Cloisters of Westminster Abbey.

When Parliament reassembles a question will, I am informed, be addressed to the First Commissioner of Works regarding the Chapel of the Pyx in the dark cloisters of Westminster Abbey. This ancient vaulted chamber, the opening of which to the public has been often rumored in recent years, was formerly the deposititory of the regalia of the Scottish kings. Some time ago it was thoroughly cleaned out and the electric light installed. In the lumber removed were many of the old tally sticks with which the national accounts were at one time kept, the immoderate burning of which in a small stove led to the conflagration which consumed the houses of Parliament early in the last century.

Another apartment - mistakenly called the Monk's Cell-close to the historic chapel has also been cleaned out, and it is suggested that this and the other vaults might be used for the exhibition of relics associated with this interesting quarter of the Abbey. These include a stone altar, a stone coffin and some wooden figures of Henry V. and Queen Elizabeth. The Pyx chamber has from time immesession of the Crown, and its massive foor, on the inside of which some fragments of human flesh were at one time to be seen, can only be opened by the officers of the government for the time being .- London Daily News.

Rose That Changes Color.

The changing rose is a plant to the cultivation of which the Japanese devote much attention. It produces a tiny but beautifully formed flower. On being taken suddenly out of a dark place into a sunny room it slowly assumes a pale pink hue, which gradually grows in intensity until it becomes of the deepest red shade. The color vanishes again at night or when the rose is replaced in a dark

FOOD FACTS

What an M. D. Learned. A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public: "It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tisque, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight very rap-

"I was in such a low state that ! had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in tact, I was not quite as well as when I left home.

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life. "As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts, when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body, will work miracles. "There's a Reason."

MEHMED V. RULES:

Turkey Has a New Sultan, Brother of the Former.

CONSTANTINOPLE GREETS HIM

The New Ruler Was Born November 3, 1844-He Was Heir to the Throne, Being the Eldest of the Constantinople, Turkey. - Abdul Hamid has been deposed and his brother, Mehemmed Rechad Effendi, has been made Sultan in his stead under the title of Mehmed V. The new Sultan was proclaimed by the firing of 101 guns. The dethronement of the old Sultan was accomplished by unanimous vote of the two houses of Parliament, acting as a National Assembly, immediately following its receipt from the Sheik ul Islam of his authorization. The announcement was greeted with universal joy. The streets were filled with cheering throngs, and houses throughout the city were decorated with flags.

Abdul Hamid will be permitted to live hereafter in a palace in some retired spot, where he will be closely guarded. He has disgorged large sums of money that he had se-

Mehmed V. of Turkey was born No vember 3, 1844. He was heir pre sumptive to the throne, according to the Mussulman law, as the eldest aber of the reigning family, except the Sultan. Because of the close surveillance kept over him by the Sultan's spies, he is little known as a man. He had his palace on the shores of the Bosphorus.

He is tall and well proportioned, but inclined to stoop. His features are regular, but he has a hooked nose like that of Abdul Hamid. His eyes are blue, and his hair and beard are light red. His manners are very gracious and easy, and he is exceedingly generous and kind. He is not at all fanatical, but he is sincerely religious. ADELE BOAS COMES HOME

ABDUL HAMID DETHRONED Went to Boston on $14 and Became a Waitress.

> Returned Because She Cut Her Thum! and to Save Her Father $5000-Fooled Police on Train.

New York City. - Thirteen-yearold Adele Boas came home after three days of making her own way in the world. This desire to strike out for herself, to break away from the restraints of her home life to show her mother and father that she was no longer a little girl but a young woman, was the sole reason for her leaving her parents.

A single day's work as a waitress in a Boston restaurant was sufficient to satisfy her ambition. A cut on her thumb and the news that her father, Arthur E. Boas, a spool silk manufacturer, had put her picture in the newspapers and offered $5000 for information of her whereabouts, were the finishing blows to her independent career. The cut on her thumb hurt so much, and as to the $5000 reward—well, her papa wasn't going to pay that if she could prevent it. If Adele hasn't saved the $5000 she has at least created a complicated situation regarding it. Two or three persons in Boston lay claim to it, while two of Inspector McCafferty's men think they are entitled to consideration because they met the girl at Stamford, Conn., on her way back from Boston. Before she reached Stamford the girl had calmly faced the police and reporters of three cit-ies and, with that $5000 in mind, had succeeded in persuading them that she never had heard of Adele Boas. Adele's trip to Boston was pre-meditated. She had been saving her money for two months. She told her mother and father that she was saving this money "to buy papa a pres-ent," but really she was planning to be independent. When she left her mother at Columbus avenue and Eighty-first street she went directly to her home at-10 West Eighty-eighth street. Nobody saw her enter. She took $14 from her little savings bank and with only her umbrella as baggage started out to face the world.

