Council Bluffs INDIAN CREEK ON RAMPAGE

Sudden Rise Leaves Train of Mud and Slime on Broadway... BUSINESS HOUSES ARE FLOODED... Debris Catches Under Bridge on North Eighth Street and Forms Small Lake—Damage is Heavy... Indian creek overflowed its banks shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning and left a train of mud and slime on Broadway and adjacent streets in its wake, besides flooding buildings and basements and causing damage running into the thousands of dollars... Debris swept down by the flood in Indian creek caught in the low hanging girders of the bridge at North Eighth street and in a short time formed a formidable dam. It was at this point that the creek first overflowed its banks and the water poured like a mill race onto Broadway. With this dam at Eighth street the water in the creek naturally backed up and it was not long before it was pouring over the banks at Seventh street and half way along the block between Seventh and Sixth streets... For two hours the water poured out of the creek in many places, finding an outlet onto Broadway through buildings and cellars. At the corner of Broadway and Seventh street the water ran through the little grocery store of Dan Wright, leaving behind it a coating of mud and slime several inches thick. The Saitman wood yard adjoining was turned into a veritable lake and west of this, at Charles Leibold's saloon, the water filled the cellar and covered the floor of the saloon two feet deep. Much of Mr. Leibold's stock of cigars and case goods were practically ruined... At the Council Bluffs Dye works the water poured into the building in a torrent and here considerable damage was done... West of Eighth street the Metropolitan hotel was flooded and when the waters receded there was a deposit of mud a foot deep over the ground floor. The Tremont hotel further west was also badly flooded and at the Blue Front restaurant near the Northwestern depot the inmates had to abandon the first floor. Mud a foot deep had to be dug out of this place... Eighth street as far as Avenue G was covered with mud deposited by the water from the creek and many cellars of houses on Avenues A, B and C in that vicinity were flooded. South of Broadway Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets were covered with mud and debris several inches deep as far south as First avenue... The Northwestern railroad, the Street Railway company and the city had large forces of men at work early yesterday morning clearing away the mud on Broadway but it was a stupendous task and it will be several days before it is all hauled away... The streets and alleys fund is already badly depleted during the first two months of the fiscal year and this will be suspected put a finishing touch to this appropriation... The force of the current on Broadway was so great during the height of the flood that big whisky casks were carried from the Stein junk yard near Seventh street clear down to the Illinois Central railroad tracks... At the city hall yesterday it was estimated that the damage to streets, pavements, curbs, sidewalks and sewers by the flood Monday night would amount to at least $5,000. The hill streets were badly washed and it will take weeks to repair all the damage. This damage cannot, of course, be laid at the door of Indian creek, but all of that along Broadway and the adjoining thoroughfares, from Seventh street to the railroad tracks, can be... At Crescent City considerable damage was reported due to the overflow of Little Pigeon creek, which cuts through the town. Some families had to abandon their homes and made their escape in wagons... A washout on the Milwaukee line near Weston caused the first section of freight train No. 53, which left Council Bluffs at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, to go into the ditch. Fifteen cars loaded with fruit for eastern markets were piled up, but the locomotive passed over the place without leaving the rails... You certainly want the house to look nice when you greet your guests, so they can bear away a pleasant impression of the quiet elegance of your home. It is wonderful what a work of transformation is accomplished by paint for doors and trimmings, varnish, stain or wax for floors, oil for banisters, etc. Just come and look at our list of house improvers and give yourself a treat. H. Borwick, 211 South Main street... New List of Election Officials... As some of the men appointed as judges and clerks for the special election to be held July 6, when the proposition to levy an additional $7,500 to complete the erection of the school building at Oak street and Broadway will be submitted to the voters of the school district, would be unable to serve, Secretary Hughes has found it necessary to revise the list of election officials. The following new list of judges, clerks and registrars was announced by Secretary Hughes yesterday morning: First