Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

T. G.: If you have learned thoroughly the work you have had up to the 11th grade, I think you might be able to get a certificate for teaching in some states. You would probably have to pass the state examinations. I would advise you to write to the state superintendents of several of the western states where you are interested, asking how to proceed. There are no schools which are likely to be open for you during summer. I think most states require the applicant to be 18 years of age. It would be better for you if you finish your high school course and then teach near home the first year. Then, armed with experience and a high school diploma, you would probably be able to secure a good position farther away. I do not know of a ranch where you could spend the summer.

Button: I am afraid I can't help you get acquainted if you have tried without success the various places you name. Something, after all, depends upon yourself. You may you are not bashful. Perhaps you are other people in an unselfish, friendly way, but do not pry into their affairs with your interest.

M. S.: I wouldn't undertake to find a roommate for you. Unless I happened to know some one personally who would be desirable, I could do no more for you than our advertising columns.

Carl: I am not wise enough to know why your friend did not answer your letter or return your photo. Why not ask her if you may call to return the pictures you have, and get those you have given her?

H. L. E.: I do not know of any safe remedy to advise you except exercise. Write to Antoinette Donnelly, care of the Chicago Tribune, and she will forward you a set of bust-reducing exercises.

Perplexed: Keeping out of the sun is the best remedy I know of for avoiding freckles. Our mothers used to use buttermilk and oatmeal to keep their complexion white.

O. W. P.: Cheer up. The worst is yet to come—for the other fellow.

Mrs. A. D. Mallory returned Thursday evening from Des Moines, where she spent a few days with her son, Dr. A. D. Mallory.

May Baskets

By MARTINA GARDNER OWEN

Fred's aunt, who was a kindergarten teacher, had given him a pair of round-pointed scissors for his fourth birthday. She had also prevented possible trouble by explaining that the scissors must never, never cut anything unless mother had first told him that they might. Now Fred was demanding: "What may I cut, mother?" For a moment mother was puzzled. He hadn't mastered the use of scissors sufficiently to cut out pictures. He could just make straight slashes.

"How would you like to make May baskets?" mother asked at last. "Oh, goody! May!" he returned, clapping his hands. "Yes, indeed, mother assured him, as she dived into the drawer that held her haphazard collection of odds and ends. "See, here are some small boxes, all empty. Raisin boxes, cereal boxes and cookie boxes. And here is some pretty paper. The pink is nicest. It was left over when I put fresh papers on the pantry shelf. I'll cut strips to go around the boxes. Then you can cut them into fringe. Try to make your cuts even and close together. When you have enough good fringe we will paste it all around the boxes. Then we will fasten on some stout strips for handles and cover the handles with other strips of pink paper fringed on both sides and the May baskets will be finished."

"And may I hang them on May day?" asked Fred. "Of course you may," replied mother. "While you are cutting think about the playmates to whom you wish to give them. We'll talk it over while they are being finished."

Mother returned to her baking with a clear conscience. Then we will fasten on some stout strips for handles and cover the handles with other strips of pink paper fringed on both sides and the May baskets will be finished."

A Silly Song

By A CUCKOO BIRD

It isn't often Peleg Brown gets mad enough to fight. But all this week Peleg's been upon the war path fight. He says if he can lay his hands upon a certain chick, he'll try to turn him wrong side out for pulling off this trick. And here's what stirred old Peleg up and riled him through and through. He hung home dressed fowls out in front as butchers often do. And Dopy Dugan passing saw those chickens on the line, and beat it for the depot and came back with a sign. It read:

"Take one." It's hung for years upon the depot wall above the ladders and the maps they furnish free to all. And Dopy hung it on the line where Peleg's chickens hung and Peleg's generosity was soon on every tongue. Some thirty minutes later the line was clean and bare and nothing but the tell-tale sign swung idly in the air. Old Peleg nearly had a fit and cursed both loud and long, and now he's planning how to get that guy that did him wrong.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 16c and 30c.

Blue and white is rumored to be the color of the new complexion.

Even a Great Mill Like This Can't Provide the Flour for WHEAT TONE

WHEN we undertook to satisfy the demand for a new and better health bread, we were determined to produce something more than the customary mixture of white flour, bran and molasses.

But the great commercial mills of the country couldn't supply us with the kind of flour we knew was necessary—a genuine ALL-OF-THE-WHEAT flour.

There was nothing to do but to equip our own plant with complete milling machinery—a mill on the order of the old-fashioned buhr stone that assured real WHOLE WHEAT bread to our forefathers. Now we grind our own wheat DAILY and use the flour immediately to bake delicious WHEAT TONE.

This is the ONLY way we could prepare genuine Whole Wheat bread. By this process WHEAT TONE is made to contain the Wheat Germ and the coarse Bran—two of the greatest health elements of the grain, but which are milled out of commercial flours because the Germ deteriorates and the Bran colors and coarsens the flour.

But the Germ contains most of the fats and vitamins of the wheat berry, while the Bran, in addition to being a perfect laxative, is rich in mineral salts.
