The Pulpit. A SERMON BY THE REV. J. W. HENDERSON. Subject: Life.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church, Hamburg avenue and Weirfield street, on the above theme, the pastor, Rev. Ira Wemmel Henderson, took up his text John 1:4 and said: Last Lord's Day we discussed in some measure and manner the fact of death. To-day we shall discuss for the moment that which we call life.

All of which is true and obvious and old. There is not much that is new that we can tell about the living life. For the primal man knew life in its fullness and its beauty as God.

Life is so intangible that it is in reality properly indefinable. We cannot define it exactly. We may approximate a definition, but we cannot say that we have defined it.

Development of the Divine. The highest aim is the development of the divine in man. Those who have the least sight of love may detect its presence in every one.

How Divers Escape Drowning. The diver at the sea's bottom lives still, though in a foreign element, because his close-fitting armor with the air-tight breathing up above the waves, keeps him surrounded with another and finer element suited to sustain life.

Can Find Time to Sin. He who cannot find time to consult his Bible will find time to sin. He who cannot find time to consult his Bible will find time to sin.

He Comes When Desired. Christ comes only to the want of the soul. We shall know Him by His saving power, the glory and the blessedness of His birth in our souls only when we heartily desire Him.

ability to use it. For God never sends opportunities to men that they are unable totally to use. For God never tests with men.

Colorado Springs, Col.—A powerful racing automobile occupied by seven prominent Elks and a chauffeur, and built to hold but three passengers, while running at a terrific rate crashed into a telephone pole at the bottom of West-Jarvis street hill here and was wrecked.

Life is determined in the terms of possibility. That is to say, that life is hope. "While there is life there is hope," is no mere catch phrase.

Gray was precipitated out of the car and jammed against the telephone pole. The entire left side of his face was fractured, and his eyes were laid open, the eyelid tearing the top of his head almost in two.

Filled With the Fullness of God. This is how the Rev. Dr. Dixon illustrates the thought of being filled with the fullness of God.

Better Than Ten Thousand Pounds. Give me ten thousand pounds, and one reverse of fortune may scatter it away. But let me have a spiritual hold of this divine assurance.

EXPLOSION ON A WARSHIP. Many Japanese Meet Death on the Kashima.

Tokio.—An explosion aboard the Japanese warship Kashima killed five officers and twenty-two men and sixteen others were seriously wounded. The catastrophe occurred after target practice near Kure, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

The cause of the explosion is under investigation. It occurred inside of the shield of the starboard gun, ten-inch gun. It was not the shell which exploded, but powder, which evidently caught fire from the gas September 19, 1907, at Sasebo, after the purpose of reloading the gun.

The explosion on board the Kashima recalls the disaster of July 15, 1890, on the United States battleship Oregon, of Provincetown, Mass., when nine men, including Lieutenant Caspar Goodrich and Midshipman Faulkner Goldwater, were killed, and thirteen were injured by an explosion in the after turret of that vessel.