Precinct—Judges, William Green, C. A. Moray, clerk, Richard Trumbull. Second Precinct—Judges, Spencer Smith, M. H. Rohrer, clerk, J. N. Cassidy. Third Precinct—Judges, William Arnd, Fred Spelman, clerk, Oscar Baumeister. Fourth Precinct—Judges, F. Wright, J. Brown, clerk, Charles F. Paschel. Fifth Precinct—Judges, Peter Smith, Mahon Brown, clerk, Edward Welch. Sixth Precinct—Judges, C. S. Hubbard, P. G. Miskell, clerk, J. M. Shea. Registrars—First precinct, N. W. Williams, George Dentler; second precinct, G. H. Baker, W. D. Hansen; third precinct, Frank Zurmuehlen, A. J. Jorgensen; fourth precinct, George Wickham, Clint Robinson; fifth precinct, M. Callaghan, G. H. Acker; sixth precinct, John Epperson, Gus Watts. Refrigerators that save ice. That's the kind we sell. Economic and Yukon. Prices from $13 to $35, white enameled or plain. We show a fine line. P. C. De Voi Hardware Co... GENERAL PETITION UP TODAY Supervisors Will Consider Matter of Saloon Licenses... The announcement made in certain quarters yesterday morning that all of the saloons of the city would be closed Wednesday and until after action on the new general petition of consent had been taken by the supervisors, was declared last night by J. J. Klein of the firm of Barnhardt & Klein, and president of the Iowa State Retail Liquor Dealers' association, to be incorrect... "I understand some of the saloonmen, acting on the advice of their attorneys, have decided to keep closed Wednesday, or until after action on the new general petition of consent is taken by the board of supervisors, but no general agreement to this effect has been reached by the saloonkeepers," said Mr. Klein. "Our place will be open, as I fall to see where any good can be accomplished by closing, or any harm done by keeping open. If it was legal to sell today it certainly will be just as legal to sell on Wednesday, while the board is considering the new petition of consent..." "The Board of Supervisors will canvass the petition today and present indications are that the supervisors will decide that the new statement of general consent is sufficient. If, however, if any content is made before the board by the anti-saloon forces. The petition bears about 300 more signatures than absolutely required... According to the filings made with the county auditor yesterday the anti-saloon forces have not been successful in securing the withdrawal of persons who have signed the petition of consent. B. C. F. Chambers, the district superintendent of the Iowa Anti-Saloon league, had a force of assistants copying off the names of those who signed the petition and then prepared for circulation a number of withdrawal statements. For some reason or another the assistants did not carry on the canvass very strenuously and the result has been that only two withdrawals were secured. At least only two were filed yesterday... "It is very evident that those opposed to the saloons did not make any effort to secure withdrawals," declared Mr. Chambers yesterday afternoon in the office of County Auditor Innes. "If they had, I feel sure they could have secured more withdrawals. As it is, it looks as if they were satisfied to let things go as they are... If the board finds the statement of consent is sufficient, the finding will probably have to be accepted. It will be the business, however, of the Anti-Saloon league to see that those who are securing the statement observe the letter of the law and that subsequently they live up to it..." That the fruit show to be held this year in Council Bluffs under the auspices of the National Horticultural congress is attracting widespread interest is indicated by the many letters of inquiry and other mail received at headquarters by General Manager Freeman L. Reed. Among the letters received yesterday was one from E. E. Faville, editor of Successful Farming, with offices in New York, Chicago and Des Moines, who writes: "I am heartily in favor of the National Horticultural congress and predict for it continued success as the years go by. Such an exposition will bring together the same of our great industry—agriculture... A better place could be selected for the national congress than Council Bluffs, making it possible for the horticultural interests of our country to be represented as they should be at each position. Your signal success should result in a greater exposition in November... The greatest value of the National Horticultural congress lies in the educational work it will do in bringing together representatives of the fruit districts of the entire country. Every exchange of ideas but to the country at large, and the districts and interests of the fruit districts continued on the same line of representation. Your exposition is sure to be the big annual fruit show of the world..." Real Estate Transfers... These transfers were reported to the Bee June 22, by the Pottawattamie County Register of Council Bluffs: Heirs of James Franey, deceased, to Anna Callen, $25,000; to J. E. Franey, $25,000; to George F. Franey, $25,000; to G. E. DeBolt, lot 3 in block 13, Macedonia, $500. Total, two transfers, $125,000... Results of Sunday Revival... MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., June 22.