THE LATEST NEWS BY WIRE

BLAIR AGAIN HOLDS THE SEN- ATE WITH HIS BILL.

The Senate Should Distribute the Journal of the Proceedings of the Private Press in the House on the Oklahoma Bill.

WASHINGTON, February 19.—SENATE.
The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Chandler calling on the attorney general for information of the assasination of W. B. Saunders, deputy United States marshal in the northern district of Florida, was taken up, and Mr. Pasco proceeded to address the senate in explanation of the acts and circumstances of the case.

Mr. Pasco did not conclude his remarks when the hour of 2 o'clock arrived, and the educational bill came up as "unfinished business." Mr. Blair, however, yielded the floor to Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, on whose motion the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for the public building at Fort Dodge, Iowa, was taken from the calendar and passed. Mr.
Call called attention to the fact that this was the fourth public building bill passed for Iowa at this session.

On motion of Mr. Stockbridge, the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Lansing, Mich., was taken from the calendar and passed.

Mr. Blair then resumed his argument in favor of the educational bill. Incidentally to the sentence occurring in the report of the democratic superintendent of education in Georgia, Mr. Blair asked why should not the same be done in Iowa.
The republican party, he said, was pledged to it. Many able and distinguished democrats were in favor of it.
President Harrison had declared the necessity of providing for popular education in this bill. There was nothing in it, he said, except the opposition of those who build up in this country an opposing system—the practical school system—to the destruction of the schools of the country. He spoke of those who would claim a monopoly in open machinery against the bill, and who comprehend how, if this bill passes, it will give the great future of the republic to public schools.

While it interferes, he said, with the rights of no one, while it does not interfere with those who claim a monopoly of ten millions, it is nevertheless an assertion by the nation of its will to educate their children in the public non-sectarian schools. But more of that hereafter, if necessary. Occasionally I am obliged to go to the chamber in a week to make a motion to suppress this bill.
If it is to fail, will have been killed by packed committees, individual members of which have been threatened by anathemas from their church if they venture to support it, and I give notice to those who propose to kill the bill by indirect and by fraud, and by tricks unworthy of any other lobby around the capitol, that they have blows to receive as well as blows to give.

This country is not to be given over to those who would teach civil allegiance elsewhere than within our own borders, primarily, and subsidiary civil allegiance only to us. I speak of but a fraction of the great body of our citizens, for the masses of that same body of American citizens are true to the flag, and do not propose to elect a president who resides on the banks of the Tiber.

Taking up the report of the school superintendent in Tennessee, Mr. Blair remarked, in a tone of sarcasm, that Stark would be in the chamber in a week or two. At all events all he said would be in the record, no matter what the press did. The senate had a record that was a glorious little paper of their own.
If he should be returned to the senate for the next thirty or forty years he would make an effort to have the Congressional Record distributed to the people of the United States gratuitously, to the number of at least 500,000. The senate needed a paper. If it published a paper itself, and circulated it gratuitously, it could reach the people with the truth—but not until then.

The private press, said he, that runs only for its own emolument, and has to make money, and that leaves out most of the truth, especially if it is unpopular, is a poor place to rely upon. This great American press of ours is the source of more mischief in this country than there would be if we had no press at all. There may come a time when a dog fight will not be more important, in the opinion of this press, than the great school bill; but that time has not been reached.

Coming back to the statement which he had been about to read as to the condition of the public schools in Tennessee, he expressed the wish that some page would notify the Tennessee senators of what he was going to read. His remarks having been suspended so as to allow the message to be received from the house, Mr. Blair expressed the hope that he would not be interrupted any more by such small matters [Laughter].

Mr. Dolph asked him if he would yield for a motion for an executive session and Mr. Blair replied: Oh! no, unless I am obliged to; I have got only two days left. The executive session seems to come with unaccountable frequency at this time. We had two of them yesterday. I hope the senate will not pretend to motion now, what I am saying is so interesting. [Laughter.]

Mr. Dolph did not insist on the motion for an executive session and Mr. Blair went on with the reading of the report, and letters as to the literacy in the South, commenting upon them as he went along. Finally at 4.45 he yielded for Mr. Dolph's motion, and after an executive session the senate at 5.30 adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, from the committee on patents presented a favorable report upon the bill providing for the appointment of representatives to the international industrial conference at Madrid, Spain, April 1, 1890.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, objected to its consideration, although Mr. Butterworth declared that the effect would be to deny the United States representation at the conference.

Mr. Rowell, of Illinois, chairman of the committee on elections, gave notice that he would call up the West Virginia contested election case of Adkinson vs.
Pendleton for reconsideration next Wednesday.

Mr. Grimes, of Georgia, from the judiciary committee called up the bill to create an eastern division of the northern federal judicial district of Georgia, and it was passed with a few amendments.

Mr. Reed, of Iowa, in behalf of the judiciary committee, called up the bill to regulate the sittings of the United States courts in the district of South Carolina, and it was passed.

During an interrum in the call of the committee, Mr. O'Neill, of Pennel-vania, caused some applause on the part of the senate by announcing, despite the efforts of the speaker to silence him, that the republican representative had been elected to succeed the late representative Kelley, by a majority larger in proportion to the number of votes polled than Kelley received in 1888.

At 12.05 o'clock the house went into a committee of the whole for the consideration of a bill authorizing the appointment of an assistant secretary of war. The bill was favorably reported from the committee of the whole to the house, and the Oklahoma bill was taken up.

