AT THE MOVIES

ELTINGE THEATRE
Particular interest attaches to the showing of "Arizona Bound" at the Eltinge today and Saturday, since it introduces to the screen a new star in the person of Gary Cooper, previously seen at the Eltinge in "The Winning of Barbara Worth" and "Children of Divorce." Cooper, a lanky, six-foot-two product of a Montana ranch, bids fair to reach the heights as one of the most popular of Western stars, and is described as a handsome young actor who can act—a most promising player who gives every indication of becoming one of the real personalities of the screen.

"Arizona Bound" also introduces a new equine star, which bids fair to accompany its owner to the heights of popularity. "Flash" is a magnificent cream-colored Arabian, and is said to be the most beautiful steed yet used in motion pictures. The animal is highly trained, and he and Cooper, his owner, are shown throughout the picture as boon companions.

Playing opposite Cooper in the leading feminine role of "Arizona Bound" is Betty Jewel and El Brendel, the funny Swede, long recognized as one of the funniest comedians of vaudeville, plays the comedy role of "Ole Smoke" Oleson, and contributes an uproarious picture of a blundering Swede.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Petition has been sent to Congress to provide some fitting tribute to the American horses which served on the fighting front in France during the World War. This idea of a memorial to the equine heroes originated with Buck Jones, Fox Film horseman star, who wrote the screen drama, "The War Horse," as a film testimonial to the horses he sent to France and later followed to the fighting front when he joined the American cavalry.

"The War Horse" is the picture of the horse's everyday dangers, romances, hardships and daring during service in France as Jones saw it from the dramatic standpoint of a cavalryman, circus rider and actor. In fact, "The War Horse" is the equine hero's own "What Price Glory."

Supporting them are Lola Todd, Lloyd Whitlock, James Gordon, Stanley Taylor and Yola D'Avril. "The War Horse" will have an early showing at the Capitol Theatre commencing tonight.

ROOSTER ATTACKS CHILD
Orange, N. J.—While little Eulalie Preli was gathering eggs in a chicken house, a large rooster attacked her viciously. A spur of the bird was driven into her face and an operation was necessary for its removal.
