Atlanta, Ga., June 2d

My six-year-old son has had a terrible sloughing sore on the neck for three years, attended with blindness; loss of hair, great emaciation, and general prostration.

Physicians and various blood remedies were resorted to without benefit. The New Atlanta Medical College treated him for three months, but his condition grew worse.

I was urged to try the efficacy of B. B. B., and to the astonishment of myself, friends and neighbors, one single bottle effected an entire cure.

Ulcers of the neck entirely healed; eyesight restored, and the hair commenced growing on his head. I live at 343 Jones street, Atlanta, and my boy is there to be seen.

GOLDSBORO N. C. AUG. 18, 1892.

BROGDEN ANSWERED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Acting Secretary Nettleton has written a letter to ex-representative O. H. Brogden, of Goldsboro, N. C. in response to certain inquiries in regard to the conduct of public affairs under the last and present administration. To the question, "Did Cleveland or his Secretary of the Treasury let banks have the use of the deposits of public money belonging to the government without interest?" Mr. Nettleton says that the treasury department has no authority to loan public money with or without interest, and as a matter of fact no interest has been received for deposits made with banks, but that during the last administration public deposits with national bank depositories were increased from the surplus revenues from about twenty millions of dollars to about sixty-two millions, which deposits bore no interest and were fully secured by United States bonds. The deposits, however, have been withdrawn from time to time until at present the entire amount on deposit with National bank depositories is only about sixteen millions of dollars, including nearly four millions to the credit of United States disbursing officers.

A question as to whether Cleveland ever borrowed gold in England to pay interest to foreign bondholders, is answered in the negative. Nettleton adds that the interest on the public debt is payable in this country and the government of the United States has not for many years found it necessary to borrow money, either at home or abroad, to pay interest on its indebtedness.

In response to another question he enclosed a comparative statement of the purchases and redemptions of the United States bonds during the last and present administration. It shows that from March 1, 1885, to March 1, 1889, $338,074,850 bonds were purchased at a cost of $361,364,632, and that their cost at maturity would have been $394,097,180, making a saving of $32,832,538. During the period from March 1, 1889, to July 1, 1892, bonds to the amount of $259,073,660 were purchased at a cost of $296,316,931. Their cost and maturity would have been $551,669,425, and the saving therefore was $55,822,393. During the same period there has been a decrease of $11,684,576 in the annual interest on bonds.

Receipts from the port of New York during the first ten days of the present month were $1,750,000, compared with receipts during the corresponding period of last year. More than half or 56.7 per cent in U. S. Treasury notes; 18.5 per cent in U. S. notes; 12.8 per cent in silver certificates and 12 per cent in gold certificates. No gold or silver coin was received on account of custom dues.

Ingatitude.

That Cleveland threw away his chances of re-election four years ago is admitted by all who are conversant with public affairs. Had he been content to hedge, as the politicians say; or had he a mind to remain quiet and not discharge his full duty to the people, he might have drifted along without arraying that decided hostility to himself which defeated him at the polls. But he was not that sort of a man, and he did those things which lead to his defeat by people whose interests he had antagonized. He vetoed by special message 250 private pension bills; in addition to these, he killed 47 other pension bills by what is known as the "pocket veto." The number of his vetoes is the more remarkable because from the time of Washington up to his own administration, there had been vetoed by the Presidents together only 109 bills. That and the defeat of the Dependent pension bill, (which was subsequently passed by the Reed Congress and approved by Harrison) made Cleveland's record against the pension class so memorable. It drew upon him the fierce anger and hot hostility of the pensioners all over the North. It was against their interest. Their animosity was a great factor in defeating him. There were 40,000 of these gentry in New York State and they voted against him. He could have been wise after the manner of politicians and have avoided the enmity of this class; but he fearlessly bared his breast to their anger and they were largely instrumental in defeating him. In whose interest did Mr. Cleveland make this sacrifice of his political fortune? In the interest of the farmers of the South. Is that not so? There were during his administration about $60,000 turned loose annually in each congressional district at the North without any consideration. That amount has now been increased to about $100,000. Just think of these figures! The Southern farmer pays his part of this sum. Perhaps $40,000 is paid each year by every congressional district at the South to some Northern district, while we get nothing back in return. Mr. Cleveland acted in the interest of the Southern farmer; and courted defeat by standing up for Southern interests.

In like manner, he stood up in opposition to the Northern manufacturer and in the interests of the agricultural masses against the protected classes. Under these circumstances, how can any decent Southern farmer turn away from him? Ingratitude is the blackest crime.—Raleigh News-Observer.

"The Devil's Kindling Wood."

Do you want to know where a boy usually begins to be fast? With a cigarette. It is the lad's first step in bravado resistance of sober morality, and a bold step in disobedience. Just now take the matter on the scientific side. Tobacco blights a boy's powers—wit, muscle, conscience, will. Nations are legislating against it. Germany, with all her smoke, says: "No tobacco in the schools." It spoils their brains and makes them too small for soldiers. Knock at the door of the great military institution of France. "No tobacco" is the response. Try West Point and Annapolis. "Drop the cigarette" is the word. Indeed, smoking boys are not likely to get so far as that. Major Houston, of the Marine Corps, who is in charge of the Washington Navy-yard Barracks, says that one-fifth of all the boys examined are rejected for heart disease, of which ninety-nine cases in one hundred come from cigarettes. His first question is: "Do you smoke?" "No, sir," is the reply, invariably. But the record is stamped on the very body of the lad, and out he goes. Apply for a position in a bank. If you use tobacco, beer, cards, the bank has no use for you.

