Destroying White Grubs.

Probably the most effectual check to white grubs is early plowing. If the land can be winter plowed and again plowed in the spring the grubs will be greatly injured. The application of lime will doubtless help to destroy them, and if early potatoes are planted and the crop harvested as soon as possible the land may be at once fitted and sown to alfalfa with almost certainty of a good stand.

Soy Beans as a Hog Feed.

Soy bean meal mixed with cornmeal in the proportion of one part bean meal to two of corn produces greater gains in hogs than wheat middlings and cornmeal fed in the same proportion. In feeding equal amounts of the two rations, soy beans and cornmeal supply a slightly higher per cent of dry matter and digestible matter than wheat middlings and cornmeal. For firmness, fine grain and texture of flesh and even distribution of fat and lean the ration of wheat middlings and cornmeal is superior to that of soy beans and cornmeal.—Wisconsin Experiment Station.

The Rain Tree.

A tree known as the rain tree (Pithecolobium saman) is found in the drier parts of South America. This tree grows to a height of sixty feet, and its leaves have the peculiar property of condensing the moisture from the atmosphere. So copious is this condensation that a continual shower falls from the leaves and branches until the surrounding soil is converted into a veritable marsh. Places that would otherwise be barren desert are by this means covered with the most luxuriant forests.

Treatment For Mango.

Mango is a distressing affection that should never be permitted to retain a place on any farm, as it is easily cured. Rub on oil of tar, one ounce, and whale oil, two ounces, or one-half pound each of tar and sulphur and one pound each of soap and alcohol. In all cases boil all blankets and treat with a strong solution of caustic potash all woodwork, harness, brushes, combs and whatever is possibly infested with the germs of mango.

Actor—I have been in your company ten years. Is it not time that you do something extra for me? Manager—Yes. From now on you shall play all the parts in which there is eating.—Fliegende Blätter.

The Modest Man.

A modest man isn't one who has a poor opinion of himself. He merely keeps still about his good opinion of himself.—Cleveland Leader.

Clean With Vinegar.

If your cooking utensils have a habit of burning or the victuals stick easily, try boiling a little vinegar in same. It acts like magic, especially with heavy skillets.

Only Part.

"Who is the old grouch?"
"A celebrated civil engineer."
"The civil part didn't take."

Her Self Possession.

"Miss Oldcastle is always self possessed no matter what happens."
"Well, she ought to be seeing that she has had practice in the self possession line for at least thirty-five years."—Chicago Record-Herald.
