Cash for corn at the lumber yard.

The spring round up commenced yesterday.

Secure farm loans of Conley, Reidy & Pollard.

C. E. Verity visited Chadron, the first of this week.

Satisfaction GUARANTEED at Ranch Supply House.

C. F. Slingerland and Ed. Weir spent Sunday in the valley.

See the elegant line of carpets at Ranch Supply House.

Crawford is doing the wind work for a system of water works.

Mr. Otto Munson has gone to his claim on Antelope creek to put in a crop.

S. H. Jones writes that he will start on his return to Harrison this week.

Mr. L. A. Dorrington of Chadron, was a visitor in our city the first part of this week.

Moses Ashenfelder, of Indian creek, gave this office a pleasant call last Thursday.

We can sell you any kind of a carpet you want at a VERY low price. Ranch Supply House.

Mrs. Weir and daughter Emma paid a visit to Cook's ranch last week returning the first of this week.

John Pfost went up the road Monday intending to try for a job of cattle punching, at Wendover.

The people of Crawford are going to have a system of water supply; the wind work has been in full operation for some time.

Mr. W. F. Shepherd arrived at this place from Ottumwa, Iowa, and started the same day, Saturday, for his ranch on Jim Creek.

A town by the name of Evergreen City is being platted about 11 miles south-east of Crawford, at the southern end of the tunnel.

Michael Ruffing and Miss Wonder were married at Montrose Monday. Mike has secured a Wonder sure. We wonder if he will ever wander from his Wonder.

The Hamilton Loan and Trust Company are anxious to loan $50,000 in Sioux county, in the next sixty days, in sums ranging from $300 to $800. Conley, Reidy & Pollard, Agents.

The farm inspector for the Hamilton Loan and Trust Company was looking over the county last week and approved loans to the amount of $11,875, for their agents, Conley, Reidy & Pollard.

A fight to a finish occurred yesterday between a work animal belonging to Will Moore, and a range critter, in which the bull belonging to Moore came out second best. His hide is on sale.

Mr. A. R. Kennedy returned to Harrison last week after a several months absence. He is residing on his claim north-west of town and improving it by planting fruit trees and plants of different kinds.

Mr. Lannie Sutton, formerly of Adair Co, Iowa, arrived in Harrison last Friday bringing with him a car load of cows and calves. Mr. Sutton's two brothers are enroute for this place, overland, and will probably not reach here for two or three weeks yet. His wife and children are expected this week by rail.

W. M. Alexander of Rushville, Special Examiner for the Nebraska Loan and Trust Co. was viewing Sioux county real estate this week, and is well pleased with it. He traversed this country as a soldier, along in the sixties, and he remarks the great change in the country since that time.

A New Deal.

Arrangements lately made enable Jones & Verity, the Pioneer Loan Men, to loan money on farms at rates heretofore unheard of, and to discount all competitors. They do their own examining and can tell at once what you can get. They never disappoint applicants, and make no promises they cannot fulfill. They can close a loan in twenty-four hours, and the borrower does not have to wait several weeks for an examiner to arrive.

Mr. E. E. Livermore and another gentleman arrived in Sioux county last week.

D. P. Davis has received the appointment of postmaster at Harrison and has moved the office into the room formerly occupied by Griswold's hardware stores.

Messrs Eli Armstrong and brother, and Mr. Amos arrived here from Custer county last week and have taken claims south-east of town and are building thereon.

Boggy Items.

The war on Boggy last week was not so bad as represented. No one was choked black, but a certain young man's coat tail fanned the breeze behind him, while he made tracks for the valley and left his pony, tied to a tree, which was liberated some hours afterwards by some of the mill hands. All is agreeable at present.

STONE WALL JACK.

MONEY

Than any competitors.

MONEY ALWAYS ON HAND.

Come to "Headquarters."

