JURY HUNG ON CHINESE
 Anglo-Mongolian Battle Ends with Honors Easy.

LIU WING TAKES STAND FOR SELF
 On All-Important Oculatory Question He Avers Roy Harris Did "Kiss Me Melican Gal"—Girl Involved Denies It.

"Halls, he kisse Melican gal."
 So declared Liu Wing, defendant in the great Angli-Mongolian damage suit, in county court, which ended yesterday evening with honors easy, the jury having disagreed. Liu's testimony is in contradiction to that of the Melican gal involved, who in the morning deposed that Harris simply tried to kiss her, did not land, so to speak.

It might not appear at first sight that the question of Roy Harris' oculatory endeavor had ought to do with the question whether he was entitled to damages from Liu Wing, Ah Sue, Sing Lung, Chop Suey and the other defendants in the case. However, the Chinese claimed that Harris was not the best watter in the world the morning they bounced several things at the Golden Eagle restaurant—Harris from his job and a pie plate on his head, to say nothing of several pairs of Flowery Kingdom fists which impinged on the Harris cranium with telling effect.

The defense maintained that Harris had looked on the cup which cheers, and also inebriated, before he came late to work that morning, and that he did everything but wait on guests at the Celestial cafeteria. Hence the importance of the alleged kissing of one or other of the two white girls, who also worked at the restaurant.

Rose Hamilton, young and at least a good looking as the average waitress, testified for Harris and was quizzed as to whether she had been kissed. "He tried to, but did not succeed," was her answer. Asked if Harris hugged her, Miss Hamilton admitted that Harris attempted to execute a clutch, but she broke the hold.

Thus the matter stands. Liu Wing is of unimpeachable veracity, but it must be admitted that Miss Hamilton is in a better position to know, and possibly the Oriental mistook the endeavor for the achievement.

There were four men on the jury in county court, two of the six, which is the total in county court cases, having been excused. There were shut up for several hours in the afternoon and they deposed tight. Three thought that the Manchus had not used more than justifiable energy in impelling Harris out the door and the other man was firm that Harris ought to get the $1,000 asked for being beaten up by the Tartars.

FALLING TROLLEY HITS MAN
 Charles Peterson Injured in Peculiar Accident at Sixteenth and Webster.

While attempting to board a Hanscom park car at Sixteenth and Webster streets about 4:55 yesterday afternoon Charles Peterson, a carpenter, living at 4336 Ohio street, was struck on the head by the trolley, which fell off the car. It is thought that the trolley slipped off the wire and caught in a guy wire and was jerked out of the fastening. Peterson's injuries, while painful, are not dangerous although it was necessary to take several stitches. He was carrying some window frames and the trolley struck these and it is very probable that this saved him from more serious injury. He was immediately taken to the police station, where his wounds were dressed and was then taken home in the new police automobile.

DEADLOCKED JURY EXCUSED
 Judge Day Lets Men Who Heard Neff-Brandels Case Go After Twenty-Four Hours' Disagreement.

After a deadlock of twenty-four hours Judge Day excused at 5 p. m. yesterday the jury which had heard the suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Neff against Emil and Arthur Brandels. Mrs. Neff claimed damages for an automobile accident. Judge Day accepted the disagreement so far as it concerned Emil Brandels and ordered a verdict in favor of Arthur Brandels. John L. Kennedy represented him. W. J. Connell appeared for the plaintiff and had ten of the jurors with him. The other two held for the defendants. R. W. Breckenridge represented Emil Brandels.

Corn Show Exhibits from Hudson Bay and Honolulu

Tom Sturgess Sings "From Greenland's Icy Mountains to India's Coral Strand."

When Hawaii announced an exhibit for the National Corn exposition Friday, Secretary T. F. Sturgess, who is a Methodist, sang two stanzas of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains to India's Coral Strand."

Only a few days ago the exposition management got notice from a New York farmer that he was interested in the far north and would exhibit corn grown north of Hudson bay.

Now comes a letter from John W. Gilmore, president of the College of Hawaii at Honolulu, saying if the exposition wants the display he will collect materials to show how agriculture is being taught in the tropics across the Pacific.

This is just what the exposition wants, and will be invited to the National Corn exposition which last year attracted international attention and this year promises to be a thoroughly international affair.

LONG ON THE GOLDEN GULPS
 Jonathan Heney Has Difficulty in Staying Out of Jailor Ryan's Jail.

John Heney, whose rapacity and capacity for those golden gulps of grief which he obtained at the rate of 5 cents per gulp, just cannot make his thirst behave. Naturally, therefore, he just cannot stay out of jail.

