A Strange Statement Made by Senator Blair—The Senate Listens to His Speech When the House Did Yesterday.
WASHINGTON, February 18.—SENATE.—At the close of the morning session the senate at 1:25, on motion of Mr. Sherman, proceeded to the consideration of executive business.
The doors were reopened at half past three. The educational bill came up first, and Mr. Blair proceeded with his opening. Having read some extracts from the report of Dawson, former commissioner of education, he said he would like to call attention to those extracts, particularly attention to the bureau of education in the office of the New York Evening Post, which furnished material for many falsehoods which the bill was assailed, throughout the country by newspapers generally. Incidentally to an extract which he had read from a letter of Robert D. Whitrop, Massachusetts, Mr. Blair remarked that the bill had not originated in the fact that there was a surplus in the treasury. It had originated before there was a surplus, and it would continue to be passed, whether there was surplus or when it would be necessary to obtain funds by additional taxation by the issue of bonds or in some other way. But the fact that there was a full treasury left congress without the slightest excuse in the matter. Among the numerous extracts which he read some one from the report of the school superintendent of the State of Texas to the effect that in many counties of that State the value of the county jail was greater than that of all the school property in that county. He repeated that statement with emphasis, and asked special attention of the senator from Massachusetts (Davis) to it. He did not suppose (he said) that any notice of that remarkable statement would appear in the newspapers. One would suppose, he said, that the press would be glad to keep the people in ignorance of such facts as he had been bringing before the senate. He ventured to say that of all which he had said before the senate, as to these terrible facts indicative of approaching ruin, the falsehoods of this kind had not circulated to the people to the amount of half a column. That falsehoods on the part of the American press indicated corruption and danger of the deepest dye to the people of the country. He believed that the press was in a large measure responsible for the spread of a fact which he had before the senate, and he was not wholly (he declared) without evidence to justify his belief. There were agencies in this country at the bottom of that fall and infernal work.
At 5 o'clock Mr. Callom suggested that it was about time for adjournment, but Mr. Blair replied that he had a good deal of matter still to lay before the senate and that the senators appeared to be most anxious to hear.
He also inquired in the same tone of haltingly whether the presiding officer would ascertain if there was a quorum present. He did, however, yield the floor.
Mr. Hale, from the conference committee on the bill to require the superintendent of the census to ascertain the number of people who own their farms and homes and the amount of mortgage indebtedness thereon, made a report recommending that the house amendment be agreed to.
Mr. Platt inquired whether the bill made all farmers and others who should be called upon to answer questions as to their debts subject to fine and imprisonment if they refused to answer?
Mr. Hale answered that all census questions were placed in the same category, but the penalty did not include imprisonment, it only extended to a fine of $100.
The conference committee did not think it wise to make a discrimination between different classes of questions.
Mr. Platt remarked that to him it seemed harsh to extend imprisonment to the census law to interrogations under the provisions of the bill.
The conference report was agreed to.
On motion of Mr. Dawes the house bill for the relief of Sioux Indians at Devil's Lake Agency, North Dakota, (exactly similar to senate bill passed a few days ago) was passed, and the senate bill was recalled from the house.
After another brief executive session the doors were reopened, and the senate at 5:05 adjourned until to-morrow.
Mr. Blair mentioning that he would receive two days more in presenting his facts to the senate.

The Helms Summons to Work Again.
NASHUA, N. H., February 18.—For the first time since the strike, the bells of the Nashua company summoned the operators to work this morning. There was but a feeble response, however, not more than 100 of the 1,400 strikers going in. A large crowd assembled at the gates in the driving snow storm. The police guarded the entrances, and beyond some jeering remarks as an operative passed, there was no trouble. Quite a number of those who went in left again before the gates closed. No 2 mill is partially running. Those who go to work come from the second hands, machinists and cloth room employees who were not affected by the cut down. When the gates were closed the crowds dispersed.
Miners Visiting the Law Makers.
LONDON, February 18.—A deputation of miners visited the Earl of Dunraven and Lord Randolph Churchill, both of whom assured the deputation that they favored a limitation of working hours by the State. The deputation also called upon other members of parliament, and said that consideration must first be given to the fact that some workmen were willing to work more than eight hours a day, and then to the question whether the miners were entitled to separate treatment. He was unable to give the deputation any pledges himself as to his course. He must be free to act according to his judgment.

Fatal Fire in Newark.
NEWARK, N. J., February 18.—A fire broke out at 5:30 this morning in the confectory store of Henry Fitzer on Broad street and destroyed that store and the adjoining buildings, causing a loss of $50,000. One of the burned buildings was occupied by a family named Jackson. Most of the inmates of all the houses were awakened out of their beds and rescued by firemen, but Mrs. Jackson's sister, who only came yesterday on a visit, was forgotten in the excitement, and when the firemen discovered her in the window her room was already filled with smoke and she died quickly, but she was dead.

