PASSING OVER THE VETO. for congress to pass a bill over the the president's veto, as there are generally enough administration men in congress to prevent this. But the action of congress yesterday will receive the approval of the people of this nation, for more reasons than one. In his veto message, President Cleveland states a good many principles, valuable | guage. in the abstract, but misapplied in the present instance. We can endorse his advocacy of a business-like administration and reasonable economy, but when we come to study the whole situation, the concentration of these principles in alone will appear strikingly illogical.

It is a most remarkable act of fatuity for Congress to appropriate something like a hundred million more than there will be revenue to pay for. But in locating the responsibility for that exhibition of legislative incapacity, it is mate, and produces all the grains, veg-etables and fruits of the temperate and tire entourage of the administration semi-tropical zones, according to the has been preaching, ever since last elevation cultivated. BICYCLE RIDERS. bicycle riders was considerably greater is not a patent medicine. It does not than it is now, and this for the reason that the rights of all parties to the streets have become hetter defined. Las Vegans have very little complaint to make, as the bicyclists of this town are mostly gentlemen and ladies and the people have learned this. Buyele riders have just the same rights on the streets as any one else, and no more. Any malicious or reckless interference with their proper use of the streets should be punished; any Rets on their part that imperil the public safety should be treated in the same way. Scorchers who whirl along the streets at a reckless pace should be suppressed, and the scattering instances in which riders of the wheel still occupy the sidwalks—a thing that intelligent wheelmen never do—should be made the subjects of active discipline, Among wheelmen, as a mong other users of the streets, there are those who, from ignorance or recklessures, disregard the rights or safely of others. We believe that the proportion is less among bicyclers than some other classes; but, wherever they occur, they should be stopped.

True and Timely Words. The following is taken from the National Republican, a paper of general circulation, published at Washing-paily upon two grounds, which are, that the people are in favor of free silver, and that the people, as a class, are not fitted for entire self government.

It is the first time in the history of the country that the political opinions of the people of a Territory were made the reasons for objecting to its admission as a state. It is true that the southern states objected to the admission of Kausas because it declared against slavery, and the same is true of New Mexico, which in 1850, formed a state constitution and declared against slavery, but slavery could hardly be called a political question like the division that now exists on the subject, what shall be money.'

It is an outrage on the people of New Mexico to make this a ground of refusal to them of the right of statehood. The constitution of the United States guarantees to all its inhabitants the right of untrammeled thought, and its free expression. Those who favor the country, and have no right to attempt the abridgement of the opinions of others who differ with them. does any one know what will be the course of New Mexico on this money

As to the character of the people naking them unfit for statehood, that is an absolute mistatement. Like all parsely settled countries, there is a mall element of undesirable residents. u: the city of New York contains more than a hundred times as many as

There are two normal schools supported by the Territory. There is a state university, a school of mines, an agricultural college; all public institutions. Besides these, there are seventeen higher schools or colleges in charge of private parties, besides a opposition to waterway improvement alone will appear strikingly illogical. CHINESE GORDON

The Famous Englishman's Resignation and Prophetic Message to the Khedive A correspondent writing to The Scottish American says: One chilly morning at Sucz, in the winter of 1879-80, I received a message from Colonel Gordon. He had just landed from Suakin, and wished to see me. I found him seated in a room at the old Sacz hotel, with his black secretary and trusty factorum, Mohammed El Tolamy, and a few friends, including the governor of the LIQUOR, OPIUM, NER

On my entering, Gordon exclaimed: "I have resigned the governor generalship of the Sudan and am returning to England. The khedive's ministers dared to send me instructions, and so I have resigned. Now, tell me honestly, what will the world -ay of my work in the Sudan after the years I have spent there? What is the apparent re

The table is bountifully supplied at all times with all that the season affords. Guests wishing to come, can telephone and a conveyance will be sent for them. Rates, $8.00 per week. J. Y. Lujan, Proprietor.

Certainly Gordon's work was not inan andience with the late khedive, Towfik Pasha, at which he tondered his resignation, and then, removing his fez, the badge of allegiance, addressed some words of stirring advice to his highness, "as from an independent English gentleman." Before embarking for Europe Gordon wrote a famous telegram to the khedive-"Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin"-which was shown to me and to the correspondent of a great London newspaper, but it is a question whether it was ever dispatched from Malta. In any case, it was curiously prophetic. Within two years the Sudan was in open revolt and Egypt under foreign control.
