There is a Louisiana Lottery club in town, composed of ten members. The boys have paid in $10 and received $5. There are multitudes of better paying investments, boys, besides such outrageous frauds as the Louisiana Lottery ought to be discontinued rather than encouraged.

J. N. LUCAS.

April 30, 1885.

The lot between Kendall's billiard hall and LaTourette's hardware store, owned by D. Kendall has been purchased by M. Stern of Hastings, who will build at once, preparatory to going into the very remunerative business of keeping a saloon. The price paid is $1,500—probably the highest figure ever paid for a lot in our city.

Remember! Clothing at cost at Wilcox Bros.

"ALL FOR $11.05"—The tight rope performance given by the young gymnast, Tuesday afternoon, was witnessed by quite a number of people. The program was executed in most respects up to the standard, and supplemented by the gratuitous antics of an individual well internally decorated with coffin varnish offered considerable amusement for the lookers-on.

Standard Hallady wind mills at Spanogle & Rinker's.

A week or two ago one of the then numerous tin-horn gamblers applied to Supt. Campbell for a job. You may imagine his surprise and consternation when he was quietly, but firmly admonished that the company was not hiring pimps and tin-horns; that the company had no trouble in getting all the help necessary from among honest and reliable young men. Exit tin-horn.

Boston Brown Bread at the City Bakery constantly.

The test exhibition of the Harden Hand Grenade given by the gentlemen from Lincoln, Friday evening, was, we believe, considered a very satisfactory affair by all who witnessed it. Nearly every business man in town invested in one or more cases of grenades, thereby showing their confidence in them as fire extinguishers, and as being especially effective in the first stages of a fire.

For pumps and pipes go to Spanogle & Rinker.

The average American's bump of appreciation of the humorous is large. This was clearly demonstrated, Tuesday afternoon, during the tight-rope performance. The performer's imitation and mimicry seemed to "strike the observers where they lived," and called forth hearty applause, while the more artistic part of the program received no such marks of approval.

All grades and qualities of Shingles at Pike's Lumber Yard.

Seven car-loads of sheep billed to James Wonder of Culbertson, passed through this station, Friday evening. They were shipped from Wymore, this state, by Mr. Wonder, who was on the train personally attending to the shipment. A number of car-loads of cattle and horses also composed the train. For whom and destination we were unable to ascertain.

A full line of Pumps and Pump fittings, at Spanogle & Rinker's.

A car-load of grade Percheon Norman mares, shipped by Dunham of Wayne, Ill., to John A. Witter, manager of the Percheron-Norman Co., with headquarters at Denver, for their range on the Box Elder, Lost Creek, Kiowa and South Platte, passed through this station, last Friday on 83. The car which is specially adapted for horses, contained 15 head, valued at $20,000, and is the second shipment this spring.

The City Livery Stable, B. F. Olecott, proprietor, for fine teams.

During a local prairie fire which burned north of McCook, Monday, the home and household goods of Mrs. Hanlein were entirely destroyed, leaving the family in urgent need. The members of the household were kindly cared for by William Johnson and other neighbors, who have been interesting themselves, the past few days, in getting means to build the family another house, and to in a measure replace the household goods destroyed.

New goods just arrived at C. H. Rogers'.

As will be noticed in another column, Allen C. Clyde will on the 15th of May make application to the village board for license to sell liquor, the business to be conducted at the old Braun stand. Allow us to intimate to all anxious to go into this noblest of all businesses, that McCook is beyond all question the best point in Nebraska for the successful transaction of the same. Our people are just now disposed to give saloon men, like all other public benefactors, a cordial welcome. Come and do us good.

Two sets of harness, (one light and one heavy,) for sale at B. F. Olecott's, very cheap.

Another petition for saloon license, that of M. Stern of Hastings, has been circulating around town, this week, for signatures. Let the good work continue and prosper, fellow-citizens, saloons are among the noble institutions of man, wherein our young receive superb educations. Saloons teach and impress their lessons upon the youthful mind and heart so deeply that no power short of the infinite is able to undo the work. These lessons taught, fathers and mothers, being as fixed as eternity, and being productive of such blessings, financial, physical, mental, moral and spiritual, lining our coffers with yellow gold, storing our minds with knowledge, relieving the distress of the poor, healing the broken heart of the widow and clothing the orphan, in fact being the panacea for all the ills to which man is heir, THE TRIBUNE sanctions, with all good citizens, the saloon, and wishes them god-speed in their errand of love and mercy. Anything that will lighten the burdens of the oppressed, make more comfortable the poor and wretched, like the saloon, should engage our most heroic efforts, and they will. We want more.

