

NEXT WEEK AT ROANOKE RAPIDS THEATRES

Stewart, Garland, Lamarr In The

ZIEGFELD GIRL

Featured Film Here Next Week

Reviving the Golden Age of musicals, "Ziegfeld Girl" is acclaimed as topping the imposing list of lavish productions scheduled for 1941—also as being Hollywood's most elaborate spectacle since "The Great Ziegfeld".

Opening at Peoples on Sunday and moving up town for a two-day run on Monday and Tuesday, the picture combines an all star cast, spectacular production numbers, magnificent sets, and brings together a galaxy of the most beautiful girls in America. A strong dramatic story, written by William Anthony McGuire, is interwoven with the trio of scintillating production numbers, "You Stepped Out of a Dream", "Minnie from Trinidad", and "We Must Have Music", which furnish unexcelled highlights for the film. The picture tells the story of three girls—Susan Gallagher, Sandra Kolter and Sheila Regan—played by Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner respectively. It tells of their jump from obscurity to fame, and its effect on their lives. The dazzle and glamour of the Follies prove too much for Sheila, who in the end, ill and disillusioned, dies on the eve of Susan's success as the Follies' new star.

James Stewart plays Gilbert Young, her truck-driver sweetheart, who loses Sheila to the lure of the show and fascination of wealthy Geoffrey Collis, played by Ian Hunter. Tony Martin, as the singing star of the Follies, becomes infatuated with Sandra who remains loyal to her husband, Franz (Philip Dorn), and who gives up her career as a Follies' beauty for his love.

Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullivan are co-starred to bring to the local screen the dramatic screen version of "Back Street". A story of warmth, tenderness, and tragedy, it will be presented at the Peoples Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Miss Sullivan, independent-spirited girl in the Cincinnati of the '90's rides in Richard Carlson's first horseless buggy, jokes with Frank McHugh, the drummer, and falls in love with Boyer, who is passing through.

Their love is beset by mischance, as Miss Sullivan's attempt to reach Boyer's boat, on which he planned to marry her, is thwarted. They meet five years later in New York, where Boyer is a successful banker and married. The old love is rekindled brightly. For years she is his second life, unable and unwilling to give up the great love they have for each other. When he is gone for months, she decides to marry Carlson, but meet Boyer again, and loses her resolve.

Many more years pass, still greater success comes to the international banker of repute, and still Miss Sullivan is his second companion. In France, his son, Tim Holt, upbraids Miss Sullivan for her persistence, and Boyer comes upon them. The boy refuses to understand, and Boyer, broken, suffers a stroke and dies. Her purpose in life gone, Miss Sullivan follows him, a picture of what might have been, save for mischance, coloring her final vision.

"Topper Returns", a comedy-mystery, with Roland Young, Joan Blondell, Carole Landis, Dennis O'Keefe, will be shown at the downtown theatre on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Miss Landis and her friend, Miss Blondell, have just returned from the Orient and Miss Landis is on the way to see her father, Warner, for the first time in her life. A couple of attempts are made on Miss Landis' life, and during the first night that the two girls are in Warner's house Miss Blondell is murdered by mistake. Miss Blondell's ghost immediately goes into action and enlists the aid of Cosmo Topper, Young, to try and solve the crime. From there on the action is fast, furious and funny, with trap doors, gags, and hokum galore woven into the screenplay's general pattern. One sequence with Anderson and a seal is a riot.

Richard Arlen, Andy Devine, and Dorothy Lovett will be presented at Peoples Friday of next week in the film, "Lucky Devils".

Arlen and Devine are newsreel cameramen for Mercury Newsreel. To get a scoop on the competition Arlen sends a phoney news bulletin to the other reels over a teletype machine run by his girl, Miss Lovett. She loses her job and breaks their engagement, but Arlen promotes a job for her as a radio newscaster. A couple of saboteurs enter the picture and the pace of the action increases. Paying Arlen back for the trouble he made for her, Miss Lovett sends him off on a fake story. However, things pop and Arlen and Devine square themselves with everybody by rounding up the saboteurs.

Saturday of next week will see Bill Elliot return to the Peoples Theatre screen in the rough and tumble western film, "North From The Lone Star". A chapter of the "Sky Raiders" will be added.
