

PAVILION HAS BEST SHOW; CITY MERCHANTS MAKE FINE DISPLAYS

Every Booth Occupied and Attractive Features Are Offered

Progressive merchants and business men of Fargo have contributed their "bit" to make North Dakota's biggest fair the best ever, with the most attractive group of exhibits ever shown in the Merchants' pavilion.

Every booth in the big pavilion is occupied, and packed with the best in standard merchandise. A visit to the pavilion is more than worth the time and effort.

Booth No. 1 is occupied by the Golden Rule department store, J. C. Penney Co., Inc., with a fine line of dependable merchandise.

The North Dakota Decorating company, expert decorators, has a pretty exhibit in booth No. 2.

The Northwestern Telephone company and the Fargo American, S. F. Stone, publisher, are in booth No. 3, which has been fitted up as a patriotic rest room, and has the only telephone in the pavilion.

J. F. Holmes & Co., clothiers, show a very pretty exhibit of men's clothing, featuring Hart Schaffner & Marx garments in booth No. 4.

Fout & Porterfield, druggists, have a very comprehensive showing of paints and painters' sundries in booth No. 5.

The Shotwell Floral Co., in booth No. 6, has a very pretty showing of cut flowers, which attracted no little attention. Monday, E. B. McCracken, photographer, holds forth in booth No. 7, showing a fine line of photographs.

Booth No. 8 is occupied jointly as a show room for the North Dakota Lighting company, which is exhibiting an acetylene lighting system for farms, and as the pavilion work room.

Luger Shows Furniture.

The Luger Furniture company has booth No. 9 fitted up as a furniture show room and rest room, which is proving a popular innovation at the pavilion. The exhibit of the state school for the blind at Bismarck is in booth No. 10, showing the handicraft work of the unfortunate there, and is justly attracting much attention.

Ashelman Bros., of Delco-Light farm lighting systems are in booth No. 11.

O. M. Asland Co., ladies' furnishings, has booth No. 12. J. E. Johnson Co., sporting goods, booth No. 13; and the Hoopman Material Co., Fargo and Moorhead, showing fireplace and tile brick, artistically arranged, booth No. 14.

The Electric Violin company is in booth No. 15.

Max Stern, ladies' furnishings and tailor, has two booths, Nos. 16 and 17, for a fine showing of garments.

The Western Furniture company has a fine exhibit of furniture in booth

18, while the J. D. Grant Co., wholesale tires and auto supplies, occupies booth 19.

The baby show occupied two booths, Nos. 20 and 21, and could use two more to accommodate the crowds attracted by the activity there. The baby contest which will be one of the features of the fair, is in charge of Dr. J. G. Dillon, Fargo.

How linen rugs are made, and what enters into their construction is shown in booth 22, occupied by the Klearfax Linen Rug Co., Duluth, Minn. The Troco Nut Butter company is in booth 23; the Crane-Ordway company, with a splendid showing of automobile oils and greases in booth 25; while the Dakota Business college has some very fine specimens of work done at the college in booth 26. The National Cash Register company is in booth 27.

Alex Stern & Co., clothiers, are in booth 28; Oliver Denis, furrier, in booth 29; the Hodgson Realty company in booth 30; the Fargo Cornice & Ornament company in booth 31; and Carlisle & Bristol, hardware dealers, in booth 32. Each has an attractive exhibit.

Meedy in Booth 33.

The A. L. Moody Dry Goods company has a pretty showing of apparel for women and children in booth 33. Booth 34 is occupied by Egeen Bros., piano dealers, Bergstrom & Crowe, furniture dealers, have a fine exhibit in booth 35, while Ashelman Bros., have a second exhibit in booth 36.

The Stone Piano Co., Fargo, Grand Forks and Chicago, occupy booths Nos. 37, 38 and 39, with a very complete showing of pianos and other musical instruments. Booth 39 is devoted entirely to a self playing Seeburg piano, which is doing its share to enliven the pavilion crowds.

Joseph & Hoencik, ladies' furnishings and manufacturing furriers, are in booth 40; the Klinsmann company, sheet metal workers, in booth 41; while "Who is Ted" Evanson, men's tailor, is showing fine woolsens in booth 42.