Great Reduction in Watches and Jewelry at McCracken's.

The justice court over which Esquire Colvin presides was the scene of a rather humorous suit, Saturday evening, in the which beer was a large and potent element. It appears that John Everts, with two boon companions, Herts Bumbaugh and Fullgrabe, went up to Joe Braun's bar, and that Everts ordered drinks for the party, stating in answer to Joe's inquiry as to whether he (Everts) had any money, that he (Everts) had a quarter. After disposing of the beer, it further appears that Everts invited Braun to go to that location, where history informs us that fuel is unnecessary, for his money. Shortly thereafter Everts decided to quit the saloon—through the earnest solicitation of Joe's muscular development,—and Everts thereupon brought suit against Braun for assault. The case attracted considerable attention by reason of its decidedly laughable features. Braun was fined $5, together with the costs, making about $20. The case was appealed to the district court.

White Russian Soap, 5c. per bar, at Wilcox Bros.

It is very evident that one man is unable to handle the mail received at this office, and the bondsmen, in whose hands this office now remains, ought to meet this demand of the public service promptly. Mail matter is accumulating, and decisive steps should be taken to insure the patrons of the office prompt and accurate distribution and delivery of mail. The people are much more deeply interested in having the matter of postmaster settled than in the particular choice. The present quarters and facilities are entirely inadequate to the increased business of the office, and the people look forward with intense eagerness to the time when the long needed enlargement and improvement will occur. Brethren, let us make this a special subject of prayer.

Call and see Spanogle & Rinker's top Buggies.

Without deigning to exchange words with the illiterate monte-bank, whose black guardisms have appeared weekly in the "Blow Hard," against the editors of THE TRIBUNE, we simply request all our advertisers to call and satisfy themselves that we have, as we claim, the largest list of bona fide, paying subscribers of any journal in Red Willow county. To be sure, "feminine dude" is a brilliant piece of borrowed, would-be witicism, but as the older residents of this town know the superlative "tooter" to be the legitimate offspring of the saloon, poker table and bagnio, they will be very charitably disposed towards him, as we are, fully realizing that the skunk, (our readers will please excuse the odoriferous allusion for this once,) cannot be beaten at its own game.

First-class 12 in. Stock Boards at Pike's Lumber Yard.

The shower of Tuesday night was, to make use of the current slang expression, a "daisy," raising the thermometer of the more enthusiastic to fever heat, and cheering everybody immensely. A few more such encouraging visitations will insure the starting of crops in fine style.

A choice lot of candy just received at the City Bakery.

The annual issued by the proprietors of the Trumpet from their branch offices in New York and Lincoln is a beauty typographically, and reflects great credit branch-ward.

R. O. Phillips, the indefatigable manager of the Lincoln Land Co., was in town, the first of the week, on company business. He informs us that an addition to the town will be laid out on the north side just as soon as he can get time to devote to it.

Frank Hudson, manager of Hayden & Co's. store at Atwood, Kas., came over to town, Tuesday evening, to meet Mrs. Hudson, who arrived on No. 1, Tuesday night, from an extended visit to her parents in Indiana. They took the overland stage for Kansas, Wednesday morning.

F. C. Cutting, representing J. C. Ayer & Co., was in town, the first of this week, trying to make advertising contracts. As THE TRIBUNE did not have any space to donate to the company, we failed to agree. We would like to see all our contemporaries refuse these institutions further gratuitous advertising.

George H. Hand of the Ludell Settler came up to the city, Friday, on business, returning to his duties the following day. Bro. H., as usual enlivened THE TRIBUNE with his presence. A number of our merchants also have occasion to remember George's visit. There is nothing in the market too fine for the editor of the Settler.

J. D. Kilpatrick, one of Beatrice's most substantial and influential citizens, and in connection with his brother, W. H., late purchasers of the Webster ranch and stock on the Frenchman came up to town, Friday evening on No. 1. Mr. Kilpatrick spent Saturday in town, in conversation with W. H., Lev. Armacoast and others who had just come down from the ranch, returning home, on No. 40, Saturday evening.