Thursday night, after having just finished a five days' visit at Jailor Ryan's place of business, the veteran tank demonstrator called again at his favorite sanitarium of hibernation and recuperation.

Insisting upon telling his joys and troubles through an open window to friends who were "on the inside" of jail life, Jonathan Heney's conversation with David Drunkow and other personages of equally friendly and jovial disposition, was rudely interrupted by Officer Vanderford, who placed Heney where he could talk with the jail boarders without craning through a window.

In court Friday ten days were granted him as a bonus.

SUIT TO GET NOTE IN COURT
 D. A. Davis Wants D. C. Ayer to Produce Paper Which Former's Father for Letter.

Douglas A. Davis has filed suit in district court asking that Don C. Ayer be summoned into court, bringing with him a promissory note for $500 which Davis' father, the late James A. Davis, cashed for Ayer. The plaintiff says that after his father's death he presented the note to Ayer asking payment, that Ayer put the note in his pocket and that plaintiff has not seen it since—nor the money.

Davis, the plaintiff in the suit, got into the county's official records last week through affidavits filed by General J. C. Cowin and F. L. Weaver charging Davis with prejudice in the suit of Mrs. Lilly Turner against the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company and also declaring that he was not competent to have served on the jury, being under a guardian as to his financial affairs appointed by the county court.

McVann at Traffic Meeting
 Goes to St. Louis, Where League Meets After Visit to Taft.

E. J. McVann, manager of the traffic bureau of the Commercial club, was one of a committee from the National Industrial Traffic League which was to hold a conference with President Taft Thursday relative to the changes which the league wants in the interstate commerce law and other policies of representative shippers.

Mr. McVann could not leave Nebraska, however, because of important matters in the state until it was too late for him to go to Washington. He left Thursday evening for St. Louis where he will meet President Lincoln of the Traffic League on his return from Washington. It is supposed the committee met President Taft Thursday and discussed the work of the league. Mr. McVann has been chairman of the uniform bill of lading committee as well as of the legislative committee of the league. The three things which the league has been most active in urging are (1) uniform bill of lading, (2) right of shippers to route their shipments, (3) power given the Interstate Commerce Commission to forbid a railroad company putting rates into effect where a protest is filed until a hearing can be secured.

MASTER PLEADS FOR HIS DOG
 "He's Not So Vicious," He Tells the Court, but Case Goes Against Him.

"He's not so vicious," remarked Mercer Kurd, 2719 South Thirteenth street, in describing the exact degree of viciousness of which his dog is guilty.

The animal is said to have been hanged Wednesday and to have eaten a square chunk of trouser cloth from M. M. Smith's clothes when the latter entered the Kurd yard to do some canvassing.

When asked just how vicious the canine really was, Kurd said:
 "Well, he barks and makes motions, and

Boy Up for First Degree Murder
 Roy Davis, Claiming to Be Only Thirteen, is Held on That Charge.

Roy Davis, the colored boy, who claims to be only 13 years of age, will be held for murder in the first degree, as the result of the inquest over the body of Nate Travis, whom he admits having shot.

Travis died as the result of a gunshot wound, administered with intent to murder, by the Davis lad. County Attorney English, who conducted the inquest Thursday and Friday mornings, said, when he heard the verdict, that he would file a complaint, charging murder, probably in the first degree.

Twelve witnesses, mostly colored, were examined, and parts of two days were taken up with the inquest. Davis was not placed on the stand.

The latter's statement that he is only 13 years of age, is doubted by the county attorney, who declared that the boy is at least 17.

CHARLES MARSH PASSES AWAY
 Omaha Elk Dies of Dropsy at Excelsior Springs, Where He Sought Health.

Charles Marsh died Thursday afternoon at Excelsior Springs, Mo., after a long illness from dropsy. A dispatch containing this information was received here by Secretary Miner of the local Elks lodge, of which Mr. Marsh was a member.

Mr. Marsh was born in Omaha forty-five years ago last August. His mother, Mrs. W. W. Marsh, widow of the late Captain Marsh, has been at the Springs two months with her son Allen and Charles, when the latter's death occurred. A wife and 4-month-old daughter, Gertrude, survive him, also the mother and three brothers, William, Frank and Allen Marsh. Mr. Marsh's father was a pioneer officer in the street railway company and the Union National bank before his death. The body will be brought to Omaha for burial, arriving early Saturday morning. The body will arrive in Omaha Saturday morning, but funeral arrangements have not yet been made.
