NEWS IN 1815 AND NOW.

The Battle of Waterloo Was Not Heard Of Till Six Weeks After It Was Fought.

Leopold de Rothschild, at a dinner of the Newspaper Press fund, drew an interesting contrast between the methods used for transmitting news in 1815 and now. His own firm claims to have been the first to announce the victory of Waterloo in England, says Country Life.

By the by, there is a tradition at Somersby, where Tennyson was born and lived, that they did not hear of the battle of Waterloo there till six weeks after it was fought.

Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, however, said that his grandfather, who was the owner of some ships, gave his captains direct orders that wherever they went they were always to bring him the latest newspapers, and in this way there came into his hands a Dutch paper which contained the intelligence in one line. "Great victory of the English at Amsterdam."

His grandfather took the news to Lord Liverpool, but was accused because the intelligence had arrived on the previous day that the English troops had been beaten.

If there is a Waterloo fought in the future, we wonder how the first intelligence will reach London. Will it be by what we have come to regard as the somewhat prosaic cablegram? Will it be by telephone? Or shall we have it in a marseonigram? Perhaps there may be an invention before then that will render all these obsolete.

The engagement of this popular young couple was announced last November when a grand reception was given in Braga Hall in their honor.

The coming event which will take place in the Temple Beth Mordecai, is looked forward to with no little pleasure by their many friends as another reception will be given in Wilder Hall immediately after the ceremony.

TO EXPLORE MOUNT M'KINLEY

American Exploration Party Will Go to Alaska.

NEW YORK, May 21.—An expedition is being sent out under the auspices of the Geographical society of Philadelphia and the Arctic club of New York to explore Mount McKinley, the highest peak in the Alaskan range, estimated to be 20,400 feet in height.

The expedition is to be in charge of Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, who accompanied Peary on two of his arctic trips and the Belgian party or their visit to the antarctic regions. From here the party will go to Seattle thence by the steamer Santa Ana to Toyonok, Cook inlet. They will take supplies for three months, using pack horses.

The party will have to travel some 400 miles cross country to Kechatna river, along that river through the Alaskan range to the Kuskowin river and by the foothills to Mount McKinley. The object is to explore the mountain and the surrounding country, getting angles to give the topography of the unexplored eastern range of the Alaskan mountains.

CUBA'S BIRTHDAY.

Celebration at Havana—Palma Reviews His Troops.

HAVANA, May 21.—Cuba's independence (the first anniversary of the establishment of the Cuban republic) was celebrated yesterday with the illumination of the fronts of the principal clubs, the sending up of rockets and the screeching of steam whistles.

In the morning business was completely suspended and the streets were thronged by thousands of people.

President Palma, accompanied by the cabinet officers and city and provincial officials, drove to the Punta at 10 o'clock, preceded by mounted police, who opened a passage through the great crowd gathered to see the president. There was not much cheering, the people mostly standing open mouthed in silent admiration of the president.

From the Malecon band stand the president reviewed the members of the police and fire departments, who marched past him, and then, accompanied by Secretary of State Zaldo, the president was driven up the Prado to the palace.

At noon the guns of Cabanas fortress announced that exactly a year had elapsed since the birth of the Cuban republic. A review of the troops by President Palma followed.

EASILY UNDERSTOOD.

Movements of the Lips as Plainly Understandable to Deaf Mutes as Spoken Words to Hearers.

"You need not think you are always telephoning in secrecy," said a teacher in the deaf mute college in this city, relates the Washington Star, "when you go in a booth and close the double doors after you, as I see people doing every day. I notice these people in their retreats in which they think their words are drowned from the outer world, talking often while they look on the people outside of the glass doors.

"Now, do you know," he continued, "that every word that is so spoken is understood by a deaf mute whenever he sees what is going on under such conditions? That is a fact. The deaf mute becomes so proficient in learning to read the language of the lips that the motion is as expressive to him as is the sound of the human voice to other people. The next time you have a secret to impart to some friend over a telephone in a public booth where people are watching you you should be careful to speak directly in the mouthpiece of the 'phone so that your secret be not given away to some who happen to understand the language of the lips."
