COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Friday Morning, Aug. 18.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 25 cents per week. By Mail, $10 per Year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway. M. G. GRIFFIN, Manager. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. Sherraden makes photographs. Officer Tyson yesterday afternoon picked up Tom Ward for being drunk.

Three drunks were yesterday disposed of in the police court at the advanced rate, $9.00 each.

Reimer Steuermann and Annie Wisch, both of Avoca, were yesterday given leave to wed.

At Shull's butcher shop, south Main street, you can always get the best meats at reasonable prices.

Chas. Bennett was among those booked at the hotel de Field yesterday for being drunk and carrying concealed weapons.

Circus day drew a goodly number in from the country yesterday, but not so many as such events usually do.

The Spaldings, of Chicago, will play the Council Bluffs Base Ball club on Saturday at 4 p. m., at the grounds in Council Bluffs.

Howe & Son bought the Hertzman store, on Upper Broadway, and have moved into it with their stock of furniture and stoves.

There was less doing at the stock yards yesterday than usual, there being no receipts and only nine cars shipped, they being by Barkey Bros. & Co., over the Rock Island.

A number who had shooting galleries, base ball rackets, etc., to make a stake out of a connection with the circus, on finding that they would have to pay $10 license, folded their tents and silently stole away.

There were four pickpockets who hovered about the circus grounds yesterday and tried to work the crowd. The officers had an eye on them, so that they could not do very successful work.

George W. Bailey, of Oakland, and Sarah E. Gavin, of Menomona, came into the city yesterday to see the show. By the kindly service of Justice Abbott they returned home as Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bailey.

Information wanted of Ory Garnett, who resided in Council Bluffs last July, by his brother, William Garnett, late of Wisconsin. Any information leading to his whereabouts will be gratefully received. Address Bee office, Council Bluffs.

A man giving his name as Harry Moore, was yesterday afternoon arrested by the special policeman at the Northwestern depot for being drunk. Moore had a coat on which did not belong to him, and that mystery will probably be cleared up this morning.

David Fosterin was yesterday brought before Justice Fraleny, to answer to a charge of assaulting his wife. He pleaded not guilty, and demanded a jury. His case was set for next Tuesday afternoon, and he gave bail in the sum of $100.

Batcheller & Doris' circus drew a good crowd yesterday afternoon and evening. Though there is a statement in all these shows, yet this one introduces an unusual number of novel feats and sights. The crowds were pleased, as was evidenced by the expressions of praise heard on all sides.

The electric fire alarm system is not in running order yet. The boxes are attached and can be used by the department in sending in alarms, but the keys will not be distributed through the city until after the striking and repeating apparatus is set up in the engine house.

Riley Oldaker was yesterday before Justice Abbott on a charge of cruelty to animals, it being claimed that a horse he was working was as thin and weak and had such a sore neck that he was unfit for service. The case was continued on condition of Oldaker putting the horse into pasture and giving him a rest for thirty days.

Yesterday woman's rights were duly respected. One was seen grinding away at a hand organ and was allowed to tire all ears in the vicinity of Broadway and earl streets. Another woman was noticed sauntering along Broadway smoking a pipe with the greatest nonchalance and evidently enjoying life as well as any man could under similar circumstances. The suffragists should not feel discouraged on seeing such hopeful signs.

The quartette of degraded females who occupy a cell in the jail have been making such an indecent show of themselves at the window, and howling and yelling obscene language to all passing the vicinity, that a wooden barricade has been placed in front of their window, shutting off all chance of seeing or being seen. They have demolished furniture in the cell and keep a constant uproar. They are now threatened with either a cold water dousing or a diet of bread and water if quiet and decency are not observed.

A countryman named S. A. Kounts, who was a little boozed yesterday, claimed that he was swindled out of several dollars by two fellows, giving their names as Jas. Boyd and Frank Phillips. He said they sold him a revolver for a dollar and kept both the money and the weapon. They also got $5 out of him on a little bet of less than a dollar, on which they failed to return change. Officers Sterling and Clough looked up the trio, Kounts charged with being drunk, which will serve to bid him as a witness, and the two others for larceny. They will have a hearing this morning.

