Playing Tag With Bootleggers.
SCOTTSBLUFF—Officers played a merry game of tag with bootleggers near here Monday, according to word received by State Sheriff Gus Hyers, Tuesday morning. State agents and local officers had captured seven stills in the vicinity of Scottsbluff, and then the officers themselves were victims of the bootleggers, who stole their car while the officers were eating supper at Scottsbluff. According to Sheriff Hyers, State Agents Oliver Hedre and John Johns, were assigned to look for stills in northwest Nebraska. They received orders to stop at Kimball and see Sheriff Froslyng, who furnished them with his Buick car, and a deputy to drive it. The party then proceeded to Scottsbluff near which city they found and seized seven stills Monday. These the officers took to the county seat at Gering.

Following turning in of the stills, the party of officers went back to Scottsbluff where they had supper at a restaurant, leaving their car outside. Bootleggers who had trailed the officers stole the car, while the officers were eating. However all is well that ends well, as the officers left Tuesday morning for Cheyenne following receipt of word from there that the car had been recovered there, and the thieves were under arrest. The thieves will be brought back to Nebraska.

Two Sets of Triplets.

FREMONT—Although there were only four sets of triplets born in the entire state of Nebraska last year, two such events graced Fremont's record for last week. The first set was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Porter. All were boys weighing five and one-half pounds. Despite the fact that the three were physically perfect in every way, the first two died shortly after birth and the third passed away the next day. The mother is recovering rapidly.

The second set of triplets of the week were born Saturday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crash. As in the first case, all were boys and of the same weight. Two of these died four hours after birth. The third infant survives and will live, according to the physicians. Crash is a Northwest-ern railroad conductor.

FREMONT—A delay in the mails may cost County Judge Waldo Wintersteen and Clerk of the District Court P. T. Mitterling the sum of $3,400. Last August they mailed a check for that amount to the heir of an estate in Los Angeles. The envelope was marked for a five-day return. For some reason the letter and check for $3,400 laid in the Los Angeles post office for sixty-two days. The check finally was returned to the senders in Fremont reaching here on October 28. They immediately mailed another check for the same amount on that day. Before the check had time to arrive at its destination this time, the First National Bank, upon which the money order was drawn, closed its doors.

Women Swat Carnivals.

ORD—Resolutions adopted by the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs at its convention, at Seward were made public officially by Mrs. P. C. Perryman, corresponding secretary of the federation. Some of them are:

"Whereas, carnival companies as they now exist are detrimental to the moral and financial welfare of the county or community, be it resolved that this convention place its stamp of disapproval upon this class of entertainment."

"That the federation co-operate with the state forestry association in the work of conserving the timber and encouraging the forestation movement on a large scale in Nebraska."

"That the federation give time, strength and thoughtful study to the limitation of armaments and earnestly strive to strengthen public sentiment in favor of such reduction through agreement between nations and that an expression from this convention be sent to President Harding, our delegation to the disarmament conference and our Nebraska congressmen, urging full publicity of deliberation and speedy and radical limitation of armament now, looking forward to disarmament."

Wild Duck Was Tagged.

COLUMBUS—While hunting near this city some weeks ago, H. G. Person shot a duck, on one wing of which he found a small metal band bearing the number 498 and asking that the man who banded the bird notify the Manitoba Trading Co., St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Person did so. In reply he has received a letter from H. W. Martin of the sportsman's department, Canadian National railways, Port Arthur, Ontario, saying he had banded the bird along with over 500 others of various species in northern Saskatchewan during July, this year. The purpose of marking them is to determine whether they follow a definite line of flight on their annual pilgrimage southward, and what percentage of them fall victim to the sportsman's gun.

No Chance to Get Medicine With Any Kick in Nebraska

Nebraska's prohibitory law forbids physicians the right of prescribing alcoholic spirits for medicinal purposes, whatever interpretation the federal government may place upon the right of administering the beverages for such purposes, according to an opinion of the attorney general. State laws do not admit federal statutes to govern in prescriptions containing intoxicating beverages, the attorney general says, and no physician in the state has yet received such a permit. "Nebraska rests severe upon her state prohibitory law, which prohibits the prescribing of intoxicants for use as a beverage," the attorney general states. The attorney general has gone farther. In his opinion, wine capable of producing intoxication, or which contains more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol with prescription, cannot be administered. The law is interpreted that the prescribed compound must be a medicine of a nature such as to physically prevent a human being from using it as an intoxicant.

