HODKINS' DISK HARROW

Gives Results Surpassing All Other Harrows.

THE Cup Tooth is not round but three sided and shovelled pointed which insures its revolving and being set at an angle it strikes the ground like a plow share and lifts the soil on back cup, throws it behind and leaves it light and thoroughly pulverized.

Puls hollow, is effective on rough ground, weeds and stumps give no trouble as it will clear itself.

The following is what many users say:—
Dublin, N. H., Sept. 2, 1897.

Mr. Hodkins—Sir,
I have used your harrow the past season with good success. I have used it for leveling on the highway with excellent success.
It did the work of three men. I have used the Disk harrow and Acme, and yours surpasses them all.
It is the easiest draft and the best harrow to level ever used.

Nothing can be said in favor of the best medicine in the world that may not be said of the best mouthpiece. In one sense, it's

Judge by what is done. There's only one blood-purifier that's guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and this is what does come with it; if it doesn't benefit you, you get your money back. Isn't it likely to be the best?

All the year round, as well at one time as another, it cleanses and purifies the system. All blood-poison must go. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetters, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequalled remedy.

It's the cheapest, too. With this, you pay only for the good you get. And nothing else is "just as good." It may be better—for the dealer at he isn't the one that's to be helped.

LILIES.

"A lily's height bespeak command,
The stately heralds to the King's hand,
The scepter of her power."

The lily has always been regarded as the emblem of wisdom and purity, and the type of pure dignity is called, in French, the "whitely lily." The Orientals also give it the appropriate name of "majesty."

There are no hardy plants, except roses, which possess so many attributes; rich and profuse in color and variety; majestic and elegant in growth and of most exquisite perfume, no garden is complete without a selection of lilies. Many fine effects may be produced by grouping of the different varieties. Planted by itself in stately rows, lilyum candidum makes a superb background for other selections. The favorite variety of our grandmothers cannot be excelled for beauty and grace.

Lilyum stratum, the golden-banded lily, stands at the head of all magnificence of growth and in beauty of color and markings. It is most appropriately planted in single specimens in the center of a large bed surrounded by a border of other flowers, where it towers above them all like the queen in the midst of her court.

[illegible]

They may be planted from August to the middle of October and it is well to use a fertilizer of some kind, not letting it come in direct contact with the manure. Set about six inches deep, cover well with soil and they will multiply and blossom for a long time with but little care. I have seen one A. Elliott of Pittsburgh we are indebted to for our illustration of Lilias.

FLOWER NOTES

I. S. Ogden says as follows:

"Many are the woes and disappointments as well as the pleasant surprises of the amateur gardener! Will the floral editor come to the rescue by answering these queries?"

1. Cugliani level-of-Fern to bud in June and wait until late August to blossom? The plants receive morning sun only. Would it do to transplant

2.—Should seed of fern be planted in the Autumn?
3.—Does it do to gather flower-seeds before ripening and dry in the sun?
Answer 1.—Marvel of Peru, four o'clock Mirabilis Jalapa, as it is variously called is a tuberous rooted perennial, native of the warmer parts of America. It is a plant which loves the sun and comes to greater perfection if planted single than when grown in clumps. I. S. has probably planted your seed where there is not sufficient sunshine but I should scarcely transplant at this late day, though it might

It is not necessary to sow the seeds in the autumn. It is better to sow them in the spring, when the soil is warm and the weather is clear. The seeds will germinate faster and the plants will be stronger. It is also better to sow the seeds in the spring, when the soil is warm and the weather is clear. The seeds will germinate faster and the plants will be stronger.

3.—Where it is possible to let flower seeds ripen on the stalk that is unquestionably the better way. If picked too early and all allowed to dry they might stand a chance of germinating in early spring. But flower seeds can be obtained at so low rates that it seems hardly worth while to take so much trouble and trouble on what, at best, must be a great uncertainty unless in case of some rare plant.

Farm and Stock Notes.

Never feed the cows when milking them.

Cows are less likely to handle a poor grade of food than horses or any other class of stock.

