We Are Requested to Extend Our Wholesale Special Sale One Week More Ending Saturday Night, Nov. 8th

To the Trade of the West and Southwest:

Our wholesale special sale that began this week was to have ended Saturday night. The response, however, has been so great that we have not been able to give our customers the attention and service they should have had. We thought we had made every possible preparation to take care of the trade this week by adding extra help and calling in our road salesmen, but the rush has been too big for us. In the first three days alone of this wholesale special sale more than one thousand buyers were in our house.

Some of the largest department stores in the country made big purchases here, including houses in St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Detroit and Fort Smith.

Telegrams and letters have come to us from merchants in Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and the Pacific Coast asking us to give them time to come here and buy in this wholesale special sale.

Under these circumstances we feel that it will be only just and fair to add 6 days to this sale. The prices that have ruled this week will be in force in every department next week and we call your particular attention to the floorcoverings and draperies, and shirt departments.

Please bear in mind in taking advantage of this big wholesale special sale you are not buying from a broken stock. We will go into next week's sale with approximately $1,500,000 worth of fresh, seasonable goods for you to select from. We mention here briefly some of the departments in which there will be specially attractive bargains next week:

- Mill ends and short lengths.
- Prints, gingham and wash goods.
- Ladies' ready-to-wear garments.
- Silks and dress goods.
- Floorcoverings and draperies.
- Flannels, flannelette, blankets and comforts.
- White goods.
- Notions and novelties.
- Shirts, flannel, laundered soft shirts and work shirts.
- Pelt-lined coats and duck coats and rough wear clothing.
- Hosiery and underwear.
- Gloves, suspenders, ties.

To impress you with the far-reaching scope of these Wholesale Special Sale prices this week we only need to tell you that there will be reductions in patented Zero collar flannel shirts, Hallmark laundered shirts, Midland Brand laundered and military collar and Polo collar soft shirts, Central Brand laundered and soft shirts, and Our Own Make work shirts.

This is all new and clean and desirable merchandise, comprising 450 numbers.

These Rules Govern the Wholesale Special Sale Next Week:

Open order will be received with the understanding that House Buyers are to be given first attention. All items quoted in the circular are subject to prior sale. No goods can be placed on back orders during this sale.

- NO ALLOWANCES WILL BE MADE FOR RAILROAD FARES.
- NO GOODS BOUGHT DURING THIS SALE CAN BE RETURNED.
- NO DEVIATION WILL BE MADE FROM SPECIAL TERMS.

TERMS FOR THE SALE: 2%, 10 days—1%, 30 days, or net cash and due 60 days.

All merchandise bought during this week will be billed on these terms only. This rule will be in force in every department in our house. All prices made for this sale will be in force only until Saturday, November 8.

Write or wire us when you expect to be here and we will make special arrangements to give you prompt attention. All of our road salesmen have been called in to meet their trade in the house.

Please Remember that this sale closes positively on Saturday, November 8th, and that these prices will no longer govern following that date.

FIRE TEAM RUNS INTO CROWD

Whaley and Larsen Knocked Down and Slightly Injured.

DRIVER ROONEY IS EXONERATED

Lincoln Highway Bonfire Mistaken for a Bad Blaze and Department called Out to Fight Fire.

An accident occurred early yesterday morning when the fire department responded to the general alarm that was turned in when the whole town was aroused shortly after midnight by the tooting of whistles and the ringing of bells to signalize the lighting of the first bonfire of the thousands that were to blaze all the way across the continent, marking the route of the Lincoln Memorial highway.

Two members of the band engaged to play at the ceremonial were slightly injured when one of the fire teams dashed into the crowd before the driver could stop.

Th. E. Whaley, leader of the band, and Theodore Larsen, in charge of the bass drum, were knocked down. Mr. Whaley was able to resume his duties at his drug store before the middle of the day yesterday, but Mr. Larsen was obliged to remain indoors all day.

