PELF BACK OF UNI FIGHT

Black Type Leader of Lincoln Paper Does Not Deceive Farmers.

CONTEMPORARY CALLS IT DOWN

Says Lincoln is Not Disposed to Endorse Any Noisy Advice that May Be Tainted with Self-Interest.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—The attempt of a certain Lincoln newspaper to pull the wool over the eyes of farmers from out in the state attending the meetings of organized agriculture in an effort to cloud the true situation regarding removal of the state university to the state farm has proven a boomerang and many visitors to the city during the week condemned in strong language the attempt of that paper to instruct them in what they ought to do. The action of The Bee Thursday morning in exposing the farmers of the state met with a great deal of favorable comment, so much so that not only was the whole reportorial force called in to combat the statements made by The Bee, but the editorial column, black and white, tried to cover their tracks by an attempt to show that The Bee was off in its statements.

Pelf Back of Fight.

The fact of the whole matter is that the Lincoln paper has fought the removal of the university with all its power ever since the matter was brought up in the last session of the legislature, and its fight to save the institution so that certain stores, rooming houses, saloons and shady joints could prey upon the students, has led it to make some foolish and misleading statements. As it sees sentiment changing not only out in the state, but right here in Lincoln in favor of moving the university to the farm where it can expand and grow and where the students from the country towns can be out from under the evil influences of the bawdy houses and other joints, it has become frantic in its efforts to win the fight and statements of doubtful character are repeatedly made to save a lost cause. Not only were the people from out in the state in Lincoln this week considerably out of patience with the action of that paper, but Lincoln people themselves became disgusted and even the State Journal took occasion to prod its journalistic neighbor editorially by saying that Lincoln "was not disposed to endorse any noisy offering of advice which may be put under suspicion as tainted with self interest."

Will Investigate Board of Agriculture

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—It is not known whether all branches of organized agriculture appointed representatives to act on the committee which is to investigate the State Board of Agriculture, as provided for in a resolution passed by the late farmers congress held in Omaha. However, some of them took action and the following were selected: Sheep breeders' association, J. D. Ream, Custer county; Swine breeders, S. R. McKelvie, Fairbury; Live stock breeders, C. C. Shallenberger, Alma; State Board Horticulture, J. R. Egan, Lincoln; State Board Agriculture, Charles Graff, Bancroft.

NEW MEMBERS NAMED FOR AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the agricultural commission which works in connection with the extension of agriculture department of the university, the following were formally elected to membership on the commission: J. E. Miller, Lincoln; W. R. Mellor, Lincoln; J. S. McNally, business agent, Rock Island, Omaha; George K. Andrews, agricultural commissioner of the Missouri territory; S. J. Leavelle, C. J. Lane, general agent of the Union Pacific.

Plans Only Tentative.

The facts of the case are that several plans have been drawn contemplating university extension, two of which cover extension on the state farm campus. But these plans have not been accepted and cannot be accepted until the people vote next November on the matter of removal. These plans are only tentative and were drawn up by an architect living in Chicago for the purpose of giving the board of regents some idea of what they could do if the people voted to move the university and there was money enough to build according to the plans. The same architect drew plans for the downtown campus proposition which are just as elaborate as those at the farm, but the state is not bound to accept any of them any more than it is bound to accept the plans published by the Lincoln paper during the session of the legislature for extension of the campus downtown, which on its own admission would cost $4,000,000.

WOLVES AND JACKRABBITS SUFFER DURING CIRCLE HUNT

FAIRBURY, Neb., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Between 50 and 70 Jefferson county farmers and business men of this city participated in a circle wolf hunt in Richland precinct north of Fairbury yesterday. Each side extended for a distance of six miles and then the farmers circled in. Two wolves were killed. These were sold at auction to the highest bidder. The farmers carried shotguns and it is estimated that at least 100 jack rabbits were slaughtered during the hunt. This was one of the largest and most successful wolf hunts held in this county from point of attendance.

Deaths Record.

Charles F. Iddings, NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Charles F. Iddings, for many years one of North Platte's most energetic and successful business men, died at his home Friday. During the last seven years he had been seriously ill with a mental disease which had incapacitated him for business. In 1878 he came from Ohio to Sidney, Neb., and a couple of years later he came to North Platte and soon engaged in the coal and lumber business. He was eminently successful and in time established branch yards at Julesburg, Harshey, Sutherland and Maxwell. In politics he was prominent as a republican leader. At one time he was elected presidential elector and some years ago was prominently mentioned for governor. He leaves a widow, two daughters and two sons. The funeral will be held from the home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Catarrh of Throat Relieved Gives Peruna the Credit.

MISS AMALIE RUZICKA, PRAGUE, OKLAHOMA. Her Neglected Cold Caused Serious Illness.

PRAGUE, OKLAHOMA:—"I have suffered with catarrh of the throat. I caught cold and it settled in my throat, and I coughed badly and was very weak. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I had two doctors, and had taken so many different medicines and found no help. I thought, I will have to give up; but at last my mother read about Peruna, so I thought of trying that great medicine, Peruna. I got a bottle of it, and in about four days I almost stopped coughing, and after a while I surely found relief, and from that time we are not without Peruna in our home."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets. Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.