We note that F. L. McCracken has removed that familiar chicken-coop ornament from his jewelry store, and that the room is being improved otherwise in appearance by an application of calomine, paper, etc. F. L. will also build an addition in the rear of his store for a sleeping room. This change makes a great improvement and adds to the convenience of the property as well.

AFTER May 1st George W. Holdredge will be General Manager of the great C. B. & Q. system. Mr. Holdredge has come up from the ranks to the most responsible position in the company's service.

Is it surprising, or is it not, that so many people are disposed to do no more than they are compelled to do. Take for instance the immense pile of debris scattered along the railroad track east of town. The same is growing larger and smells louder every week, right in the face of the fact that the people living in that locality are complaining against the nuisance. It does seem as though this matter ought to correct itself, without the interference of the authorities.

Ladies of McCook and vicinity: If you desire to have your dresses made neat and stylish, we would be glad to have you call and examine our work. Your patronage will be kindly recognized and shall have prompt attention.

S. A. & L. C. ROWELL, Rooms opposite TRIBUNE office.

During a recent trip down the road we saw a number of familiar faces—tin-horns mostly who have seen fit to make themselves scarce in McCook for a season, fearful of sharing the fate of Bowman and Lee now at the state's summer resort at Nobesville.

The stock brand of Kilpatrick Bros. of Beatrice appears in our directory, this issue. Stockmen recognize the importance of THE TRIBUNE as an advertising medium.

FOR SALE—A second hand cook stove. Inquire at the Metropolitan Drug store.

House plants for sale at the Metropolitan Drug Store.

Cheap Buggy. Single top buggy, with new pole; also, a single harness. Both for $75.

J. B. MESERVE.

IMPROVEMENTS—Register Laws has added greatly to the appearance of his property by the erection of an artistic porch on three sides of his residence. He is also, with T. S. Bosley, enclosing his property. . . . Roadmaster Phelan is making his home more convenient and commodious by the erection of a large addition to the west side of the same. . . . F. D. Hess keeps pace with the general march of improvement, and has just about added the finishing touches to a large addition to his residence. . . . Geo. Leland is rushing a 16x24 residence on McDowell street along as rapidly as possible. It will be one-story with basement. . . . Albert Noren has enclosed his lots south of Representative Hocknell's residence, and is planting the same to grass and trees. . . . Messrs. Sues and Minkler have their residences north of the school house well under way. Mr. Minkler's house will be 22x24, two-stories high. . . . W. O. Russell has bought and enclosed the lot adjoining his livery barn on the north, preparatory to handling horses, this summer. . . . T. S. Bosley is making some additions to his house and property. . . . D. J. Smith's livery barn on Macfarland street is rapidly nearing completion. It will be the finest building of that kind in the city.

Even preachers will sometimes have a "time with the boys" when they get out west—away from home. One of these missionaries to the rowdy west came to McCook, last week, after land, and before departing succeeded in getting so enthused with budge as to be unable to make himself understood in the King's English, and called continually for some one who could speak "sherman." But we won't "give the brother away," he probably won't make another break in years.

County-Seat Clatter.

County Commissioners meet again next Saturday, the 2nd.

C. D. Cramer complains (?) of a rush of business in the clerk's office.

Mr. Balleau, formerly of Red Cloud, is now making abstracts in the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Cynthia Cramer, mother of C. D. Cramer, is just recovering from a severe sickness.

The new postmaster works like a charm—one can appreciate the sweeping of a "new broom" in this case.

District Court convenes on the 13th prox. at which a larger docket will be presented than ever before in this county.

Indianola is just now in the midst of a boom. Several dwelling houses just completed, and more in the course of erection.

The new safe for Quick's bank has come, and the chances are that we will have additional storage for our surplus cash by May 1st.

Arrangements have been completed by the Y. M. C. A. of Indianola to build a library room and place of meeting. Work will be begun this week.

The Indianolas hotel's new addition, 24x36, is about completed. The old Sargent house is also receiving a large addition, and will be opened by W. K. Lynch.

Although a "license" board was elected here, the saloons don't seem to be very numerous as yet. The petition for the granting of a license has not, as yet, come to the "fore," in fact, it can't thrive in the company it keeps, and will probably die of emaciation.

The Red Willow County Teacher's Association will meet at this place on the 8th and 9th of May. A good program is prepared, and all live teachers are expected to be present.