No blame attaches to the driver of the team, Tom Rooney of No. 1 hose company. He thought the fire was real until he was approaching the point where the big bonfire had been started, the junction of Pearl and South Main streets. It then realized that the purpose was to add to the general interest of the event by giving the nearly 300 visitors from adjoining towns who had attended the booster meeting and banquet at the Grand hotel and the entertainment by the Knights of the Full Moon the chance of witnessing an exhibition run of the fire department. He approached the crowd with clanging gong, and all of those on the side between him and the big bonfire fell back, giving, apparently, a clear passage-way through the crowd. The light from the fire blinded him so he did not see the members of the band standing directly ahead of him on the opposite side of the fire until he was close to them. All efforts to stop proved fruitless. The noise of the cheering crowd and the blast of the band instruments drowned the sound of the fire gong and the warning shouts of those who saw the danger. The fire team plunged directly through the compact little circle of musicians. All got out of the way but Whaley and Larsen. Whaley was hurt about the arms and shoulders and sustained a sprained ankle. Larsen was injured in almost the same way. They were cared for by Drs. Macrae, Tilling and other physicians who were present and then taken to their homes.

There were a number of narrow escapes. Driver Rooney was completely exonerated from all blame by the investigation made yesterday by Fire Chief Nicholson and others.

Superintendent Robert of the Iowa School for the Deaf asked the police department last night to help find two boys who left the institution early in the evening. They are Dan Cronk, 15 years old, and Walter Stanchan, aged 12. It is not known whether they had wandered away or ran away. They had not been found at a late hour last night.

The Grues' Canning company yesterday began a suit against H. E. Jennings, a tenant on 130 acres of land controlled by the company. The action was to secure payment of a balance of $213 of unpaid land rent, all due on the leased land for the present year. The company asks that the claim be made a lien on the crop and asks also for a writ of attachment.

Dr. Donald Macrae left last evening for Des Moines to attend the meeting of the Iowa Clinical Surgical society, which meets here today. Dr. Macrae was joined here by Dr. Van Buren Knott, Dr. Prince Sawyer and Dr. J. P. Garver, all of Sioux Falls, S. D., all leading surgeons and prominent in the medical world. She is survived by her husband, a son, Gutschentler, and three children, three sisters, Mrs. D. L. Keller of Ottumwa, Mrs. J. P. Corey of Ames, and Mrs. Mary Leocretia, a member of the sisters of Charity, all of this city. The body will be taken to Imogene for burial, where one brother, D. L. Ryan, resides. Another brother, J. P. Ryan, resides here. The funeral of John Sumpter, Great Western switchman, who was killed in the local yards on Wednesday, will be held this afternoon at the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock. The body has been removed from Woodring's undertaking rooms, where it has remained since the accident, to the home of Mrs. Rose Spaulding, a sister, residing at 84 South Seventh street, where friends may take the last view prior to the removal to the church. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery. The jury summoned by Coroner Coffey, after hearing of the evidence presented at the inquest, decided that death was purely accidental and that the railroad company was in no measure responsible for it.

All Saints' day, of medieval antiquity and observed by numerous churches, will be properly celebrated in Council Bluffs today. It follows as an atonement for the usual Halloween mischief. In St. Paul's Episcopal church services will begin at 8 o'clock this morning with holy communion. There will be special services at St. Francis' Catholic church, and the regular services at St. Peter's and the Holy Family churches. In the absence of Father F. P. McManus, who is to undergo an operation at Mercy hospital early next week, Rev. Father Palmer from Creighton university will conduct the services at St. Francis'. He will be assisted by Rev. Father J. Costello, three services being held, the first at 8:45, the second at 7:30 and the third at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Because his bushel measure was ten pounds too short and also because he was selling his measure to a neighbor without a peddler's license, Oliver Stevens of Omaha was fined $100 and costs yesterday in police court. T. L. Lawrence, who was working with him, was fined $5 and costs, as was also the wagon. It is said that the wagon and the potatoes were the property of another Omaha man named Porter, but he was not indicated when he appeared in court and attempted to show the men had committed no intentional offense. The proceedings were brought under the state law. The men were detained at the city jail until they could arrange for money from Omaha to pay their fines. When arrested Chief of Police Froom offered to take cash bonds of $25 from each, but they refused.