In feeding soft feed to the cows, adding a little salt will make it more palatable.

A colt given plenty of room will not be as awkward as one raised in a close room.

Give your animal a good chance at the start and you will not be disappointed at the outcome.

There are few substances more thoroughly contaminated by pure odors than fresh milk.

of dairy products—in the same animal as the meat products—can hardly be expected.

Much of the work of properly maintaining the trees in the orchard can be done in mild, winter weather. The more poor-wintered a man raises, the worse off he is, and it is only a question of how long he can stand it.

Many fail to succeed from the fact that their farms are not adapted to the breed of animals that is being kept.

In many cases inferior products cannot be grown and made ready for the market at a fair profit. They are too small to draw a profit.

The form of the animal and the quality of the meat depend mainly on the breed. The growth and development depend largely upon the feed.

It is important, in order to derive the best possible results from feeding, that the farmer should thoroughly understand the quality of the material used.

While it is not now possible for the very farmer to have the best breed of stock, yet they can take good care of what they do have so as to realize the most profit.

SMOTHERED CHICKENS.

Cut the chickens open in the back as for broiling. Salt, and place them in a dripping pan with enough fat to cover the bottoms. Cook in a quick oven, basting frequently with butter and adding more water if it is needed. They will need from three quarters of an hour to an hour. Take up the chickens and make the gravy by stirring in the thickening and allowing to boil up once. Cut up the giblets add pepper and a plentiful supply of butter, and pour a little gravy over the fowl. Put the rest in a gravy bowl. Served with hot waffles. This is a dish fit for a king.

Stiff the crop and body with a mixture of bread crumbs, butter, salt, and pepper. The stuffing may be moistened, or put in dry as preferred. Cook carefully in a hot oven. Turn over half a cupful of water over the chickens and an hour for an ordinary fowl, longer for an old one. Boil the gravy in a separate saucepan, and season it in which they are boiled to the gravy. Thicken the gravy, and add a sliced hard-boiled egg to it, and serve in a heated dish. The chickens should be broasted frequently while roasting.

FRI-CASSED CHICKENS.
Cut the chickens into pieces. Turn into a pot with cold water to cover. Boil for an hour. Add a few slices of any chicken—twice as long for an old one. Thicken the gravy and pour over the chickens. The water should be strained and the fat skimmed off. Season with salt and pepper added after they are done. Add butter if the chickens are very young, with a little thyme if it is liked.

CHICKEN POTPIE.
Prepare and cook as above. Fifteen minutes before serving, drop into the pot pieces of ordinary biscuit dough

TO REMOVE FRESH BITE MILK.

Take up as much as possible of milk with a teaspoon. Then pour cold milk on the spot and take up as before until the milk is only slightly warm. Wash the spot with cold water and repeat with a cloth, rubbing lightly. Another authority says when ink has been spilled on a carpet immediately cover the spot thick with salt, and the ink and salt will have entirely disappeared.

QUICK JELLY.

Pare and core the quinces; add one cup of water for every two pounds of fruit; steam until very soft. Turn a small quantity at a time into a strainer, and allow the sirup to drain off. Measure the sirup, and add to it three times as much sugar. Boil five minutes. Add granulated sugar, so the proportion of one cupful of sugar to every cupful of juice. Stir thoroughly to insure the melting of the sugar. Boil five minutes. Boil to a point skin well, and turn into glasses. As you value the color of your jelly, it minutes after the sugar is in. For it to be entire process use nothing but granulated porcelain or earthenware dishes.

Keep Your Blood Pure.

A small quantity of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. If your blood is in good condition the liability to any disease is much reduced and the ability to resist its wasting influence is tenfold greater. Look then to your blood, by taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) every few months. It is harmless in its effects to the most delicate infant, yet it cleanses the blood of all poisons and builds up the general health.

"S. S. S." cured me sound and well of contagious Blood Poison. As soon as I discovered I was afflicted with the disease I commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) and in a few weeks I was permanently cured."