A provision of the prohibitory laws states that a regularly licensed physician or veterinary surgeon may prescribe intoxicants to animals and people, provided the intoxicating liquor is mixed with other ingredients, and further providing that the ingredients are of such a character as to render the compound unfit for use as a beverage. This clause, the attorney general believes, makes medicinal prescriptions devoid of intoxication.

Despite new treasury regulations allowing physicians to issue an unlimited number of prescriptions for beer they will be held to the old maximum of 100 prescriptions every three months, whether the doctors prescribe whisky, wine or beer, Commissioner Hayes announced. He added that he saw no reason for changing the old rule.

A decrease of about $12,000,000 in taxes collected on non-beverage distilled spirits during July, August and September as compared with the corresponding months of last year was announced by Mr. Hayes.

No Change In Schedule for Valley Trains

The schedule for Burlington route valley trains will not be changed at the present time.

The proposal to change the time of 309-310, from Bridgeport to Morrill, so that it would leave Morrill early in the morning for Bridgeport, instead of shortly after noon as at present, has been vetoed by L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the railroad, because of opposition that developed in towns of the valley.

Scottsbluff and Minatare favored the change, which would have improved some connections at Alliance and Bridgeport. Other valley towns opposed it, and because of that opposition, together with the cost of the change, Mr. Wakeley decided against it.

Rotarians Hear Old Time Democratic Political Thunder

The members of the Alliance Rotary club, which assays about 99 per cent pure and impure republicans, were privileged to hear an impassioned and intensely partisan democratic speech at the Wednesday evening dinner at the Palm Room of the Alliance hotel. The orator was Rotarian Harry E. Gantz, and it was purely the fortunes of war that he was permitted to make that kind of a speech in company which was so badly in need of it. There were five speakers at the dinner, all drawn by lot and sentenced to speak on a topic that was handed them by the committee.

Mr. Gantz made the most of his opportunity. He gave a long list of democratic achievements during the eight years the party was in power, played up the successful outcome of the war for all it was worth, and then spoke harshly of the failure of the present republican administration. Mr. Gantz took a tremendous risk in telling the plain, unvarnished truth to the republican members of the club, and got away with it. He rose to heights of oratory when he denounced the republicans for the 121 investigations that had been made in a futile effort to show up the democratic administration in its conduct of the war. Mr. Gantz' subject was "My Political Party and Why I Belong to It."

Dr. H. A. Copey drew "What the Average Woman Considers Her Rights," and he hadn't discussed the subject for over two minutes before the club realized that he was speaking from experience.

Charles Fuller discussed "The Advantages of Being Forty-five Years of Age." He gave some interesting references to an article by Wallace Irwin on the same subject, and then added some observations of his own that were equally pertinent.

A. V. Gavin spoke on "What the City Manager Plan of Government Has Done for Alliance." It is too early, he explained, to say just what the plan will accomplish, inasmuch as it has been in effect in the city for little more than half a year, but in that time City Manager Kemmish has more than saved his salary. There have been savings in practically every department of the city's activities, the payroll in every department having been cut down. A water main extension, for which bonds of $10,000 had been voted, was put in for a little over $6,000 from other city funds when it was discovered that there was a technicality that prevented the issuance of bonds. The city's biggest nuisance, the septic tank, is being made efficient, and this at very small expense and without hiring expensive outside labor. The biggest problem for the future is the storm sewer, as some plan must be devised to care for the flood waters. The present plan simply dumps the water into the lowlands east of the city. Mr. Gavin said that the council is well satisfied with the working out of the plan in Alliance, and with the ability of the city manager.

W. R. Metz, past president of the club, was assigned by lot the subject, "What Are the Rights of the Average Man." He quoted Blackstone at some length and discussed the purely legal aspects of the situation, and then, in a lighter vein, offered some good advice drawn from his personal experience.

The program was something of a change from the regular run, and was so successful that the speakers for next week were also drawn by lot. M. S. Hargraves, W. R. Pate, H. P. Coursey and Harry F. Thiele were selected, and their subjects will be based on the November issue of the Rotarian. The victims will not know the theme of their discourses, however, until 4 o'clock p. m. of the fatal day.

The Savings Habit

The savings habit is what counts these days. Any feeling of unrest or uncertainty that might arise during these trying times can be safely put aside when you have the security of knowing that there is on deposit for you at this bank a neat, tidy sum—the results of your steady and consistent savings—by means of which you can tide over any temporary inconvenience.

There was never a better time to start than right now. The sooner you start the sooner the amounts will pile up to a substantial sum. Laying aside a little each day is easy and you'll never miss it. And you don't have to call upon your imagination very hard to realize what a benefit it will be to you, should you be suddenly called upon to use it.
