Clemmons was freely hit to all parts of the park by the heavy hitters from York, getting twelve safe ones. Everdon pitched a tight game and could not be forced. It was relieved by Haley for Beatrice in the seventh, and Johnson for Hastings was taken out in the third inning and Turkey substituted. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 19.—(Special Telegram)—Grand Island lost a close eleven-inning contest to the Diar covers today. The third game of the series might have gone differently if the umpire's job had been performed more satisfactorily. The Diar team, which officiated yesterday, failed to appear today, and Reed and Smiser of the contesting teams were selected to fill the bill. Both seemed to hand the local club the short end, Smizer making a poor decision in the seventh that spoiled Grand's chance to win the game. The game was delayed twenty minutes in the first inning on account of rain. The score:

TRAVELERS ALWAYS ON GO

W. C. Bock Finds Tourists Making Trips at All Times.

SOUTH IN THE WINTER SEASON

Steamship Companies Run a Large Variety of Excursions to the Tropical Seas During the Frosty Days in the North.

"A passenger man doesn't have many idle days during the year," said W. E. Bock, city passenger and steamship agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. "We no sooner get the summer travelers started than we are plunged into a campaign for fall and winter business.

The East Indies and Panama attracted a large number of people last winter, in fact a much larger number than were able to go on account of the shortage in available accommodations. The steamship lines are anticipating a very heavy travel during the coming winter and have assigned some of their largest liners to special cruises, leaving New York during the months of January, February, March and April—notable among these are the steamships America and Victoria, both of the Hamburg-American line, the Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd and the Laurentic, Meaganic and Lapland of the White Star line. Never before have so many large and luxurious vessels visited the Caribbean sea, and these cruises certainly offer an exceptional opportunity to visit the American Mediterranean in the highest degree of comfort and convenience attainable.

The route of the cruises includes Cuba, Jamaica, Panama, Trinidad, Venezuela, Barbadoes, Martinique, St. Thomas and Bermuda, varying in length from sixteen to twenty-nine days, and in price from $14 upward, according to location of accommodations.

Weekly Cruises. Besides these special cruises, there are weekly sailings on the Hamburg-American line and Royal Mail Steam Packet company to Colon via Cuba and Jamaica, and semi-monthly service via the United Fruit company from New York and New Orleans.

"A delightful trip that does not seem to be so well known to western people, but is very popular in the east, is obtainable in the regular service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, who have sailings every two weeks to Europe via the West Indies, touching Antilla, Cuba, Jamaica, Colon, Panama (two days), Cartagena, Puerto Cabello, Trinidad, Barbadoes, St. Michaels (Azores), Cherbourg and Southampton. The trip takes almost a month from New York to Southampton, including the stops en route, which afford an excellent opportunity of visiting the places mentioned. The cost is $175 first class to England and the return passage from England can be had for $85 to $125.00 first class.

The Mediterranean and Orient are also offering their attractions, and unusual facilities for these trips are provided in special sailings of the regular steamer to the Mediterranean, is from 10,000 to 14,000 tons, but during the winter months the lines have assigned some of their largest boats from the northern service to this route. Among the vessels that will make special trips to the Mediterranean this winter are the mammoth new steamships Emperor and Cleveland of the Hamburg-American line, the Berlin of the North German Lloyd, the Franconia, Laconia and Caronia of the Cunard line and the Adriatic and Cedric of the White Star.

An innovation in the Mediterranean cruise, in fact, it is a half way around the world cruise. It leaves New York City January 15 and visits the Madeira islands, Cadiz, Spain, Gibraltar, Algiers, Genoa, Malta, Greece, Port Said, with opportunities for side trips to the Holy Land and Egypt; thence through the Suez canal to Bombay and Colombo, returning via Naples to New York City. The cruise takes eighty-one days and costs $700 and up.

Last, but not least of the Mediterranean trips is Frank Clark's annual cruise to the Orient. I have represented Frank Clark in Omaha for a number of years and he has always carried a liberal representation of passengers from this vicinity on his Mediterranean cruises. "His success as a tourist manager is nothing short of marvelous. As a guide for a tourist company he conceived the idea of running his own parties, which in a few years reached such proportions that he undertook in 1906 to charter a boat for a cruise to the Mediterranean and the Holy Land. The venture proved so successful that he has repeated it year after year and always leaves New York City with a waiting list of fifty to 100 passengers. It remained for him to demonstrate the feasibility of a cruise around the world, when a few years ago he chartered the steamship "Cleveland," and filled it to capacity on two of its famous trips.

Next winter he has chartered the giant new steamship "Rotterdam" of the Holland-American line to sail from New York City on February 2 on a cruise to the Mediterranean and Orient, lasting sixty-four days at a cost of $400 and up, according to locations. Clark's cruises include shore expenses, always first-class, and the best of hotels.

Work Never Done. "Thus you see that our work is never through. When one part of the universe has lost its attractiveness another part is looking for its visitors and it's simply up to the passenger man to have these little details as to how to get there at his finger's end."

Crandall Goes Back Into Giant Uniform

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Ole Crandall, pitcher, whom Manager McGraw of the New York National league club traded to the St. Louis team, was taken back tonight by McGraw.

St. Louis in return received a cash consideration, amount not named, and a player also unnamed, whose delivery will be made as soon as the pennant race is settled. McGraw early this month gave Crandall for Larry McLain, a catcher.

The exchange was said to have made several of the Giants so angry that they engaged in a fist fight with their manager, as Crandall had been with the local club for a number of years. Crandall was dissatisfied with his new berth.