Business life demands fine brain, steady nerve, firm conscience. Watch the boys. See one sixteen years in age, twelve in size, twenty in sin, and he smokes—probably chews and drinks. Babes of seven and eight years are at it. The vice increases. I could pile up statistics by the hour—testimony from the highest medical authority—of the misery preparing and already come. The use of cigarettes increases enormously, but only increases the use of stronger tobacco. In August, 1889, 16,000,000 more cigars were made in this country than in the year before, and the firm that made this statement credits the increase to the cigarette, and the fault to careless parents.

Tobacco is murdering many a lad. Where they do not fairly kill, cigarettes are the devil's kindling wood.—Christian Standard.

A Democrat Right.

GRANTHAM'S N. C., Aug. 6 1892.

Dear Argus: I see in last week's issue of THE ARGUS, a communication signed "Nolens," in which he presents my name for the nomination of Register of Deeds. Now in response to said article, I wish first to make my politest bow, and extend many thanks to my esteemed friend, Nolens for his kind and strong utterances in regard to me and my character. Now, in the language of friend Nolens, I can say and honestly say, that I am no office-seeker, have never had any prominent desire for office, I have always advocated that the disabled, (if competent and available) should receive first recognition in the distribution of the offices, and at the same time favoring four years rotation, in order that the afflicted might reach some ease and benefit before their time on earth should end; and I still hold with these same principles. I have been a voter 21 years, and during this whole time I have never taken occasion to criticize the conventions for their acts, but have gone on and used my best efforts for the success of the tickets, voting each and every one without "scratching." I have on every occasion been willing to abide by the decisions of the conventions. Yes, in the language of friend Nolens, I am a Democrat and one from principle, and I thank God for it; and while my lamp holds out to burn may I never have cause to desert her deck. I have nothing to regret so far. I hope the public will now understand that I am no aspirant for office and never have been. I have been a private soldier in the Democratic army for 21 years and have been content and satisfied with this position all the time. Realizing the fact that it was best to have men to fill the offices who were better drilled in political tactics, and who were unable for field service, and keep such fellows as I in the field to do the shooting, I feel it an honor and a high calling to be a subordinate in the Democratic party; and besides, Mr. Editor, I came near forgetting to tell the people that I have been holding an office for a number of years from the hands of the Democratic party; that office is a Justice of the Peace, and as the negro said by eating the pound cake: "Dis is good 'nuff for me."

Now, in conclusion, I will say, that I wish to, in a future issue of your widely circulated paper, bring forward the name of a man from this township for the consideration of the county nominating convention for Register of Deeds.

Wishing your valuable paper success, and hoping that we may be successful in electing the Democratic ticket all over these United States,
I am, very respectfully,
J. F. Cox.

Fremont Letter.

FREMONT, Aug. 16, 1892.

Dear Argus: The draught is said to be damaging to the crops just now. But the tobacco planters would like to do all their curing before rain sets very much.

Mr. W. F. Rose closed the tabernacle meetings at Eureka on last Thursday night, God honored his word and blessed the people greatly. There were about fifty conversions, and much good otherwise accomplished.

The new Methodist church at Stantonburg was dedicated on Sunday by the presiding elder Rev. Mr. Oglesby.

Mr. Rose commenced a protracted meeting at Yelverton's church on Monday night.

The catalogue of the Fremont Academy offers rare inducements to students. The Fall term opens on the 25th inst. This excellent school has been adopted and is recommended by both the Wilson and Newbern district conferences.

While we write many hearts are torn and bleeding because of the heavy hand of affliction so recently laid upon two homes in our community. At 9 o'clock on last Friday night, Mr. Wiley W. Barnes, who had been growing feeble for some time, was stricken with paralysis, from which he died at 12 o'clock on Saturday. Mr. Barnes was about 70 years of age, had been a member of the Methodist Church several years, and a patient, submissive, child-like Christian. He leaves three sons and one daughter to bear this irreparable loss. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. W. W. Rose, and many sympathizing friends followed him to the family burying ground.

Mrs. Serena Aycock, relict of the late Benjamin Aycock, so well-known and highly respected throughout our county, died at her home near here on last Sunday. Mrs. Aycock was 74 years of age, had been of strong constitution and was remarkable for her firmness and decision of character. She was the mother of Messrs. B. F. and C. B. Aycock, the former our present State Senator, and the latter a prominent attorney of the Goldsboro bar, and Democratic elector-at-large for the State. A veritable mother in Israel dispensing benevolence and charity on every hand. She commanded the respect and esteem of every one, as was manifest by the large number of people who were present to pay their last respects to the lamented dead. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. J. T. Edgerton of the Primitive Baptist Church.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Gladstone, accompanied by Sir Algernon Edward West, left Carlton Garden to-day for Osborne House, Isle of Wight, to lay before Her Majesty the names of those who will compose his cabinet and to carry out the old custom of kissing the hand of the Sovereign. Gladstone looked remarkably sprightly.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 14.—La Patriote publishes a letter from the Lake Tanganyika country, which declares that the Arab rising in the Congo State is in obedience of a proclamation of holy war from Mecca.

Rome, Aug. 14.—At a meeting of delegates of the Democratic Association to-day, resolutions were passed urging the abolition of Catholicism as the religion of the State, and rescinding the law of Papal guarantees. The police seized the Saturday's edition of the Observatore Romano, on account of an article offensive to the State.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The large steamer Thrasian, just completed at Glasgow and being towed to Liverpool, has been lost off the Isle of Man. The crew of seventeen men went down with the steamer,
