who will hold positions of honor at the national republican convention is growing. The latest additions are L. L. Lindsey and Thomas Benton, both of Lincoln, Crawford Kennedy, E. G. Maggi, Sheriff Myers of Lancaster county, Harry Lindsay of Lincoln and Harry Thomas of Harvard are the other appointees. Fred Holstein of Alliance and Harry Harley of Lincoln have been recommended by the state board of pharmacists for appointment on the board. Only one of the three can receive the appointment.

Water Pressure Poor. Warden Medick of the penitentiary reported to the state board of public lands and buildings that the water supply at the institution was again running low. A six-foot well which is being dug by the convicts is expected to help matters when completed, but at present the

OWNERS OF SCHOOL LAND LEASES OBJECT TO TAXES

KEARNEY, Neb., June 14.—(Special.)—Vigorous protests were made before the County Board of Equalization now in session by owners of school land leases when they found that the leases of school land had been placed on the taxable list, but especially were they displeased at the value of the leases, as fixed by the assessors. The three-day session has been prolonged somewhat owing to the unusual number of persons appearing before the board. On the average the farm land is estimated to average $30 per acre throughout the county on the assessed value, a price that it is thought will be increased by the State Board of Equalization.

Receptions Are Planned for Good Roads Promoters

Additions are being made to the number of boosters who will blaze the good roads way from Omaha to Cheyenne and Salt Lake City. H. E. Fredrickson, who will be captain of the ship, together with Mayor Dahlman, are hearing from those who want to go. There are few, however, who are certain they can take the trip. Fredrickson is anxious to get word from everyone who can go all or even part of the way. The boosters will leave Omaha Monday morning at 7:15 o'clock. The first stop will be made at Fremont, where a big reception has been planned. Letters of welcome from towns along the route are now being received by the Omahans. Nearly every town will have out a band of greeters to meet the good roads enthusiasts. The first night of the trip will be spent in Central City. From there the band will go to Kearney, where they will take luncheon Tuesday. Tuesday night they will arrive in Goshen, and the next noon at North Platte. From there on stops will be made at Ogallala, Julesburg, Kimball and Cheyenne. The party will arrive in Cheyenne Friday noon. The Omaha Commercial club is generating a great deal of enthusiasm about the country through the good roads trips. Announcements has been made by A. H. Felton, president of the state bank at Du Bois, of the organization of the Omaha-Topeka Short Line association. A member of the Omaha Commercial club will be chosen as vice president. The association will plan a big booster trip from Omaha to the Kansas city.

Johnny Wanner is Sold by Pa Rourke

Johnny Wanner, utility infielder for the Rourkes, was sold Thursday to the Hartford club of the Connecticut league. He was in Omaha Friday and left for Connecticut, where he will play second base. The reappearance of Skipper Schippe in a Rourke uniform was the cause of Wanner's going. Although the little fellow is a wonderful player there was no room for him. Rourke is now carrying all the men he is allowed and will keep under the rules of the National commission, which limits the number of players carried by a Class A league to eighteen. Schippe will now be used as a pinch player and will be able to fill any position on the team but catch and pitch.

DESCRIBES HIS OWN FATE

William T. Stead Once Wrote Remarkable Story of a White Star Tragedy. Intimate friends in this country of William T. Stead of London, one of the victims of the Titanic disaster, recalled a story which he himself wrote in the Christmas extra issue of the Review of Reviews, London, published in December, 1912, entitled, "From the Old World to the New, a chapter of which tallies in almost every detail with the wreck of the Titanic. Mr. Stead in this chapter, which is called "Coincident and Clairvoyance," describes an encounter with icebergs at sea. His characters are a group of English tourists on their way to the Chicago World's fair. They are crossing the Atlantic on board the Majestic, of the White Star line. The steamship suddenly comes upon a great iceberg. The great English writer, long known for his ideas on spiritualism, clairvoyance and mental telepathy, brings all into play in his thrilling story of the high sea, but when he describes the icebergs, fog and conditions of sky and sea on board the Majestic it would seem that he had been able to read an account of what took place that tragic Sunday evening. It could not have been more identical. "Jack" Compton, a passenger, has the power of automatic writing. Compton perceives a telepathic message from John Thomas, a Scotchman, who is an old friend, that he (Thomas) has been saved in the wreck of the Montrose, which was in collision with an iceberg. The message continued to come. Meanwhile Mr. Compton had asked the captain of the Majestic to stop at the iceberg on arrival. The old captain scoffs at the idea. But then his own vessel comes within a hair's breadth of being wrecked by an iceberg. He stops, Compton and the "professor" put out in a lifeboat and eventually reach John Thomas, finding him almost dead. They bring him safely to the Majestic just as it seemed that the steamship would go under. The setting of the story and the description of the icebergs and the wreck tally with the tragedy of Sunday night. The time and place also agree with those of Sunday's catastrophe. It also was on a vessel of the White Star line, and the captain had under his care just 2,000 souls and a cargo worth at least $2,000,000. Perhaps the only difference was that Mr. Stead's mental telepathy has been replaced with wireless telegraphy. Striking sentences here and there from other writings of Mr. Stead are also recalled in which it might seem that he had some premonition of his own fate. Especially is this so of a comparison in his book, "How I Know the Dead Return," which has a paragraph beginning,

"Let us consider the Atlantic ocean as the grave." Then the author compares one shore with earth and the other with the eternal shore.—New York Herald.

Signs of the Times. Card in a Roxbury window: "Cannery bird for sale." Notice on Tufts college grounds: "May parties not aloud." In a moving picture theater: "The College Brawl—Great Irish Drama." In Los Angeles: "Divorce Sale—Must dispose of Entire Stock to get Money for Alimony." Sign in a saloon: "Don't buy booze if your children need shoes. We don't want that kind of money." From rate card of a Prague hotel: "Dissatisfied guests are pleased to bring their afflictions to my own person."