The remainder of the day's session was occupied in the discussion of the Oklahoma bill, but without action the committee rose. Saturday afternoon, March 22nd, was set apart for the delivery of eulogies upon the late representative Edward J. Gay, of Louisiana, and Thursday evening, April, 3rd, was fixed for the delivery of eulogies upon the late representative S. S. Cox, of New York. The house then at 5.35 adjourned.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, February 19.—The President to-day nominated William F. Bowers supervisor of census for the second Georgia district. The majority and minority reports of the Atkinson vs. Pendleton election contest from the 4th West Virginia district were submitted to the house to-day by Rowell and O'Fer-rell respectively. Rowell reviews with great minuteness the votes upon which the contest is based, and reaches the conclusion that Atkinson should have been given a majority of 7 instead of Pendleton 19. O'Ferrall makes an equally exhaustive review of the circumstances connected with votes which are contested with the result that he finds that Pendleton is entitled to a majority of 25 votes instead of 19 as shown on the face of the returns.

Shocks, Flood and Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 19.—A syndicate, among whom are I. W. Hellman, L. O. Greger, Schull Bros. of San Francisco, and Levy Strauss, of New York, have acquired the controlling interest in the Nevada Bank of this city. The ownership of this bank, since the death of the late James C. Flood, has been entirely in the hands of Mackay, Flood and Fair.
The syndicate will have control of five-sixths of the capital stock, which is $3,000,000, leaving one-sixth, or $500,000, which will be retained by Mackay and Flood. It is understood that Mackay, Flood and Fair simply wanted to be relieved of the responsibility necessary in the management of the bank, so their time could be devoted to other matters.

Incendary Fires at Rocky Mount.

RALEIGH, N. C., February 19.—News was received here to-day of a series of incendary fires at Rocky Mount. The trouble seems to have grown out of some unpleasantness in connection with the negropianment matter. On Monday night the extensive carriage works of Hackney Bros. were destroyed by fire of incendary origin. Last night the buildings at the fair grounds at Rocky Mount were fired by negroes, the object being, it is thought, to draw a crowd there from the town, that the work of destruction might be completed. Whether trouble occurred, however, but the town is thoroughly patrolled as other incendary work is hourly apprehended.

A Technical Case Established.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 19.—The taking of testimony before United States Commissioner Alexander in the case against citizens of Sharon, Ga., charged with conspiracy against and intimidation of Postmaster Duckworth was concluded to-day. All the material facts have been published. The record will probably establish a technical case against the accused; but in view of the fact, that no personal violence was done to Postmaster Duckworth, and that he has been un molested in the discharge of his office, it is thought that the case may be dismissed at the April term of the United States court to be held in Augusta.

Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, February 19.—The Sun's cotton review says:
"Futures opened quite buoyantly on stronger turn to Liverpool futures, although spots there continued dull and Manchester accounts showed no improvement. At 11.37, for August, the reaction set in, but in the last half hour was small receipts at ports, was assured, there was renewed buying, which restored the market to nearly the best figures of to-day. Although the interior movement showed pretty full figures, especially at Augusta and Cincinnati, it will not be the bulk as much off as the bears were when prices were one cent a pound lower.

The Real Aims of the Republicans.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Hon. W. Wickham bills do not argue the confidence that the republican party represents a majority of the people which republicans profess to be anxious to have rule. If the republicans really constituted a majority of the people no gerrymander of the State of Ohio would disturb them. What they really aim at is to preserve the unrighteous republican gerrymander which give 135 representatives from 16 Northern States where they are entitled to only 95. Those bills are to protect the theft of 40 representatives' seats in congress.

Bond Offerings.

WASHINGTON, February 19.—Bond offerings to-day aggregated $1,477,000; all accepted, at 1.24 for four per cents, and 1.04 1/4 for four and halfs. Of this amount $1,306,000 were four per cents.
All four per cents were surrendered by national bank depositories. The period within which the department will purchase four per cents at 1.24 in liquidation of public debts will expire to-morrow.
This explains in part the recent heavy offerings at that rate.

Dreadful Colliery Explosion.

PARIS, February 19.—An explosion occurred in a colliery near Decize, department of Nièvre, last night. It is not known how many lives were lost, but already thirty-four bodies have been recovered.

WEDGED IN A FLUE.

The Unhappy Position of a Man Who Wanted a Drink.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 19.—A peculiar case is tonight reported from Surry county. Joseph Hill, a farmer, was passing near the store of W. W.
Brown yesterday when he heard strange cries. The noises were strangely muffled, but could be distinguished as calls of "Murder," "Fire," "Help," etc. He thought it was some female in distress and was sometime in locating the strange noise. At last he found it proceeded from the stack-chimney in the centre of the store. The proprietor was sent for. Upon opening the store the queer muffled cries were redoubled. The merchant redoubled the voice as that of his own son, a boy nearly grown, who had for years been of dissipated habits, and whom his father had nothing to do with for some time. The grate was taken out but the boy could not be extricated from his position. It was only after an hour's work and a great hole had been cut in the chimney above the mantle that he was taken out of a great mass of soot and blacker than any African. He explained to his father that he was drunk, and had tried to enter his store. He had been drinking heavy the night before. Liquor had been refused him, and he had climbed up top of his father's store, diverted himself of his coat, vest, and hat, and slipped down the chimney. He did not know that a grate had been placed in the former open fireplace, and he was thus caught like a rat in a trap.
