NO CARDINAL FOR AMERICA

Appointment Not Made at New Pontiff's Consistory Today.

CEREMONY IS POPE PIUS' FIRST

Only He and the Cardinals Are Present, but Public is to Participate in Thursday's Honors.

ROME, Nov. 9.—The first consistory of the new pontiff was held today. No American cardinal was appointed. Several appointments of archbishops and bishops were made, including that of Rev. J. J. Hart, as archbishop of Manila, P. I., who, as an exceptional privilege, received the pallium at an extra consistory when he came to Rome for consecration.

Rev. Pedro Gonzalez y Estrada was appointed bishop of Havana and Rt. Rev. Maximilian Reynosy y Delcoral, formerly bishop of Tulancingo, Mexico, was appointed titular bishop of Nocera.

The inhabitants of this city had been looking forward with unusual interest to the consistory principally because it was the first to be held by Pius X. The meeting of the cardinals, however, was quite simple and private, the pomp and ceremony of the Vatican court being reserved for the public consistory which will be held Thursday. Only the pope and the cardinals were present today. The latter, according to custom, gathered early in an ante-chamber, near the hall of the consistory, from which they passed into the latter place, the master of ceremonies in attendance rendering the honors. The cardinals took their places according to precedence. The pontiff rose at his usual hour and after a private mass he partook of a cup of coffee and went for a brisk walk to the third loggia, returning in time to dress for the ceremony at 11.

With Pomp and Solemnity.

The pontiff walked from his apartment, accompanied only by the camerlengo in immediate attendance upon him. As he entered the hall of the consistory the picture produced was very striking, the red gowns of the cardinals and the white robes and gold and red mantles of the pope giving a pleasing coloring to the scene. The commanding appearance of the pontiff was somewhat softened by his silvery hair, under which his blue eyes gleamed with pleasure and friendliness. He wore the full pontifical robes which are only used at a consistory. The first on to enter the consistory, namely, for the first time.

When the pope had seated himself on the throne all those present, one by one, paid him homage, after which the master of ceremonies called upon all those authorized to take part in the consistory to leave the hall, which was done. When the doors had been closed and a guard had been stationed before them, outside, Pope Pius intoned a prayer. Cardinal Gregina, dean of the sacred college, then stood up and in a few words thanked the pontiff for having put aside his private preferences and accepted the burden of the church. The pope replied in an allusion which received universal approbation.

Appointment of Two Cardinals.

Then the real business of the day was proceeded with—the appointment of two cardinals, Mr. Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, and Mgr. Calligaris, archbishop of Padua, being announced by the pope, who said, in Latin: "What have you to say?"

In response the cardinals raised their caps as a sign of affirmation on their part. This was all, so every doubt was laid at rest for the moment regarding the appointment of another American cardinal.

The confirmation of the appointment of Rev. J. J. Hart, as archbishop of Manila, and of Rev. Pedro Gonzalez y Estrada as

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for several years and no children blessed my home. The doctor said I had a complication of female troubles and could not have any children unless I could be cured. He tried to cure me, but after experimenting for several months, my husband became disgusted, and one night when we noticed the testimonial of a woman who had been cured of similar trouble through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, he went out and bought a bottle for me. I used your medicine for three and one-half months, improving steadily in health, and in twenty-two months a child came. I cannot fully express the joy and thankfulness that is in my heart. Our home is a different place now, as we have something to live for, and all the credit is due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Yours very sincerely, Mrs. L. C. GLOVER, 614 Grove St., Milwaukee, Wis." Vice President, Milwaukee Business Woman's Association. —5000

EQUALITY FOR COLORED MAN

Speakers at Freedmen's Aid Society Discuss the Race Problem.

WORK OF EDUCATION IN THE SOUTH

Increased Receipts of Past Year Have Enabled Society to Do More and Better Work, but Additional Money is Needed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—"God recognizes all races and colors, whether white, black or yellow, and in this world of ours the negro should have the same chance in the race of life as the white man," said Bishop Earl Cranston of Portland, Ore., at the meeting of the committee of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society this morning. The speaker asserted that the negro ran the whole gamut of human prejudice, that he was denied the rights of the white man and that he was continually pushed back. It was the opinion of Bishop Cranston and other speakers who followed him that the negro should be given the same advantages as the white man in the matter of schools and that Christian education would settle the race problem.

Bishop Walden of Cincinnati and Bishop Hamilton of San Francisco spoke of the great progress that had been made among the colored people since the organization of the association and that the negro was susceptible of education and teaching. Bishop Walden said in the south the white people held their conferences apart from the negro and that the negro conferences were conducted with an unjust dignity as were those of the white people. Bishop Hamilton told that the negro children were being trained along industrial lines. He said forty years ago the negro did not own a foot of land, while today many of them were paying large taxes. He indorsed the outgoing President Roosevelt regarding the colored man and said he was glad the country had such a man for president.

Bishop Malleu of Boston spoke of the great improvement made in the condition of the colored people. He said since the society had begun to help them there was a marked change in their dress and habits and he predicted greater improvements in the future.