Early next morning she started out to see Boston. Presently she entered the restaurant of Mrs. Elizabeth E. Upton at 624 Main street, Charlestown. Her attention had been attracted by a "Help Wanted" sign in the window, and after breakfast she applied for a job as waitress. When she left there Mrs. Upton notified the New York police that the girl was on her way home.

The Steamboat Whistle. Have you ever wondered what sounds travel the furthest? If you live in a great city you are constantly enveloped in such a multitude of noises that it is very seldom that any particular one attracts the attention unless it be unusually sharp or strident, and although piercing, such a sound is not likely to carry any great distance. The higher notes are exceedingly penetrating for a short radius, and unquestionably more startling than the lower ones, but the latter are much more far-reaching. The ability of a sound to carry depends upon its vibrations, and any one who has listened to the deep notes of a pipe organ in a church will admit that he could almost feel the air vibrate. But probably a steamboat whistle, such as are common on the Ohio and Mississippi packets, can be heard as far as any sound that may ordinarily be met with. The deep resonance of its tones floating steadily out into the air, seem to stretch away indefinitely into space, especially in the stillness of a night in the country. It is a sound that cannot be mistaken for any other, and when once its acquaintance has been made you will never forget it. -Harper's Weekly.

The Tariff. "The tariff is a wonderful institution," said the earnest citizen. "Yep," answered Farmer Corntassel. "It's more than wonderful. It's an unprecedented marvel. It's the only thing I ever heard of that our Congressman was afarid to talk about."-Washington Star.

Let Me Tell You

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is to blame for her own wretched condition.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what these women say:

Camden, N. J.—"It is with pleasure that I send my testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, hoping it may induce other suffering women to avail themselves of the benefit of this valuable remedy.

"I suffered from pains in my back and side, sick headaches, no appetite, was tired and nervous all the time, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman—and this valuable medicine shall always have my praise."—Mrs. W. P. Valentine, 902 Lincoln Ave., Camden, N. J.

Erie, Pa. —"I suffered for five years from female troubles, and at last was almost helpless. I tried three doctors but they did me no good. My sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has made me well and strong. I hope all suffering women will just give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, for it is worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. P. Endlich, R. F. D. 7, Erie, Pa.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit. If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

Influence of a National Anthem "After the siege of the Pekin Legations a dozen Russian soldiers bent on loot and outrage raided the house in which one of my band boys lived with his mother and sister," Sir Robert Hart said at a dinner at the Authors' Club. "The boy snatched his violin and played the Russian national anthem and the looters stood to attention. Then they left the house without molesting any one."-London Evening Standard. The Bride-Elect Objected,

A young man, who looked every inch the bridegroom, stood in the rotunda of a Chicago hotel the other day telling a friend of the manner of his proposal to his bride. She had known of his wild ways and fondly hoped to reform him through marriage. "After I had popped the question and she had accepted me," he said, "I at once began to talk about the wedding. 'We shall go away somewhere by ourselves, my dear,' I said; 'there will be no flourish, no cards, no ceremony'-here she interrupted me, and, with a dignified sweep of her arm, declared: 'Mr .-I shall certainly insist upon a cere mony."-San Francisco Argonaut.

A SAVING IN SHAVING It's nothing more or less than extrava-gance to pay a big price for a safety-razor. The only part that counts for anything is the blade. But good blades—even the best of blades—don't warrant the price usually demanded for the razor. The biggest part of what you pay for the regular safety-razor is for the frame and the box-details that don't figure at all in the razor's value.

Prove this for yourself. 25c. in STAMPS brings you one of these marvellous Razors, postpaid, by mail BOOK PUB. HOUSE. 134 Leonard Street, New York
