GUITEAU'S CASE.

Washington, October 12.—Scoville, the brother-in-law and counsel of Guiteau, was in Court this morning and said he had no notice of information as to when the arraignment of Guiteau was to take place, and that he had not yet received any answer from General Butler as to whether he would act as counsel for the defendant; that a statement was already published as to Merrick's expressing unwillingness to argue the question of jurisdiction if raised is correct, that he has been advised by distinguished lawyers all over the country, including several judges, to raise every question and make every point that can be properly made on behalf of his client; that much is also expressed in the instructions of Guiteau and that he, Scoville, has no apprehensions of personal violence being offered to the prisoner on his way to or from the Court. He stated that the District Judges also expressed a desire that all legitimate and proper questions be put.

THE SOLONS.

In the executive session of the Senate no business was transacted other than to lay nominations received from the President upon the table to await reference to the Appropriation Committee, when organized. Both Democrats and Republicans met in caucus this afternoon. The Democrats discussed the Committee question and without agreeing on any definite plan of apportionment merely decided to oppose the adoption of Edmund's resolution. The Republicans remained in session but a short time, discussing the general situation, and took no decided action on any particular question.

LET ONLY TEN STAND.

The Democrat caucus, this evening, authorized Senator Garland to amend Senator Edmund's resolution so as to create a list of not more than ten Committee's or such as may be deemed necessary by presidential communications to stand for this session only and thus save the expense and relieve public business now suffering.

BEN BUTLER WON'T HELP GUITEAU.

General Butler telegraphs from Boston that imperative legal engagements preclude the possibility of his accepting the proposal of Scoville to defend Guiteau.

NOMINATIONS.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate: Wm. W. Dudley, Indiana, Commissioner of Pensions; Otis P. Clark, Rhode Island, First Deputy Commissioner of Pensions; C. B. Walker, Deputy Commissioner of Pensions; H. C. McFarland, Kansas, Commissioner of General Land Office; Chas. H. Howard, Illinois, Indian Inspector; Addison Brown, New York, United States District Judge for the Southern District of New York; Geo. M. Duskin, Alabama, Attorney of the United States for the Southern District of Alabama; Robert S. Foster, Indiana, United States Marshal for the District of Indiana; A. C. Phillips, Arkansas, Receiver of Public Moneys, Harrison, Arkansas; George H. Spencer, Minnesota, Indian Agent at Crow Creek Agency, Dakota; August Brosius, Pennsylvania, Indian Agent at Great Nemathia Agency, Nebraska.

VACANCIES ON SENATE COMMITTEES.

Should Edmund's resolution be adopted Bayard will have power to fill vacancies on Committees of last session occasioned by the death of Burnside and the resignation of Conkling and Platt. Several important Committees would thus be made Democratic. Burnside was chairman and Conkling members of the Foreign Relations Committee; Platt, Finance; Burnside, Military; Conkling, Judiciary; Platt, Post Office; Burnside, Education; Conkling, Engrossed Bills. Bayard might assign new Senators only to the three interior Committees and make the other three important ones Democratic.

REPUBLICANS NOT IN FAVOR OF ELECTING DAVIS.

Talk in the Republican caucus and by Republican Senators outside of the caucus is not generally favorable to the proposition to elect Davis, of Illinois, President of the Senate and thus displace Bayard. Republicans appreciate the fact that they would be compelled to elect Senator Davis without any pledge from him as to how he would vote on party questions, and prominent Republican Senators say he would as likely vote with the Democrats as the Republicans on such questions. A Republican Senator said this morning that he preferred Bayard to Senator Davis, because he knew just what to expect from Bayard, and that if President Arthur should die, Bayard would naturally employ all the powers of that officer while acting President to elect a Democratic President of the United States, and this would unite the Republican party, but Senator Davis would probably adopt a middle or independent course which might not help the Republican party.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTH CALL.

Up to noon there has been about $350,000 three-and-a-half per cent. bonds received for redemption embodied in the 105th call. Should there be more than five million dollars in bonds offered it is quite probable redemption will be made pro rata.

This Senator said the Republicans had no authoritative information whether Davis would accept a nomination or not, and that should they nominate him he would vote against himself and thus defeat the movement. It would be embarrassing if he expressed himself for letting Bayard alone until the Republicans can elect one of their number.

Bayard said that if the Republicans nominate Davis, he will move to elect him and thus put him under as much obligation to Davis for his position as to the Republicans. Davis has informed the Senators in friendly conversation most positively that he would not consent to the use of his name, and that he will vote against any proposition to change the presiding officer. It is more than probable that no effort will be made at this session to displace Bayard. The Republican Senators are desirous of an early adjournment, and will not be likely to consume time in fighting over the presiding officer, unless they have a show of electing a Republican.

NO SECRETARY THIS SESSION.

Neither party has positively decided anything about the election of Secretary and regular committees. Indications are that only such as are necessary will be created.

EDMUND'S RESOLUTION.

It is thought the Republicans will all support Edmund's resolution, and should Davis vote for it it will be adopted.

