UNTO THE END.

I know not where tomorrow's path may wind,
Nor what the future holds, but this I know,
Whichever way my feet are forced to go,
I shall be given courage to the end.
Though God that awful gift of his may send
We call long life, where heartiness in a row
Eats all of happiness, yet be it so;
I shall be given courage to the end.
If dark the deepening shadows be that bleed
With life's pale sunlight when the sun dips
low,
Though joy speeds by and sorrow's steps are slow,
I shall be given courage to the end.
I do not question what the years portend—
Or good or ill whatever wind may blow;
It is enough, enough for me to know
I shall be given courage to the end.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Youth's Companion.

A LITTLE BIT OF A DARKY.

He Told His Story Well and Received His Reward.
He was a little bit of a darky, not much bigger than a lump of coal and not much whiter, and when I called him up to do an errand for me across the street his eyes snapped as if they were electrified.
"What is your name?" I inquired.
"Tank, boss," he answered, with a how and a grin.
"That's a queer-kind of a name. Your people aren't temperance folks, are they?"
"Deed, boss, I dunno. Dey calls me Tank, but my name's Pasquotank Perquimans."
"Oh!" I laughed. "That's named enough for two kids like you. Where do you come from?"
"Ise f'm Norf' Ca'liny, boss."
"What are you doing so far from home?"
"Doin' the best I kin, boss."
"He stopped a moment to study.
"How much have you made today?"
"When I gets de 10 cents you's gwinter gib me," he said, with a shrewd little smile—I had not agreed upon a price at all—"an I gets 10 cents mo' f'm de nex' gem'man it'll make 20 cents, boss."
"Is that all? You can't live on 20 cents a day, can you?"
A shadow, if a shadow could show there, came into the little black face, and with it a hard line as of determination.
"Ise gott'er lib, boss," he said. "I can't die, for dey sin't nobody but me ter take keer ob mammy, an she's mighty po'ly mos' ob de time."
Possibly Pasquotank Perquimans was working on my sympathies, and his story may have been told many a time before, but I think not, and I know that his revenue for that day was more than 20 cents.—Washington Star.

It Was No Authority.

The New York Times relates an anecdote concerning Mr. Howells that is good enough to be true, whether it is or not. According to report, a dispute as to the words "lunch" and "luncheon" recently arose between Mr. and Mrs. Howells. Mr. Howells championed "lunch" as the proper term, while his wife defended "luncheon." At last, at Mr. Howells' suggestion, they appealed to the Century Dictionary to settle the question. "Well, I was right, after all!" he exclaimed in triumph, and he read aloud the following extract quoted as showing correct usage: "We lunched fairly upon little dishes of rose leaves delicately preserved."
"From what author is that sentence taken?" inquired Mrs. Howells.
"Why, I declare, from W. D. Howells!"
"Pshaw!" was the retort. "He's no authority!"

Curious Bird Habits.

It is a well known fact that if the young of almost any kind of bird are taken from the nest before they can fly the old ones will feed them most attentively if the cage in which the little birds are inclosed is placed somewhere where the parents can reach it, and a popular but erroneous belief is current that they do this for a time, and end by poisoning the young ones.
This, however, is a mistake, the fact being that at a certain stage of a young bird's existence, when it is naturally able to begin catering for itself, the parent birds, also quite naturally, cease to attend it, and then, if the birdlings are shut up in the cage and their custodian has not thought of placing some food at their disposal they necessarily die, not from poison administered by the parents, but from starvation.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Producing a Good Impression.

"I suppose," said the editor as he spread the manuscript out on the desk in front of him, "that you call this poetry."
"Not at all," answered the young man who had submitted it. "I designate it merely as versification."
When the editor had recovered from his astonishment, he made haste to say: "You may leave it. I have no doubt I shall find considerable merit in it."

It Never Disappoints.

People who are troubled with any disease caused or promoted by impure blood or a low state of the system may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that its faithful use will effect a cure. Millions take it as a spring medicine, because they know by experience it is just what the system needs.

The best donkeys come from Arabia. They have clean, smooth coats, hold their heads high and are used only for riding purposes. Many are sent to Persia, where they sell for high sums. They are well looked after and their harnessings are of the richest.

Herr Dusch, a German traveler who explored the west coast of Patagonia, says that mosen of all species are developed there to an extraordinary degree. They grow in immense heaps, the explorer sinking to his armpits in some of them.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at all druggists. Regular size 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

An interesting incident of the present state of the copper market is the receipt at New York this week of a lot of 9,989 bags—about 250 tons—of copper coins from India. These coins, which are consigned to the Orford Copper Company, are shipped here as scrap copper, simply because they are worth more, at the present price of copper, than their face or coin value. We have recently referred to the trouble arising in China from the relative high metal value of copper coins, and the same condition seems to be felt in India. It will doubtless continue and we may expect to hear of more imports of the same kind.—Engineering & Mining Journal.

Caning Rabbits in Australia.

Caning rabbits in Australia is an established industry, having grown to immense proportions in the past few years. Paris is a great market and so is Great Britain. The former consumes 10,000,000 rabbits per year and the latter 70,000,000. There is no edible animal that will multiply as rapidly as rabbits, and if the world had to depend on them for meat supply it would not suffer from famine. The rabbit nuisance is about the greatest trouble next to the drought that Australian stockmen have to contend with and if the rabbit meat became popular Australians would have a bonanza.—Denver Stockman.

Delinquent Taxpayers are Numerous.

In all the counties. In San Miguel county a recent investigation showed about $200,000 delinquent. In this county the sum delinquent is probably larger than in San Miguel county. The operation of the Duncan revenue law will force the payment of taxes in all the counties of the territory, and within a few years they can be out of debt, with all county improvements paid for. The tax collections the past quarter were the largest in the history of the territory.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The Carlsbad Argus is a Little Hard on the School Mams.

It says: "It has always been supposed that valuable in a woman's stocking were more secure than in a bank; but this fallacy has been exploded, as one of the light fingered gentry went through the stockings of Miss M. R. Ludlow, a St. Louis school teacher en route to the educational meeting in Los Angeles, and abstracted $400 and a diamond ring. The stockings were on duty, and the reports have it that they were a tight fit too."

That Throbbing Headache.

cattle are getting scarcer all over the county than is reported. Prices have been raised in eastern markets for nearly a week. But a few cars of feeders are being shipped into the valley and in the last four days about twenty-five cars have been shipped to various points.—Tucson Citizen.

William Cook, engineer of the pump at the Bennett-Stephenson mine in the Organ mountains, Dona Ana county, dropped a pebble down an old shaft to see how deep it was. Instead of hearing the pebble drop he heard a sonorous bellow. When he came back to Organ he told of his strange experience. Three days afterwards Jefferson Isaacs, accompanied by all the miners at Organ, dragged a big derrick to the abandoned shaft, and Isaacs went down a 100-foot incline to interview the ghost or beast, that still bellowed at intervals. To his astonishment he found at the bottom of the shaft a valuable Hereford bull belonging to himself. With some difficulty the bull was lifted out of the shaft uninjured.—New Mexican.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Alken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.
