

A Drive Down the Pecos.

A week ago a GAZETTE reporter started on a tour down the Pecos river and through the northern portion of Lincoln. The morning was clear and a light Indian summer smoke veiled the summits of the mountains with that peculiarly romantic appearance common to this season of the year.

The groves and orchards along the Pecos, just before reaching Anton Chico are beautiful in the extreme, and one of the best views of Hermit's peak anywhere to be had can be obtained from this point.

From Anton Chico to Puerto de Luna there is but little to be described as there are but few settlements. The valley of the Pecos between these two points is not very wide as the river has cut a deep channel in its rapid descent from the mountains.

Puerto de Luna is beautifully situated in a beautiful place, surrounded by hills and as the name indicates, the valley at this point is shaped like a half moon. From this point the stage roads cut across a rough rolling prairie intersected by the "Jose de Dios," Canon Colorado and the Alamo Gordo creeks.

John Gerhardt keeps the next station and a finer garden than was grown by Mr. Gerhardt during the past summer cannot be found anywhere. Almost every imaginable vegetable can be found growing in the garden, which is watered by a large spring which flows out of the hills above the station and runs quietly over a gently sloping little valley.

From Watrous. Watrous, N. M., Oct. 23, 1880. EDITOR GAZETTE: Col. William McMullen died here this morning at 6 o'clock.

You are hereby invited to be present at the Odd Fellows' Hall on Oct. 27th, at 2 o'clock p. m. sharp, to assist at the celebration of the first anniversary of Las Vegas Lodge No. 4.

Cor. E. Goldsmith, one of the old time boys of New Mexico, returned yesterday from Missouri where he has been sojourning for the last year. He thinks after all that he likes New Mexico best.

wide, and richer farming lands cannot be found anywhere. The climate is warm and the seasons long, hence almost all kinds of the cereals can be produced. Gamma grass, in this fertile valley, grew to the height of three feet and as thick as the domestic grasses commonly grown in the states.

Retributive Justice.

The New Mexican published several months ago an account of the killing of a prospector in Conejos county Colorado, by two Mexicans, named respectively Gallegos and Valdez, and also mentioned the capture of the two men in Albuquerque, and their subsequent removal to Conejos by Sheriff Carrill.

Arrested.

Yesterday Fred Weston, the buckboard driver in the late mail robbery near Fort Sumner, and Mrs. Devlance the passenger, were arrested by Mr. Morley, the U. S. detective and chief of police Becker.

DIRECTORS' MEETING.

The directors of the new hotel met yesterday evening. Present: Chas. Blanchard, J. Rosenwald, Chas. H. Feld, Benigno Romero and Andres Dold. Mr. Blanchard was authorized to procure the necessary seal for the company.

From Watrous.

Watrous, N. M., Oct. 23, 1880. EDITOR GAZETTE: Col. William McMullen died here this morning at 6 o'clock. He had not been well since he came from Olgun Hill.

Yours truly, S. H. WELLS.
