Luck sometimes makes a name. But persistence to black and white. Will give a man peculiar fame. When put in this peculiar column.

"I'm going to hang my stockings up." Said Ida: "hear me vow."

"I'd like to see," Tom slyly said. "What you've got in it now."

"The tariff's high," the maid replied. "Only the parson can make free wool of my stockings, sir. For any living man."

Consumption Surely Cured. To THE EDITOR - Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured.

T. A. SLOCUM, M. D. 181 Pearl St., New York.

Editor Ross, of the Deming Headlight, is getting quite personal in his remarks concerning Maj. Caffrey, of the White Oaks Leader.

We do not look upon ex-Gov. Ross's allusion to us as offensively personal. He simply denominated us "an idiot." Worse epithets than that have been thrown at us without ruffling a feather in our beautiful and variegated plumage.

If, after an acquaintance of twenty years, he can think of no hard words more fitting than "idiot," we will keep up our lick and continue to spell his name with a big R.

At a meeting of veterans and G. A. R. members, held at Kicker's Hall, corner North Market street and Newstead Ave., a sufficient number signed application for a charter for a new post of the G. A. R., to be called Elwood Miller Post.

We clip the above from a late issue of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The patriot whose name it is thus proposed to perpetuate was Col. Miller, brother of our universally respected townswoman Mrs. Theo. W. Heman.

Shortly before his death he spent some weeks here in hopes of eluding the "grim destroyer," but in vain. Feeing that opposition was puny, he returned to St. Louis, there to die amongst and be buried by his kindred.

The disease which consumed him having been contracted in the service of his country it is meet that his memory should be thus enshrined by his surviving comrades.

HAVING made arrangements with Ozanne & Co., for the use of their Blacksmith Shop, I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith and repair work.

CHAIRMAN'S REASONABLE.

Mayor McPherson, before the Chamber of Commerce, at Charlott N. C., recently gave some sound sense regarding newspapers.

Hear him: "I'm a strange your home papers and help build them up, for the culture, intelligence and public sentiment of a city are often gauged by the character of the paper it supports.

Every place of importance must have the mighty aid of the press, a journal that will publish to the world its advantages, its life - its wares, its goods, its manufactures; reflect like a mirror its acts, deeds, intentions, and progress of its people.

A man in business without an advertisement in the newspaper, is like a grave without tomb-stone, book agent without a tongue. Neither one is known, neither one does much, all are passed by.