—(Special.)—Four hundred and fifty persons were taken into seven of the leading churches of the city yesterday who were converted during the recent revival held here by Rev. W. A. Sunday. This does not include half as many more who were probably taken into membership in the other scattered and smaller churches of the city on the same day. The Methodist Episcopal church led the list with 125 additions for the one day. The Central Church of Christ was second, with 96. The Congregational church took in sixty-four, which is more than has been added to that church during the last two years... Three Workmen Hurt... IOWA CITY, Ia., June 22.—(Special.)—Weakened by the heavy windstorm, a scaffolding used in the construction work on the new Ayres block collapsed yesterday afternoon and severely, if not dangerously, injured three of the workmen engaged in laying brick. Jesse B. Hammond Asks Attorney General for Interpretation of Law... WILL CLOSE STATE ARCHIVES... Appropriation for This Department Will Be Exhausted by September... Crookery Men Protest Tariff Change... DES MOINES, Ia., June 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Jesse B. Hammond, who has announced an intention to stop the sale of cigarettes in Iowa, called on Attorney General Byers today and will write a letter asking him for the interpretation of the law. There is little question but that the handling or selling of cigarettes is illegal and as soon as he gets the opinion of General Byers he will start a state-wide prosecution of cigarette sellers. Dealers all over the state have taken it for granted that the paying of the mulct tax exempted them from punishment for the sale. Section 5007 of the code states specifically that this is not the case, though nine-tenths of the people of the state have probably supposed the law to operate the same as the liquor mulct tax. It is believed that General Byers can interpret the law but one way and that is that cigarettes selling is illegal and subject to a fine whether the cigarette mulct tax is paid or not... Will Close Archives... The executive council today decided to close up the archives department after September 1. The money available from the state appropriation will by that time be exhausted and the department must remain closed till another legislature meets. Some of the employees have thought the council would merely cut down the force and that they could thus hold on... Improvements at Fair Grounds... The state fair board today let contracts for the erection of a $6,000 cattle barn, for the erection of the steel balcony in the agricultural building, for the permanent grandstand and vaudeville stage in front of the amphitheater and for the addition to the swine pavilion... Proposed Interurban Railroad... Articles of incorporation of the Iowa & Omaha Railroad company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, were left with the secretary of state today and will be filed when the balance of the filing fee is paid. The company has been incorporated in South Dakota and its object is to build a railroad from Des Moines through Dallas, Guthrie, Audubon, Shelby and Pottawattamie counties to Omaha. It is to be an interurban, with privileges to use steam electricity, gasoline or any other power. George W. Adams of Walnut, Ia., is understood to be the moving spirit in the matter and has been working on the proposition for some years. He claims the road will be built with local capital. The directors are business men of Treynor, Adair and Walnut, Ia... Crockery Men in Convention... Lincoln for Brigadier... SALOON CASES ARE ON TRIAL... Judge Refuses to Allow Change of Venue from Marshalltown... MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., June 22.—(Special.)—Judge J. M. Parker in the district court, late this afternoon, overruled the motion for a change of venue outside of the Seventeenth district, which was sought by the attorneys representing the saloonists whom County Attorney J. H. Egermeyer is seeking to put out of business through injunction proceedings. The saloonists are P. E. Gifford, Schulz & Wetstein and A. G. Frederick. It was alleged in the motion for a change of venue that Judge Parker and Judge Bradshaw, the latter of Toledo, were prejudiced and biased in the opinions regarding the saloon business and that a fair trial in the district was impossible. In making his ruling Judge Parker emphatically denied the charge and gave the saloonists' attorneys a sound verbal drubbing for making the imputation in his court that he could not impartially try any cause he sat upon or otherwise...