Hersford's Acid Phosphate acts as food for an exhausted brain.

NEW STOCK. A nice stock of Furniture and Stoves, at living prices, can always be found at Howe & Son's new store, No. 303 Broadway, Herzman's old stand.

The London Lancer. "Many a life has been saved by the moral courage of the sufferer" and many a life has been saved by taking SPRING BLOSSOM in case of bilious fever, indigestion or liver complaints. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

REPENTING AND RETURNING.

The Lonz Bought Missouri Girl is Found and is Homeward Bound.

A short time ago THE BEE noted the fact that there were parties in this city trying to get some trace of a wayward girl, who for two years had been lost to home and friends. The friends had been informed that she for a time lived in this city, but they were unable to get any trace of her, and the search here was abandoned as it had been in other places.

THE BEE at the time gave an outline of her life, how she had left her home of luxurp and wealth, preferring to see the world without restraint. The father, who is well known throughout Missouri, and who is both prominent in health, and the anxiety for his lost daughter bore heavily upon him. He was not backward in expending money in his search for the daughter, and has sent messengers in various directions during the past two years, but all in vain. The attention called to the case by THE BEE resulted, however, in accomplishing what these messengers failed to accomplish. A gentleman of her acquaintance finding the account of her life and wanderings to coincide with those which she had related to him, sent her a marked copy of the paper and wrote to her, urging her to return home. She could not believe that her friends were so anxious for her return, but on finding that it was indeed her father who was thus searching far and near for her, she has decided to return to her home in Missouri, and leave the gilded palace of sin in St. Jo, where she has been living of late. She seems fully determined to lead a life more worthy of her friends, and more true to her womanhood, and in a letter to the gentleman who sent her THE BEE and put her on the track toward home and friends again she says: "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the interest you have taken in me. I have seen the folly of drink—see the dearest friends turn against me. I hope you will accept my sincere thanks for your kindness, and rest assured you will always be considered the means of changing me from a low degraded life to one I hope of happiness." It is to be hoped that healthy influences of the home to which she is going her resolution to reform may never be broken.

ATTENTION EVERYBODY. Howe & Son have moved their stock of Furniture and Household Goods to 303 Broadway, Herzman's old stand.

PERSONAL. Dr. O. W. Archibald, of Glenwood, was in the city yesterday.

J. H. Horton and Frank Prim, of Denver, were at the Ocken yesterday.

Dr. C. W. McGavin, of Missouri Valley, was in the city yesterday.

J. M. Dority, of Creston, was a welcome caller at THE BEE office yesterday.

Gen. John C. Cowan, of Omaha, was among the prominent in the city yesterday.

Joseph Bowler, of Carlisle, Pa., an account of whose extensive cattle ranches was given in yesterday's BEE, arrived at the Ocken yesterday.

G. Q. Kirby, who is in the banking and real estate business in Dunlap, and who is well known throughout this part of the country, was here yesterday.

Jacob Williams, Esq., came from Nebraska yesterday to see how Council Bluffs is growing, and to shake hands with the many friends of his old home.

Mrs. Chase and Miss Richardson, of Janesville, Wis., passed through the city yesterday en route for Washington territory, where the former has been summoned by the news of the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. George Strout.

Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Woodbury, and their daughter Miss Olive Woodbury, returned yesterday from the east, where they have been for about seven weeks, visiting their old home in Boston and vicinity, the White Mountains, Old Orchard Beach, Maine, and other points of interest and enjoyment.

Mr. J. Marshall, Bank of Toronto, Ont., writes: "Barilich and dyspepsia seem to grow up with me, having been a sufferer for years, I have tried many remedies, but with no lasting result until I used your LUNDOCK BLOOD PURIFIER. It has been truly a blessing to me, as I cannot speak too highly of them." Price $1.00.

HELP WANTED. A good first-class meat cook, and two dining-room girls, at the Metropolitan Hotel, Omaha, Neb. a15 2.

SINGULAR, THOUGH PLURAL. It is One Woman with Two Bodies, or Two Women with One Body.

