Conkling and Madden.
New York, June 24.—The Times' Albany special says: An exciting scene occurred in the Delavan House to-night. Senator Madden met Conkling in the upper halls and extended his hand, which Conkling refused to accept. A bitter war of words followed. Madden answered in severe terms the sarcastic language of Conkling. The trouble arose because of certain strictures by Madden upon Conkling for resigning, which had been published. After some angry by-plays Conkling, who was thumping the floor with his cane and stroking his gray beard with his free hand, eyed Madden keenly and then attempted to reproach him for his criticisms, and particularly for having said he (Conkling) was here buttonholing members and soliciting their votes. Senator Madden blurted out in no polite as some men, and perhaps spoke bluntly. "I go cross lots instead of going round. You don't suppose I meant you were twisting buttons off men's coats, do you?" The ex-Senator listened, Platt wilted, and Madden, hold as a lion, did not wait to be invited, but kept on. "You know what words mean. You came back here seeking vindication. To say you were buttonholing men here may not have been true, but you are here seeking vindication. I spoke of you in public as a man clear through. If you think I spoke of you offensively, it is a great mistake."

Star Route Racket.
New York, June 24.—Counsel Cook said: If General Brady was acquitted none would rejoice more than I. Indeed, I may go further, if any should rejoice more than I it would be the present United States Attorney-General and Postmaster-General. They desire to vindicate by regular administration of justice and to protect its interest and maintain in the brightest and most exalted purpose. They do not desire the accusation of any one. So earnestly do they desire it that they do not even wish their presentation to the grand jury until all facts are impartially presented. The court said it would be wrong to instruct the grand jury in regard to Brady's alleged complicity in the frauds when the government is prepared to produce its proofs before the grand jury. These newspaper reports complained of are, of course, a very great evil and if Gen. Brady has been wrongfully accused great wrong has been done him, and he has a remedy in the courts, but I do not think it is right to force the United States into an investigation prematurely when the government is not prepared, and still more premature in the trial of the party who is accused by the public of this evil. Therefore I do not see proper to give the grand jury any more definite charge than I have already given them.

Indian Matters.
St. Louis, June 24.—The Republican's Little Rock special says: Advice from the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indian Nations indicate that affairs there have reached a crisis. The cavalry at Ft. Sill has been ordered to report to United States Agent Bull, at Muskogee, on the 24th to act with the Choctaw militia under Governor Overton in driving white intruders and their stock from the nation. Persons not Indians or intermarried with Indians are classed as intruders under the law. The Indian militia are in camp near Scullyville, thirty strong, and will join United States troops. The greatest terror and distress exists. More than three hundred families are said to have crossed the border in the past ten days, having abandoned their cabins to flames, their crops to destruction, and their stock on the range. Some whites refuse to leave claiming they hold a genuine permit and will protect themselves if force is used to eject them. Several Texas stock men who have large herds of cattle in the nation have compromised with Governor Overton by paying him $1,500 for grazing their stock until July 15th. An appeal has been sent to the Secretary of the Interior to reaffirm the decision of the department made four years ago allowing persons with permits to remain in the nation without becoming members or citizens of any nation.

Mail Matters.
Washington, June 24.—The Superintendent of Foreign Mails gives notice that on and after July 1st next the correspondence for the United States of Columbia which has declared its adherence to the Paris convention of the Universal Postal Union will be subject to the postal charges and treatment applicable to correspondence exchanged by mail with other postal union countries. Mails for the United States of Columbia are made up, and dispatched from the New York and San Francisco postoffices and correspondence for Columbia posted at other United States postoffices should be forwarded either to New York or San Francisco as may be most expedient.

Garfield-Grant Matters.
New York, June 24.—The Tribune's Long Branch special says: President Garfield was heartily received here and any one supposes that this is a focus of political news is greatly mistaken. The newspapers have been trying to make it so appear but their few facts have been diluted with a vast quantity of imagination and invention. The President don't talk politics or see people who come to make him talk. He receives very few callers and the news of his disposition to shut himself up to rest with his family keeps visitors away. He does not even get earlier information of ballots at Albany than he finds in evening papers. He seems to delight in the opportunity, the first in years, to smoke, drive, walk and chat with his family and a few friends. In a word, to be his own master for a few days. His health is good and long anxiety about his wife removed.

O'Donovan Interviewed.
New York, June 24.—The Tribune had an interview with O'Donovan in which he said:
We are carrying on this movement in England not as American citizens but as Irishmen. I have a document on which is a seal bigger than your head which debars me from living in the United Kingdom of Great Britain. Do you suppose that anything will deter me as an exile from doing all I can to secure for Ireland her rights. England cannot be moved by argument or entreaty. What then must be done? We are not strong enough for open war so we must strike her unawares until she realizes that is her interest to be just. You know how I have had little faith in the Land League movement. It is not now any greater than it was, in fact it is less. Within a week there has been a union of physical foreign organizations with a view of making the movement more aggressive than it has been before. From this on they will be more active than they have been hitherto and it will be seen that instead of being intimidated by British bluster we are encouraged to greater exertions. Recently we have received valuable assistance from prominent Irishmen in this country who have not heretofore helped as they have lost faith in Ireland's relief being accomplished by peaceful means.

After Murderers.
Denver, June 24.—The Durango Record, of June 23d, says General Hefferman, who is after the murderers of Maj. Thurman and Smith, on May 1st, went to the scene of the difficulty with troops, as a guide just returned says an Indian war is on hand. After the above murder two companies of troops went to Mancas and found all the cattle men organizing to drive out the Pah Utes. The troops left on the 4th, supposing the cattle men were going to round up cattle.

The Tribune on French.
New York, June 24.—The Tribune in speaking of Auditor French says: Nothing is said officially as yet about the results of his visit to the Pacific coast, but while in San Francisco he saw fit to make a report to the President of the Central Pacific Railroad in which he gave assurance that he should do so at an early day to communicate with the Attorney General of the United States with a view to discontinue the proceedings instituted against their company in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York. This was a very extraordinary proceeding and it is reported that the government is by no means satisfied with French's course at what ever his conclusions might be and whatever occasion he may have found for changing his investigation to the government at first and refrained from giving assurances to a corporation against which the government had occasion to bring suit for the enforcement of its rights.