FOXHALL AND IROQUOIS.

New York, October 12.—The Herald says: If Keene and Lorillard imagine that the American people will ever be satisfied until Iroquois and Foxhall meet in a race they are the most mistaken couple on this terrestrial ball. Keene was asked yesterday if he would run Foxhall again this season in England and he replied:

"I have not yet made up my mind in the coming Cambridge race which is only about half the distance of the Czarowitch. His weight is 112 pounds, but as he has incurred a penalty by victory to-day of fourteen pounds rising the imports, he will have to carry 128 pounds. I am at present dubious as to the advisability of starting him. No three-year-old has ever won the Cambridge with anything approaching the weight Foxhall has to carry."

Keene was asked if he would be afraid to put Foxhall against Iroquois or not. "I should not be afraid as to the result if they met at equal weight over any distance."

Republican Victory in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—The feature of the election was that the Democrats gained in Republican counties, and vice versa. This is attributed to the fact that in several Republican counties, temperate and temperate people, very strong Republicans scratched Foster on account of the failure of the legislature last winter to give additional liquor legislation. The Legislature attempted to give this legislation, but could not agree on account of the variety of plans offered. Foster's gain in Democratic counties, offsetting his loss in Republican counties, is attributed to Bookwalter's brief connection with the Democratic party. The Democrats polled a full vote in these counties, and there was a stronger poll of Republicans there than in reliable Republican counties. It is denied in political circles that this has been Foster's mainstay. Returns official from sixty precincts of Hamilton county, with forty-five precincts to hear from, show that nine out of ten Republicans were elected to the House, and two Republicans out of three elected to the Senate.

Republican Victory in Iowa.

Chicago, October 12.—A Des Moines dispatch says Sherwin has 50,000 majority. A Republican is elected in Webster county for the first time in twelve years. A Republican Senator was elected in Dubuque and a Senator and representative are secured to the Republican ticket in Lee county. The entire Republican ticket was elected in Polk county and the Republican majority in the Legislature will be ninety.

Distillers and Spirit Dealers.

Chicago, October 12.—The National Distillers and Spirit Dealers Association met this morning. In the absence of the President, H. H. Shufeldt, of Cincinnati, W. H. B. Miller, of Springfield, was chosen temporary Chairman. Mayor Harrison made a speech of welcome. The annual address of the President and the Treasurer's report were read and the Association adjourned until the afternoon.

The Country in Peril.

New York, Oct. 12.—The Times and Tribune favor the suggestion to elect Davis President of the Senate. The Tribune says if it is true, as Judge Davis will not deny, that the present situation places the peace of the country in peril by having any reckless and desperate man to change the administration through the use of the pistol. It is the duty of the Senate to end that state of things.

Trans-Oceanic Cablegrams.

WENT DOWN WITH ALL ON BOARD.

London, October 12.—In a heavy gale at the mouth of the Mersey, this morning, a schooner, name unknown, foundered with all on board.

The Bank Was Solvent.

San Francisco, October 12.—The small run on the German Savings Bank owing to statements made by William Hollis that it was insolvent. The President of the Real Estate Association says that the bank was not secured on his indebtedness to it. The officers of the bank deny Hollis's statement and make light of the run which they say was confined to small depositors. The Bank Commissioners reported favorably on the bank two weeks ago.

A Sale of a Coat.

"Herman," said a Poydras street merchant clothier, addressing his clerk, "that we sold all of those overcoats you left over from last winter?"

"No sir, dere vas tree of dem left yet."

"Vell, ve must sell 'em right away, as de winter will not last, you know, Herman. Pring me out one of the goats and I will show you somedings about the piness. I will dell you how ve will sell dem out, and you must learn de piness, Herman; de winter vas gone, you know, and ve have had dose goats in de store more es seex years."

An $8 overcoat was handed him by his clerk, and smoothing it over he took a buckskin money-purse from the show case, and stuffing it full of paper, dropped it into one of the pockets.

"Now, Herman my boy," he continued, "watch me sell dat goat. I haf sold over forty life of dem shust de same way, and I vant to deech you de piness. Ven de next gustomer comes in de shop I will show de vay Rube Hoffenstein, mine broder in Detroit sells his clothing und udder dings."

A few minutes later a negro, in quest of a suitable pair of shoes, entered the store. The proprietor advanced smiling, and said:

"Vat is it you vish?"

"Yer got any cheap shoes hyar?" asked the negro.

"Blenty of dem, my fren, blenty; at any brice you vant."

The negro stated that he wanted a pair of brogans, and soon his pedal extremities were encased in them, and a bargain struck. As he was about to leave the proprietor called him back.

"I ain't gwine ter buy nuffin else. I se get all I want," said the negro sullenly.

