Quickly Cures Coughs, Colds and Catarrh

If you, dear reader, could spend an hour looking over a few of the thousands of testimonials that we have on file, you would not go on suffering from catarrh, that disgusting disease that will surely sap your vitality and weaken your entire system if allowed to continue.

You would have just as much faith in HYOMEI as we have, and we have so much confidence in its wonderful curative virtue that it is sold the country over under a positive guarantee to cure catarrh, croup, sore throat, coughs and colds or money back.

No stomach dosing when you breathe HYOMEI. Just pour a few drops of the liquid into the inhaler and breathe it in.

It is mighty pleasant to use; it opens up those stuffed-up nostrils in two minutes, and makes your head feel as clear as a bell in a short time. Breathe HYOMEI and kill the catarrh germs. It's the only way to cure catarrh. It's the only way to get rid of that constant hawking, snuffing and spitting.

A complete HYOMEI outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEI and a nebulizer rubber pocket inhaler, costs $1.00 at druggists everywhere or at E. G. Murphy's. If you already own a Hyomei inhaler you can get an extra bottle of HYOMEI for 50 cents.

THROWN FROM BUGGY BY RUNAWAY TEAM

MRS. JAMES ROSS BADLY INJURED WHILE DRIVING TO SILVER CITY

Silver City, N. M., March 17.—Mrs. James M. Ross, who resides on Whiskey Creek about four miles east of this city, was painfully injured in a runaway accident last Sunday afternoon. In company with a man named Mendoza, who was driving for her, she was on her way to this city to see her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kelly. While yet about two miles out of town they met a motorcycle coming from the opposite direction, whereupon the team became frightened and ran away, throwing out both occupants of the vehicle. In falling, Mrs. Ross struck her head against a rock, sustaining quite a gash above the eyes as well as scalp wound. As the team did not run far, Mr. Mendoza soon got it back to the scene of the accident when Mrs. Ross again got into the buggy and resumed her journey. They had not gone far, however, before they encountered a rapidly moving automobile. Again the team became frightened, but the occupants of the vehicle jumped out before it became unmanageable. Hardly had their feet struck the ground when the animals started off at a terrific pace, smashing things up generally.

Mrs. Ross was brought to her daughter's home in this city, where Dr. S. A. Milliken attended her injuries. At latest reports she was resting easy, and it is not thought that her wounds will prove as serious as at first anticipated.

Warning to Railroad Men

Lookout for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroad riding. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroad riding left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Co.

ROADS EAST AND WEST TO ECONOMIZE

BELIEVED THEY WILL ORDER CURTAILMENTS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

For the time being the financial outlook contains many elements of uncertainty. Both the eastern and western roads have decided to abide by the commissioner's recommendations and to withdraw all advanced rate schedules which are subject to the commission's ruling, says the Railway World. Under the circumstances it may be expected that a policy of the most rigid economy will be adopted, and this is apparently the view which is being taken at present by leading railroad men and bankers. What effect this will have upon the steel industry and upon the railways supply business is difficult to predict, but business activities may be expected to be governed by unusual conservatism for some time to come.

While a number of roads assert that the improvements already planned for will be carried out, there are many indications that retrenchment has already set in and this may eventually lead to a considerable reduction in the employment of labor. The forthcoming extra session of congress, in which the democrats will be more fully in control, ejects additional uncertainty into the situation and financial interests may not be expected to feel greatly reassured until this session is out of the way and until the supreme court has rendered its decision in the important trust cases now pending.

There is no doubt that the uncompromising attitude of the interstate commerce commission has cast a reverse gloom over the entire railway industry which it is hoped may be somewhat dispelled by future developments. At the present, however, railroad officials have never been in a more cautious or conservative mood and in general, little in the way of expenditures may be expected from them except those which are absolutely necessary to keep their properties maintained at their present standard. As for improvements and new construction work, it is generally felt that under existing conditions comparatively little immediate work along these lines will be attempted.

