MUST NOT CLUB PRISONERS ON HEAD

By the Associated Press.

London, June 30.—A London police court judge rebuked a policeman the other day for clubbing a prisoner on the head before arresting him. He did not condemn the policeman for striking the man with his club, as he was violent, but for striking him over the head with it. He said the policeman ought to have hit him over the legs or some other portion of his anatomy.

The incident serves to illustrate a striking difference between the comparative freedom allowed the police in America in using force in subduing an obstreperous prisoner and the restrictions that are sought to be imposed upon them here under similar circumstances. And some other differences, too.

The man who was clubbed was hailed before the police court judge on the charge of assaulting a policeman who was trying to get a drunken woman to a police station.

The policeman said he was surrounded by a hostile crowd of about 200. Whitehead the man who was clubbed—struck him on the face and body. In the struggle both fell to the ground and someone then kicked the policeman in the ribs. The policeman drew his club and hit Whitehead, who was still showing fight "just where I could reach him easiest."

In many of London's streets a hostile crowd baiting a policeman is as common a sight as in the United States it is a rare one.

Here the policeman carries a "truncheon" which is by no means such a formidable weapon as the American policeman's club. And if he hits a violent prisoner over the head with it when he ought to have hit him somewhere else, he is apt to get into trouble. Only when he is on a very dangerous "beat" does he carry a revolver. The rough who assaults him ordinarily runs no risk whatever of getting shot and very little of getting badly hurt. Therefore he is not afraid of a "scrap" with a policeman, especially when drunk.

There is a strong feeling here against arming the police and it must be assumed that those who have authority over them know their own business best and what is best for the protection of the police.

REV. T. P. JIMISON MAY RUN FOR STATE LABOR HEAD

A boom for Rev. Tom Jimison, pastor of the First Methodist church of Spencer, for president of the North Carolina Federation of Labor has been stated it is understood. The minister was a speaker at the meeting held Saturday night in North Charlotte by the striking shop crafts and his interest in the strike is thought to give him strong support among the crafts members.

James F. Barrett, editor of The Charlotte Herald, is president of the federation now. There is an indication that he is finding the duties of the office too pressing and would probably support the candidacy of the Spencer minister. Mr. Jimison is chaplain of the federation and is an active worker in its behalf.—Charlotte Observer.

SCHOOL TEACHERS FRIENDS MADE GLAD

One of them had this to say yesterday. "We never thought that poor Ellen would ever recover. She had suffered so long from stomach and liver trouble and had lost more than 40 pounds in weight. She took a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy upon the advice of her aunt and has steadily improved from the first dose. We are all confident of her complete recovery." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Adv.