Booth 43 is occupied by the Interstate Business college; booth 44, by the Fargo Y. W. C. A.; booth 45, Aaker's Business college; booth 46, Getts Piano Co., booth 47, Walker Bros., stationers and printers; booth 48, Fargo Tailoring Co.; and booth 49, Howland & Goodrich, grocers.

Sell War Savings Stamps.

Booths 50 and 51 are occupied by the Northern School Supply company, the former booth being devoted to the sale of War Savings stamps. The Union Light, Heat and Power company is in booth 52, and the Fargo Plumbing & Heating company in booth 53.

The Hazen-Norton Co., jewelers, occupy booth 54; while the O. J. deLendrecie department store has a very pretty exhibit in booths 55 and 56. Booth 57 is taken by the Globe-Gazette Printing Co., and booth 58, the last in the pavilion, by the Fargo W. C. T. U., with a rest room.

Each of the booths has been prettily decorated, American and allied flags being prominently displayed, and present a most attractive appearance.

VALLEY PIONEERS TO HOLD MEETING AT FAIR GROUNDS

Old Settlers' Association Session Wednesday, Important Feature

At the business meeting following the reunion of the Old Settlers' association at the state fair Wednesday, plans for compiling and publishing an annual program and directory for the Red River valley will be discussed.

"The old settlers want something more enduring and more concrete than an annual program and directory of officers," said H. J. Hagen, general secretary of the Cass county executive committee today. "They want an institution that will be a monument to them, and that will be perpetuated by coming generations."

To this end, the members of the Old Settlers' association will consider the compiling and the publication of an annual program and directory for the valley counties, including Cass, Clay, Pope, Wilkin, Richland, and others. The students of the University of North Dakota have made an advance in compiling the histories of various sections of North Dakota, but the Old Settlers' association anticipates doing its own more complete and comprehensive schedule.

Plans for the erection of an Old Settlers' Memorial will also be discussed, but this will not be pressed on account of war necessity. At the close of the meeting a collection of money for the erection of an Old Settlers' annual will be taken. This annual will contain the minutes and reports of the various meetings, the biographies of well-known pioneers, and a discussion of the erection of the projected memorial.

All Pioneers Invited.

The fair management has issued invitations to all the pioneers of the Red River valley to attend the annual reunion at the fair grounds. All settlers prior to 1855 will be given tickets of admission.

The executive committee of the Red River Old Settlers' association has arranged a program of addresses and music for the occasion, which promises to be one of the biggest and best reunions ever held. The meeting will be held in the Old Settlers' tent, which seats about 500 persons, and which occupies a permanent site on the fair grounds. Speakers who have been secured for the occasion are President Frank A. Weld of the state normal of Moorhead, Judge George Van Arnam of Wahpeton, and Judge A. T. Cole of Fargo.

The complete program follows: Invocation.....Rev. E. E. Saunders

Tickets for admission at the gates. Free to pioneers, J. B. Vowles and E. C. Eddy in charge.

Babies' Contest Proves Popular

On account of the great emphasis that the government has laid on the Child Welfare work this year, the Better Babies contest, held in the same booth in the Merchants' pavilion as in former years, is attracting more than usual attention at the North Dakota State Fair.

Dr. Anon E. Cameron, of Chicago, is judge of the contest and is assisted in the examination and weighing of the babies by Mrs. Taylor Thompson and Mrs. Roy Cook, both of Fargo. Later in the week, Mrs. Paul Boleyn will assist. Twenty babies were examined on Monday and it is probable that about the same number will be examined each day of the fair, as there are approximately 120 babies entered. After the children are weighed and measured, they are examined, the official government score card being used. One half of this card is given the parent and the other half is retained by the judge who will use it in determining the winners.

Mrs. A. Hines has charge of the booth where government literature and pamphlets regarding the better care of babies is given out.

Dr. J. G. Dillon had charge of the details of the contest this year and it is largely due to his efforts that the contest is proving so successful.

LABOR WAGES ARE FIXED.

Cavalier, N. D., July 16.—Femina county threshers, in a conference held here, determined to pay $4.50 a day to laborers for threshing.