HONOR PATRON SAINT

New York, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated in the metropolis today more generally than usual. The Irish flag was much in evidence, special services were held in the Catholic churches and a big parade of Irish societies marched through the principal downtown streets and was reviewed by Mayor Gaynor, Archbishop Farley and other notables.

ITALY TO CELEBRATE UNITING OF KINGDOM

FIFTY YEARS AGO NEW REIGN, MARKING PROSPERITY, CAME INTO BEING

Rome, March 17.—The Kingdom of Italy looked backward half a century today and bowed low to the statesmen and soldiers whose patriotic efforts brought about the Turin declaration of March 17, 1861, when united Italy came into being and Victor Emmanuel was designated as the ruler of the new kingdom. It is the semi-centennial anniversary of this event that Italy is preparing to celebrate this summer on a grand scale. Beginning in the early summer and continuing until the late autumn there are to be an almost constant succession of fetes and patriotic demonstrations from Sicily to the Alps. The features of international interest will be the great expositions in Rome and Turin.

The movement which led to the unification of Italy had its beginning about the middle of the last century. At that time Victor Emmanuel II, a most liberal and statesmanlike monarch, occupied the throne of Sardinia. His great minister, Count Cavour, was an ardent believer in Italian unification. Inspired by Garibaldi, Mazzi, Cavour and other eminent and able patriots of the time, Victor Emmanuel joined France in a successful war with Austria for the liberation of northern Italy, and then began to extend the kingdom of Sardinia.

Fifty years ago today came the declaration of Turin, when Victor Emmanuel assumed the title of king of Italy. During the ensuing ten years province after province united with the new kingdom of Italy, and finally in 1870, after a sharp struggle with the Pope, supported by France, Victor Emmanuel annexed the papal states, entered Rome in triumph and from his new capital began to rule a united Italy.

ABSORBLETS

The courtroom was crowded. A wife was seeking divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty and abusive treatment. Guns, axes, rolling pins and stinging invectives, seemed to have played a prominent part in the plaintiff's married life.

The husband was on the stand undergoing a grueling cross-examination.

The examining attorney said: "You have testified that your wife on one occasion threw cayenne pepper in your face. Now, sir, kindly tell us what you did on that occasion."

The witness hesitated and looked confused. Every one expected that he was about to confess to some shocking act of cruelty. But their hopes were shattered when he finally blurted out:

"I sneezed!" ... —Everybody's

An archdeacon engaged as a new footman a well recommended youth who had served as stable boy. The first duty which the youth was called upon to perform was to accompany the archdeacon on a series of formal calls.

"Bring the cards, Thomas, and leave one at each house, ordered his master.

After two hours of visiting from house to house the archdeacon's list was exhausted. "This is the last house, Thomas," he said; "leave two cards here."

"Beggin' your pardon, sir," was the deferential reply. "I can't; I've only the ace of spades left."—Ideas.

A fond mother wanted to reward her two children for good conduct, and she presented to Johnnie, 8 years old, two pieces of cake, telling him to divide with his little sister, Nan, 6 years.

One of the portions of the delicacy was slightly larger than the other, and the little boy greedily took the biggest piece for himself.

"If I had had first choice," said Nan, "I would have taken the smaller piece."

"Well, what are you kicking about," replied Johnnie. "You got it, didn't you?"—Exchange.

CATARRH A SYSTEMIC BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is not merely an affection of the mucous membranes; it is a deep-seated blood disease in which the entire circulation and greater part of the system are involved. It is more commonly manifested in the head, nose and throat, because of the sensitive nature of these membranes, and also because they are more easily reached by irritating influences from the outside. The symptoms of Catarrh, such as a tight feeling in the head, nose stopped up, throat clogged and dry, hacking cough, etc., show that the tiny blood vessels of the mucous membranes are badly congested and inflamed from the impurities in the circulation. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be purified and the system cleansed of all unhealthy matter. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure by PURIFYING the blood. Then the inflamed membrane begins to heal, the head is cleared, breathing becomes natural and easy, the throat is no longer clogged, and every unpleasant symptom of the disease disappears. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and for this reason is the most certain cure for Catarrh. Book on Catarrh and medical advice free to all who write.