The Charleston Double Tragedy.
CHARLESTON, S. C., February 18.—Mrs. Leville, who was shot last night by her husband, died this morning. Ferdinand, the other victim of the tragedy, is still living, and will probably recover. The murderer is in jail and trying to play the insanity dodge. The verdict of the coroner's jury has not yet been rendered.

French Miners Strike.
PARIS, February 18.—The miners employed in two coal pits at St. Etienne have struck owing to the dismissal of one of their fellow workmen. The strike has caused much agitation among all the miners at St. Etienne.

WASHINGTON, February 18.—Bond offerings to-day $760,500, all accepted at 1.24 for four per cents and 1.04 for four and a half; $740,000 were surrendered by depositary banks.

Ladies Especially Invited
To call at 50 S. Main st. and see a strictly first-class market selling the finest beef, pork and mutton direct from the West.

The general debate was limited to 6 1/2 hours despite the appeal of Mr. Barnes, of Georgia, and others for five hours' time; and in retaliation for enforced limitation, they called for the reading of the original senate bill and the house substitute, altogether fifty-nine printed pages.
One hour and twenty minutes were consumed in reading, and it was after 3 o'clock before Mr. Struble, of Iowa, took the floor in support of the bill. He criticized the senate bill because it failed to include all of the Creek and Seminole lands purchased under the last administration.
Mr. Barnes, of Georgia, advocated the senate bill in preference to the house substitute. The senate bill proposed to organize a territory out of United States lands. The house bill proposed to include lands to which the United States did not now, but might hereafter hold title. The senate bill included 1,880,000 acres purchased in 1888 and No Man's Land.
The house substitute included in addition all of the Indian Territory not occupied by the five tribes. No government ought to establish a government, over land which it did not hold a perfect title. By solemn obligation by treaty, the land excepted from the senate bill had been given to the Indians for all time. To erect a superstructure of government on such a basis, would be to build on sand without foundation.
Mr. Mansur, of Missouri, contradicted Mr. Barnes' statement; that the bill trampled on Indian rights. It was a simple assertion of the courts, and court jurisdiction over the five tribes. There were no troops in the territory which a territorial government for them without their consent.
Mr. Springer, of Illinois, held the same views as Mr. Mansur. The committee report before the debate had concluded.
Mr. Furgess, of Minnesota, presented the conference report of the bill directing the superintendent of the census to collect statistics of farm mortgages and indebtedness. As the result of the conference, the senate accepted the house amendment. The report was accepted, and the house at 5:10 adjourned.

Supposed Accomplice in the Cronin Murder Caught.
CHICAGO, February 18.—Morning papers say, Patrick Conroy "the ox," captured last night at Hancock, Mich., and officer John C. Collins who has known him for years will return with him to-day. Conroy left the city yesterday that Dr. Cronin's remains were laid away in Calvary, and has eluded the police ever since. All the police officials on duty retained a stolid silence, and no admission could be got from them. The basis for the story comes from a dispatch received by Chief Marshall. It was received at police headquarters and sent to the chief. It read: "We have one man here, send a man for identification." On the receipt of the dispatch the chief immediately sent an order to headquarters immediately as follows:
"Send Collins, he knows him, and don't let this story get out." A call at officer Collins' house elicited the information that he had been called out suddenly about 11:30 o'clock. Chief Marshall left his home immediately after receiving the information and succeeded in keeping out of the way of the reporter.

A FOX RUN TO EARTH.
FANNING L. PATTON.
Supposed Accomplice in the Cronin Murder Caught.
CHICAGO, February 18.—Morning papers say, Patrick Conroy "the ox," captured last night at Hancock, Mich., and officer John C. Collins who has known him for years will return with him to-day. Conroy left the city yesterday that Dr. Cronin's remains were laid away in Calvary, and has eluded the police ever since. Another paper says, from the quiet proceedings around police headquarters between ten and twelve o'clock last night, Chief Marshall and his assistants had an order from the chief that Patrick Conroy, the man who is so badly wanted as one of the Cronin murderers had at last been captured. All the police officials on duty retained a stolid silence, and no admission could be got from them. The basis for the story comes from a dispatch received by Chief Marshall. It was received at police headquarters and sent to the chief. It read: "We have one man here, send a man for identification." On the receipt of the dispatch the chief immediately sent an order to headquarters immediately as follows:
"Send Collins, he knows him, and don't let this story get out." A call at officer Collins' house elicited the information that he had been called out suddenly about 11:30 o'clock. Chief Marshall left his home immediately after receiving the information and succeeded in keeping out of the way of the reporter.