The harvest field rate agreed upon is $1.50 a day, and having operations, $2.50 a day.

Local labor agents will operate in all sections of the county, and every able-bodied man in the county will be listed for work in the fields that there may be no labor shortage.

NO TAX IS MADE ON FAIR TICKETS

There is no war tax on tickets to the state fair. The revenue act passed by congress specifically exempts fairs from such taxation.

The charge for admission to the North Dakota state fair is 50 cents during the day, and 25 cents after 5 p. m.

'Oh Boy' Orpheum Fair Week Bill

"Oh Boy," the musical comedy that has made such a tremendous hit in the theatrical world, will be the Orpheum offering on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. It comes at a most appropriate time, with the hundreds of fair visitors who are in Fargo.

"Oh Boy," brings with it Joseph Santley, and the press agents assure Fargo folks that he has "forty dazzling beauties" with him.

The ticket sale is very good, and crowded houses are virtually assured for both performances.

"Mandy, tell that celled man to take his arm from around yuh waist."

"Tell him yo-self. He's a puffed stranger to me."

DR. H. O. FJELDE STROKE VICTIM; FUNERAL WILL BE HELD IN MILL CITY

Dr. Herman O. Fjelde, 52, for over 21 years engaged in the practice of medicine at Abercrombie, Fargo and Cooperstown, died at Rolla, N. D., on Sunday morning following a stroke of paralysis on Saturday night from which he did not regain consciousness. The remains were taken to Minneapolis where the funeral will be held on Wednesday and interment will be at the side of his wife who died several years ago.

Dr. Fjelde was well known throughout North Dakota and northern Minnesota, especially to the Scandinavians. For many years he was president of the Søndmøre lag, an association of people of his native section of Norway.

It was largely through Dr. Fjelde's efforts that the funds were raised for the Ivar Assen and Hans Nielsen Hauge memorials erected on the campus of Concordia college, Moorhead. He was also one of the leaders of the committee that procured the Bjarnstjerne Bjornson, Henrik Ibsen and Rollo monuments for Fargo.

Born in Norway, Herman O. Fjelde was born in Aatesund, Norway, April 13, 1866. He graduated from the Royal university of Christiania in 1889, after a two years' philosophical course. In May of the same year he emigrated to the United States, locating at Minneapolis where he took up the study of medicine at the state university. After his graduation in 1895 he was engaged in the practice of his profession at Martell, Wis., for two years.

In 1897 he removed to Abercrombie, N. D., where he practiced until 1912 when he came to Fargo. He continued in practice in this city until 1916 when he removed to Cooperstown. About three months ago he was called to Rolla to take up the practice of Dr. Verrett who had been called into service as an army surgeon.

Dr. Fjelde was a widower and is survived by two sons, two daughters and two sisters. The oldest son, Jacob, is in the United States navy; the younger, is a student at Concordia college, Moorhead, and the two daughters, Fredricka and Pauline, resided at home. The sisters are Miss Paula Fjelde and Mrs. Martin Hanson, both residing in Minneapolis. Dr. Fjelde was the youngest and last of a family of six brothers.

Wm. Macfadden Gets Commission

William S. Macfadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Macfadden, 423 Eighth street South, has been commissioned Lieutenant in the machine gun section of the ordnance reserve corps, according to telegraphic advices received in Fargo. He has been ordered to report immediately in New York city.

Lieutenant Macfadden enlisted a year ago as a private, at the close of his work at the University of Wisconsin. He has, since then, been in Washington and Camp Hancock, Georgia, where he was selected for the officers' training course.

Last week Lieutenant Macfadden visited his parents at their cottage at Detroit lake.

Ride Thief Is Held as Gun Toter

Special Officer McDowell, of the Northern Pacific, arrested two men riding "redneck" furniture" according to Officer McDowell, Fred Guymor pulled a gun when he attempted to eject Guymor and Floyd Roberts from a freight car. McDowell shot Guymor in the chest, carrying concealed weapons, and Floyd Roberts for stealing a ride.

The two men were taken to the preliminary hearing in police court. Guymor was bound over to the district court on $500 bail, and Roberts to the county jail on $200. In default of bond, both are now in the county jail.