The two-headed woman arrived yesterday with Batcheller & Doris' circus, and in the forenoon held a sort of reception to the medical fraternity and newspaper men. It is difficult to decide how to speak of this mystery, whether to say "she," "they" or "it." There never was a personage so mystifying and puzzling to any one desiring to use the English without slaughtering it. "They is a she, and it are a woman," is about as near as one can get at the truth. Whatever the term that may be used, the mystery, in speaking with either mouth, always says "I," and never "we." So it may be fairly judged that the use of the singular number is approved by both heads. "She," then, is called Millie Christine, or Christine Millie, one head being christened Millie and the other Christine. She is about thirty years old, and was born of slave parents in North Carolina, being then the property of the father of their present manager, Mr. Joseph Smith. She is a light mulatto, of medium height, possesses two heads, four arms, one waist and four legs. In fact she is two persons in one. Each head seems to work independently of the other, so far as talking, singing, etc., is concerned, so that she can sing and play on an organ, or one head can visit with the other. Above where both merge into one trunk the sensation of touch is felt separately by each. For instance, by pinching one of the arms one head alone feels it, but below the juncture all sensations are the same to both beings.

If any one steps on any corn of any one of the four feet both heads feel the pain, a double affliction which should be avoided by having the corns above the juncture if they or she have or has any at all. She converses with equal fluency and with as many different languages with one head as with the other. She sings, she dances, she indulges in feats of acrobatics, and can sing and talk at the same time. In fact she is really a mystery.

She has traveled extensively in Europe as well as this country, and on the expiration of the present engagement with Batcheller & Doris, November 1st, will still further increase her knowledge of other lands by a trip to Australia and the Asiatic continent. She has amassed a fortune, and now owns the plantation on which she was born, and there cares for her old father and mother.

Among those who saw her at the Ocken house yesterday was Dr. Pinney, to whom THE BEE man questioned as to what he thought of her, the doctor having been one who examined her. The doctor said that by examination it was found that the spinal column of each individual person (for he deemed them two personalities) was perfect and complete down to the lumbo-sacral region, where there was a complete and perfect junction, the one terminating in the other. Nature had at this conjunction of the spine and pelvic region culminated in a unit-city of being, so far as sex, etc., was concerned. Yet the lower extremities were those again of two, separate and distinct persons. Doctor Pinney expressed it as his belief that nature intended them for two persons, but the two germs from which they had their origin, by contact and pressure, coalesced during the first weeks of uterine life, which fully accounted for each having the same sensations, in the lower extremities, from touch or injury.

Perseverance of the Musketeer. Toledo (O.) B. ad.

Gen. Steedman tells a good story which is applicable to the manner in which the aristocratic Sixtieth Rifles recently shipped out in front of Ramleh, and gave everything up to the Egyptians. While near Nashville the general had a negro regiment on the picket line, and a bright young mulatto sergeant in command of a post got the drop on a rebel post and captured the whole outfit. The rebels were a crowd of high-stepping young Virginians, and some of them were badly wrought up by the idea of having Gen. Steedman look their commander, a fine young fellow, into his tent, extended some little courtesies to him, and in the course of the conversation said: "It was a little tough, Lieutenant, to be taken in by colored soldiers, but war has strange experiences."

"Well, General," said the other, setting down his glass, "I've been in the army now nearly four years, and if I've learned anything it has been a profound respect for the musket. When the muzzle is shoved into my face I don't usually ask any questions as to who's got hold of the breach."

Gen. Sherman tells nearly as good a story, in his book. He was standing on the sidewalk in St. Louis when Gen. Lyon went out with his men to attack the secessionists at Camp Jackson. A young lady of Gen. Sherman's acquaintance—daughter of one of the most aristocratic families in the city—was standing on a stoop near by, wringing her hands and crying. She said her brothers, cousins, and a number of acquaintances were in Camp Jackson, and she was certain that they would all be killed, for they were proud, high-spirited men, belonging to the best families in the city, and they would all die before they would yield. Gen. Sherman tried to console her by saying that he had noticed that sons of first-class families were usually not any more willing to die than any other people. He continued his walk, and in a little while met Gen. Lyon returning with the entire force at Camp Jackson, which had surrendered without firing a gun. He hastened back to comfort the young lady with the news of her kinsmen's safety, but after she heard it she slammed the door in his face.