"Dot may be so, my dear sir," replied the proprietor, "but I shust vant you to look at dis goat. It vas de pure Russian coat, and dis dime last year you doan got dot same goat for twenty-five dollars. Mine gracious, clothing vas gone down to noddin, and dere vas no money in de piness any longer. You vant someding dot will keep you from de vedder und make you feel varm as summer dime. De consumption vas going round und de doctors dell me it vas de vedder. More dan nine heopled died round vere I lif last week. Dink of dot. Mine fren, dat goat vas Russian wool, dick und heavy. Vy, Mr. Jones, whoovs de pank on Canal street, took dot goat home mit him yesterday und vore it all day, but it vas a leedle digit agross de shoulders, und he brought it pack shust a vile ago. Dry it on, my dear sir. Ah! dot vas all right. Misdier Jones vas a rich man und he liked dot goat. How deep de pockets vas, but it vas a leedle digit agross de shoulders."

The negro buttoned up the coat, thrust his hands in his pockets and felt the purse. A peaceful smile played over his face as he touched the contents of his pockets, but he choked down his joy and inquired:

"Who did you say vore this hyar coat?"

"Vy Misdier Jones vot owns de pank on Canal street."

"Vat yer gwine ter ask fur it?"

"Dwenty dollars."

Threatened Retaliation.

The following epistle, sent from Durango to Mayor Snowden, of Silverton, explains itself:

"DURANGO, COLO., Sept. 28, 1881. Gentlemen: We have just learned that Dyon Eskridge is expected to arrive in Silverton in a short time, and probably by the time this reaches you, therefore we take this opportunity of calling to your attention the solemn fact that should he be lynched at the hands of the Silverton vigilantes, then summary vengeance will be meted out to any and all of you in the near future. That you hung the Kid, who was innocent of any crime, is well known to us. That it is necessary for you to travel in and out of your town on business, and if you believe you are safe on such trips after you shall have lynched another innocent man in the person of Dyon Eskridge, you are mistaken. We are determined and have a fixed purpose to perform our work, therefore take timely warning. We do not uphold crime, but want the law to take its course."

"TWENTY-TWO OF US."

"While we do not approve of the lynching of men, neither do we endorse assassination. The lack of competent and honest officials makes strangling a necessity at times. When officers associate and sympathize with criminals, a community will naturally seek redress. Give us upright officers of the law, and there will be no need of vigilance committees. Put bad men into official positions and the disease thereby generated on the body politic will require caustic measures."—Durango Southwest.

The help already given to the Michigan sufferers, together with the promise of more, has saved many a farm to its owner. Immediately after the fire, speculators hurried into the burned-over district with each, expecting to be able to buy the land at trifling prices; but the farmers, encouraged by the prompt assistance, have declined to sell.

The Walking Match.

The walking match last night was decidedly interesting, and was witnessed during the evening by a large number of ladies and gentlemen. Fowler has grit, and although his feet were blistered all over the bottom, he made a splendid record for an amateur. Madame DuPree walked with her usual firmness and elasticity. Frank DuPree came on the floor at 9 o'clock, and gave a fine exhibition of fast walking, making a mile and nine laps in 11 minutes. Fowler did some good spurring in the meantime, showing that he was as wiry as ever barring his feet. Between 8 and 9 in the evening is a good hour to see fine walking. At 9 o'clock last night Madame DuPree had walked 257 miles, and Fowler 137. Edwards, the first man walker, had made 72 miles, leaving the Madame 48 miles ahead. The rests taken during the day were from midnight to 2:30 a. m.; breakfast 7 to 8; 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.; dinner 1 to 2 p. m.; supper 6 to 7. Fowler's time expired at midnight, and Billy Foster took his place.

Fowler finished his forty-eight hours walk last night at 12 o'clock with a record of 150 miles.

Notes From Carbonateville.

CARBONATEVILLE, N. M., October 11, 1881.—EDITOR GAZETTE: This camp is improving wonderfully in regard to its mineral resources. Good, rich mineral is being taken out every day from our mines. The mines at this place are looking better every day. A great deal of work is going on here at present. Money is being invested here heavily. A number of the mines are making arrangements for machinery.

The Bottom Dollar is producing some very fine mineral at present. The Great Western is having a road built to the smelter at Bonanza City to ship ore to the same. Work will begin in earnest as soon as the road is built. The Bonanza No. 3 mine is down to a depth of 275 feet and no water has been found as yet. The vein at this depth is quite large, carrying galena and copper ore. They have quite a large amount of ore on the dump. No doubt this company will erect smelting works. The machinery for the mine will be here soon.

The L. H. Whitson Company, of Iowa, are going to work the Rue Alenia mine (old Spanish.) The machinery at the station will be put on this mine. Several shafts are on this claim and show mineral in large quantities, one shaft being 120 feet deep with several drifts. Considerable ore has been taken from this claim and from what I have learned about it the ore paid the former owners. The Pretty Betsy mine is working a full force of men. Some very rich mineral is being taken from this mine. The Aztec mine is now working. It will sink to water. This is a valuable piece of property, carrying fine galena and horn silver. Forty thousand dollars has already been refused for it. The Marshalltown, Iowa, Company will let this week contracts on seven of their claims. Work is plentiful and wages good. Every one seems to be busy. A great deal of assessment work is going on. Hoping to write to you soon again, I am yours, &c. XXX.