The committee met at St. Paul's M. E. church and the visitors were welcomed by Rev. Fletcher Wharton, pastor of the church, who told them on behalf of his congregation that they were welcome to the hearts and homes of the Lincoln people. Bishop Walden responded and told of his visit to Lincoln in years gone by when it was little more than a village.

Receipts and Expenditures.

The report of Treasurer H. C. Jennings showed the receipts for the last year for the general fund from conferences and other sources were $124,520.26 and the disbursements were $123,489.07. For special funds there were received $22,223.65 and $21,517.65 disbursed. In the annuity fund the receipts were $10,000 and $800 were expended. The report of the secretary was read by M. C. B. Mason and W. P. Thirkield from which the following extract was taken: "Our schools have closed one of the most prosperous years in the history of the society. The attendance has advanced to 11,114, an increase of 832 over last year. This surpasses any previous record in the history of our society. The marked increase in appropriations to the schools has provided for the restoration of the cut in salaries. This has taken burdens from scores of our teachers and has given them new strength and enthusiasm for work. The following schedule indicates the constant advance in appropriations from the close of the last quadrennium. A large decrease in administrative and fixed expenses will be observed and a corresponding increase in amounts set apart for schools."

President of American Federation of Labor Delivers Annual Address.

GROWTH OF LABOR UNIONS LAST YEAR

Leaders of Federation Oppose Attempt to Organize Industries and Does Not Like Idea of Synthetic Strikes.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—The American Federation of Labor opened its twenty-third annual convention today in Faneuil hall. Labor leaders say the labor meetings are expected to prove among the most important for the consideration of problems arising out of the relation of capital and labor ever held in the United States.

Nearly all the delegates, including Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, have arrived. The program for today includes the usual formal welcoming addresses, the appointment of committees and the presentation of the reports of some of the principal officers.

Discussion in which the delegates have indulged since reaching the city indicate that among the important questions to be considered by the convention will be whether the federation's affiliated members shall ally themselves with any particular party, the eight-hour work day and the "Miller case" at Washington are also expected to come up.

President Gompers called the convention to order. The adoption of a resolution that the delegates while in Boston purchase newspapers from the Boston Newsboys' union was followed by a flood of motions bearing upon union cigars, union-made clothing and other like matters. These motions were declared to be out of order.

Report of Officers.

At the afternoon session President Gompers delivered his annual address, in which he said in part: "There are indications that the era of industrial activity which we have enjoyed during the past few years has reached its downward, in that there is now somewhat of a reaction. It is true that the reaction is not pronounced, but it is sufficiently evident for notice and deserves our consideration."

It is the height of economic un wisdom to curtail the consumption of the masses as a means to industrial revival or prosperity. No industry, no country, has ever become great or ever can become great through taking upon the poverty of its workers. Making the strike an economic or political force, it has never yet. For men content with their lot are poor and are unemployed, and, taking the worst view of the situation, have been merely a change of persons of those occupying the relative positions.

The attempt to force the trade unions into what has been termed industrial organization is pervasive of the history of labor movement. The counter to the best conceptions of the toilers' interests and in sure to lead to the confusion of the masses, to the destruction of the sympathetic strike, and to the overlooking of the fundamental principles of the labor movement. It is a very brief period in an effort to sustain members' lives, but in the other hand, in a well formulated trade union movement, a large number of men of different crafts, belonging to the same or different international trade unions, could have been sustained financially and victoriously achieved.

The so-called open shop influences wages and the standard of the downward course, for it is based upon the sympathy of the most docile and the most immediate of labor movement. The average poorest situated among the workers.

The report of the secretary showed the following summary: The affiliated organizations of the American Federation of Labor reported and paid upon 1,745,270 members for the month of September. The average membership for the twelve months ending September 30 was 1,620,000, against 1,022,500 last year and 265,800 in 1897.

CURED BY SWAMP-ROOT

Suffered With Inflammation... Catarrh of the Bladder and Weak Kidneys

Hon. D. A. Montgomery's Interview With the Editor of the Nashville American.

Mr. Montgomery, Ex-Member of State Legislature, was recently interviewed by the Nashville, Tenn. American, regarding his cure by Swamp-Root and made the following signed statement:

"My indorsement of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cannot be written strong enough. I had been greatly troubled with my kidneys and with what the doctors termed inflammation of the neck of the bladder. I was obliged to pass water very frequently day and night, often with smarting and burning. Sometimes my back would get so lame and sore that I was almost helpless. I tried several doctors and medicines to no good effect, when finally I heard that Dr. Kilmer would send a sample bottle of his kidney medicine, Swamp-Root, free by mail. I sent at once and received a sample bottle without delay. After trying the sample I concluded it was just the medicine I needed, and I purchased a liberal supply from my merchant and friend, Mr. E. J. Esslinger. Today I am a well man, and can ride horse-back and drive with any of my friends. I cannot recommend Swamp-Root too highly for what it has done for me. You are at liberty to use this letter or refer anyone to me, and I will gladly tell them about my past troubles and what a wonderful remedy this Swamp-Root is. I am very glad to recommend it to others at every opportunity. Mr. James Ivens, of Saundersville, Tenn., and many others are taking it with good results.

Worsham, Sumner Co., Tenn., Nov. 11th.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free by mail.
