

HOW ABOUT WATER?

The Evidence Seems to Be That There is but Little Water.

Something Like Two Feet Friday and the Pressure Indicates Less To-day.

A FILTER IS ABSOLUTELY DEMANDED

People Who Come and Go—Brief Briefs of Interest to All Readers of The Globe.

How about the water supply?

That is the question which should present itself along the line.

We would not question any motive of the water company, and we presume it is doing the best it can, but the plain, unwashed facts show that the supply is not equal to the demand.

Let the proper authorities get a move on themselves, and let a filter be placed in the reservoir, and at the same time let it be understood that we are to have plenty of wholesome water.

Something now is wrong.

Friday there were but two feet of water in the reservoir, and the company reported 67 pounds pressure.

To-day the company reports but 65 pounds pressure.

Give the subject some attention—because this is a serious question.

Butler, attempted to take her sewing machine away from her, on the ground that all the payments had not been made, Mrs. Bodine pulled a revolver from under her apron and told him scoot. He did so, and she afterward had him arrested on a charge of assault.

A fire at Greensboro Saturday night destroyed the works of the Standard Oil company, together with 120 barrels of oil. The firemen were powerless in extinguishing the flames, as the water added to the burning liquid only increased its power to spread. Dams were constructed to prevent the oil from carrying flames to other buildings. Many of the firemen were overcome by heat. The loss on oils is about $2,000. The buildings were inferior and the loss on them is trivial.

A Durham Husband Goes Home to His Dinner

And Discovers the Cold and Rigid Form of His Young Wife

STIFF AND STARK UPON THE BED

A Fifteen-month-old Infant, the Only Other Occupant of the House, Tries in Vain to Coax a Caress.

A very sad death occurred in this city before noon to-day. Mr. C. A. Williams had recently moved on Alston avenue and was nicely domiciled. His wife had been troubled with heart disease for some time and was under treatment of the doctors.

This morning her husband left for his work on the R. & D. railroad as section master pro tem. At noon he went home for his dinner, and a heartrending sight met his eyes. His wife lay upon the bed a corpse, and their only child, a year or fifteen months old, sat by its mother trying to get her attention.

Mr. Williams said when he left home this morning his wife told him she felt much better and he felt that it would be safe for him to go to work. He regrets very much that he was not at home.

The remains of Mrs. Williams will be taken to Hillsboro this evening for interment.

Our sympathies go out to the husband and motherless child. The ways of providence are mysterious—past finding out.

Mrs. Williams was about 25 years of age.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN.

The Yam Farm to Run a Frog Pond in Opposition to Guthrie's Hen House.

The editor of THE GLOBE will, at an early day, establish a froggery on his Yam Farm. This matter has been under contemplation for some time but not until the successful hunt on Saturday evening did he conclude to launch out into the business.

A barbed wire fence will enclose the pond to prevent the escape of the small frogs, and there will be a partition of wire netting run across the pond to separate the large and small frogs to prevent the large ones from jumping on the small ones. The editor has made frogs a special study since last Saturday, and has conceived the idea of raising them systematically for profit.

The legs of the largest bass singers will be sold at 12½ cents per pound or 50 cents per pair—the smaller ones at same rate per pound, etc. This is an industry that has been long needed in this beautiful South land and all arrangements will be perfected during this summer and the froggery will be in full blast by early spring of 1893.

BADLY LEFT.

A Young Man Who Wasted His Sweetness on the Desert Air.

A beautiful bouquet was seen at the depot to-day at 10:30 o'clock when the train moved out. It was carried there by a beautiful young man to accompany his best girl on a tour, but the incessant rains of the morning prevented her from making the start, or she had left on a previous train.

We sympathize with the young man as once or twice in our life we have met with a similar fate, but don't give up Johnie—pardon us, we did not mean to call your name.

The young lady, no doubt will appreciate the motive.
