Camp Davis On Come-Back Trail

We've just seen the interesting results of a third of a $20,000,000 surplus it now has, making it a permanent military installation.

This new test was accepted as a new milestone in the early development of the Navy's atomic bomb plant, and is the first in a series of important events to come in the near future.

After six months, a great part of Camp Davis, 30 miles northeast of Wilmington, has begun to smile from the distance face of acute government officials, and the construction of a permanent military base is now underway.

This installation was established as a temporary measure to provide a site for the testing of atomic bombs. It is now being used as an important part of the important mission of the Atomic Energy Commission.

A few miles to the southwest the town will emerge from the distance face of acute government officials, and the construction of a permanent military base is now underway.

This installation was established as a temporary measure to provide a site for the testing of atomic bombs. It is now being used as an important part of the important mission of the Atomic Energy Commission.

California is asking the public to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.

The public will be asked to accept this new base as a permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks. The public will be asked to accept the base as permanent military installation, and the necessity for its existence will be argued for the next several weeks.