Auditor Scheel Comes to Town

B. A. Scheel, auditor of Shelby county, the man who has attacked the new Iowa road law, was in the city yesterday on official business with County Auditor Hannan. Auditor Scheel challenged the members of the State Highway commission to meet him in public debate and defend the road law, which it is claimed, gives the commission arbitrary power in dictating the expenditure of the county road and bridge funds all over the state. The commissioners have vigorously attacked Mr. Scheel, but they have declined to meet him in public debate.

COMPARATIVELY PEACEFUL TIME IS THIS HALLOWE'EN

Halloween mischief was reduced to a minimum last night through the agency of police activity and improved home training. Very little real mischief was done, and this was confined to the work of real hoodlums. It consisted of breaking down fences and tearing off gates in some sections of the city where those things exist and prying off the covers from coal holes in sidewalks in the business section of the city. The police brought in four boys who may be prosecuted for malicious destruction of property. They were taken at the city building for some time after their names and addresses were taken and were then sent home. Some really funny and thoroughly harmless fun was made by healthily-minded girls and boys who dressed up in ghastly garments and paraded the streets. Hair-raising scares were given sometimes when these ghastly figures would suddenly appear in dimly lighted places. People took kindly to this kind of sport and encouraged it. Many happy Halloween parties occurred where similar costumes were worn during the entertaining features, and these youngsters appeared to be having such genuinely good times that the hoodlum element was outclassed and greatly discouraged.

RAILROAD LOSES ITS CASE

Great Western to Pay Big Judgment Over Death of Man.

RUNS INTO OPEN SWITCH

Administrator of Estate Recovers $11,150 for Loss of Life of Employee in the Oelwein Yards.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Nov. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—After a trial lasting more than a week, L. W. Basham, administrator of the estate of John J. Spellman, was awarded judgment of $11,150 against the Chicago Great Western railroad in district court. The judgment is the largest that has been returned in a personal injury suit in the district court of Polk county in more than a year. Spellman was engineer of one of the company's trains and his run was between Des Moines and Oelwein. His death occurred when the train he was pulling ran into an open switch in the yards at Oelwein. Bring Back Two for Crime. The governor today issued two regulations to bring back persons to Iowa. The state agent for the parole board secured papers to return from Utah one Jesse Carper, under sentence from Wayne county, but paroled and out of the state without leave. Papers were issued to bring back from Kansas City Joe Donaher, who absconded with the proceeds of a sale of a load of potatoes entrusted to him by a farmer living near Des Moines.

Big Mail for Auto Owners.

The secretary of state today sent out over 100 mail sacks of mail containing the formal notices to automobile owners of the time for payment of the automobile tax and the fact that soon after the first of the month the number plates for 1914 will be ready to be sent out. Over 10,000 car owners will receive their notices at the same time and the mail which follows will probably cause congestion in the automobile department for a time. The sending out of number plates for this year has now practically ceased.

Car Shortage Matters.

The car shortage matter in the office of the secretary of state has been very light this year. Recently members of the commission have been called upon to aid some shippers in securing cars for the handling of grain chiefly because of the increased demand near the end of each month when the deliveries are being made to the grain markets. But the situation as to cars has been good most of the time. The rush for coal cars has not yet commenced, but some of the coal operators in and around Des Moines say they have had difficulty securing cars enough to handle the output of the local mines.

Railroads Under New Law.

When the Iowa workmen's compensation law was enacted it was supposed that it would have no effect on the relations between the 50,000 railway employees of the state and their employers, as the new federal workmen's compensation act had been enacted and it covers all employees on roads operating in more than one state. But the railway companies operating in Iowa have nearly all indicated that they are willing to come under the Iowa law also and to abandon the common law defenses which are in vogue. They will make a showing for the Iowa commission which will enable them to take advantage of the Iowa law. Thus far only one company has indicated unwillingness to come under the law.

Inebriate Hospital.

Reports from Knoxville as to the workings of the State Hospital for Inebriates indicate that in recent years it has been making good. For a long time it was practically impossible for the state to accomplish any good for the unfortunate who are placed there for treatment, because they could not be treated and whenever they felt like it they would run away. Now the state has a law under which they may be kept at the hospital by force, if necessary, until they are pronounced cured. It is just because of this new law that an attack has been made to have the institution declared operated illegally. State officials do not believe any great danger can come to the institution from the courts.