It is reported upon good authority that two men were killed at Collins, the new town on the B & M. at the Cheyenne crossing, on last Sunday. The particulars have not been learned but our informant states that two "toughs" filled themselves with "booze" and then took to shooting, using each other for targets. This becoming more monotonous than effectual they commenced firing into the crowd of bystanders that had by this time gathered, whereupon one of the aforesaid spectators shot both of them and death was the final result. The men had wounded each other several times during the shooting just prior to their death.

Boggy Items.

Death has again visited this part of the country and taken Georgia, a 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bowser; and a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Murphy, aged seven years. The former was buried at Montrose on the 12th, and the latter on the 14th. When the Master calls we all must go.

Mr. Hill has traded for John Gibson's pre-emption on Boggy. Still they come! Come on there is room for more in Sioux County.

Three more young ladies to grace the valley. There will be less bachelors if they play the right card.

William's oxen are all right one does the work and the other goes along for company.

T. Holley has got out to farming once more.

Greger has an acre each of potatoes and sorghum planted.

The Beans family is on the sick list.

WILD WEST.

Five Point Items.

John Gibson traded his claim to Mr. Hill for stock.

Every one in the valley is busy breaking prairie and planting it to corn.

One of our old time bachelors, Michael Ruffing, was married Monday, at Montrose. We wish him luck.

The one that said Mrs. Conley was in the valley didn't know it all. She will stay at the Post this summer.

Mr. Meinhart was just going to show the people how to break and he broke the beam out of his plow. That's the way he breaks.

Another man scared almost to death on the Boggy.

When Mr. Greger is plowing with Haulley's mules he says he can cast quite a shadow.

When fence law and herd law men come together, they make things hot.

I noticed awhile ago that some one in speaking of the Boggy school house said that there were neither seats nor blackboards in it. There is no use for them; all the scholars want to know is, how the cows got into the cabbage.

Wm. Corcoran unyoked his cattle Monday night for the first time since he got them.

WHAT CHILDREN MAY DO.

"Do you really believe that it is of any use whatever having children join your temperance society?" was asked some time ago. "Indeed, I do," replied a worthy minister of the Gospel; "I have had more parents reclaimed from intemperance and added to my church through the zeal of these little ones than from any other agency." We have known of parents becoming earnest devoted Christians, all through the efforts of their little ones. Surely, "a little child shall lead them."—Temperance Banner.

FOR FLORRY'S SAKE.

"Don't go out to-night, dear husband, please," begged Mrs. Morely, as her husband rose and opened the door.

Mr. Morely had lately been introduced to some friends who, his wife felt sure, were doing him no good. Evening after evening he spent with them, and seemed to care less and less for the society of his wife and child. Mrs. Morely also feared he was getting to like the drink. Sometimes he came home excited and unlike himself, and she longed to save him before it was too late.

Mr. Morely stood with his hand on the handle of the door, as he said half impatiently, "Why should I not go? I cannot stay in to-night."

"Oh, but do," she urged laying her hand lightly on his shoulder; "do stay in to-night for Florry's sake."

Florry was Mr. and Mrs. Morely's only child and her father was devotedly fond of her; so, after a moment's hesitation he turned round and sat down again. His wife's face brightened, and she poked up the fire to a blaze and chatted away cheerfully to him.

Then he asked, "You said, 'for Florry's sake,' what did you mean?"

"Have you forgotten that to-morrow is Florry's birthday? I am preparing an album for her, and I want you to help me finish it; she will value it much more if there is some of your work in it."

Mr. Morely had great taste, and his album rapidly improved under his hands. His wife continually talked of their child, and her devotion to her father, and of their own responsibility as parents, till new thoughts came into the father's heart.

"I will give Florry a treat to-morrow," he said at last, "I will come home early to tea, and spend the whole evening with her."

And so he did; and from that time he broke away from his evil acquaintances, and greatly through the influence of his wife and Florry, he became a Christian man, and lived a happy and useful life.
