SOCIETY

Voice and Beauty Culture.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead" who does not worship at the shrine of beauty? Lives there a woman who would not be enshrined on the altar of man's devotion—not as a sacrifice—but as an inspirational goddess of beauty? "Ni une esta viviendo en esta mundo."

The misconception of true beauty and senseless flattery of the adorers (?) who write odes on the exquisite arch of feminine eyebrows, and go into ecstatic raptures over the bloom in milady's cheek are conducive to the development of the dangerously popular fads of beauty doctoring that too often result in beauty death—and sometimes in the actual death of beautiful women.

Would you, sweet maid and gentle matron, acquire a beauty and charm that is fadeless and is ever an "open sesame" to all hearts? Then cultivate without the aid of specialists the chest tones, heart tones, mild tones of the human voice—the pervading, persuading, consoling, controlling immortal beauty of the voice. All the flowers (or weeds) that grow in the garden of the heart are reflected as on a mirror in the music room of "the house we live in" and reproduced in every tone—attracting or repelling associates. The power of the voice to inspire love and confidence is illimitable, and to one whose ear is attuned to its tones the falsity of character is quickly detected by the voice of one who assumes all the attributes of sincerity and worth. Even telephonic messages of strangers warm the heart or freeze the advances of a speaker by the sounds emanating from the "organ stops" of the voice. A society editor of a metropolitan daily recently requested the photograph of a society lady whom she had never seen, whom she wished to feature in a column of beauties. The lady in question was superlatively beautiful. "I knew it," said the editor, "because I had talked with her over the telephone and her voice is exquisitely sweet."

Certainly the eternally feminine, the intangible quality of womanliness, is indelibly stamped on woman's tones, and when it is colored by the appealing, "clinging vine" quality of character is absolutely irresistible by the sterner sex. How often do the famed beauties become unloved, and see their courtiers kneeling at the shrine of a sweet-voiced "ugly duckling?" If you have been luckless, girls, in winning the adoration of contemporary knights, cultivate "the low, sweet voice that is an excellent thing in woman," and the laurels of victory will be yours. If strategy is necessary, take him out boating in a canoe just built for two some moonlight night, and, like Othello, win his heart through his ear by story telling—that is, the relation of anecdotes, not fibs—and the sternest son of Adam will be unable to resist the charm of tone and moonlight combined.

The London Standard likens the human voice to an organ containing complicated stops and "short stops," used on various occasions suited to their uses. Men uses the "glycerine stop," says the writer, "when he is trying to sell a horse he doesn't want to part with." Another stop is the "sucking dove" stop that a man turns on to greet his wife, who has been sitting up till the wee sma' hours for his return. As he ambles along the passage warbling a hymn his tones would give the impression that he had just parted from the company of a band of seraphim. There is also the 'mad bull stop,' used by men when the last button is off, or the meat underdone."

"A feminine stop that is peculiarly beautiful is the 'Minnehaha' or laughing water' stop. When a lady plays upon this stop the hearer at once imagines himself under a green canopy by the side of a sparkling rill, and if he is not careful he will sit there all day and forget his train."

Bright Future for Albuquerquean.

In corroboration of the prophesy of Charles Wakefield Cadman and other eminent resident musicians for unusual success for Mrs. Charles Frank, her eminent instructor, Victor Harris, in New York has expressed himself assured of her brilliant career, and has given flattering encouragement to Mrs. Frank, who has begun her vocal studies under the direction of the most influential music critic in New York. In a letter written to an acquaintance in this city Victor Harris says that Mrs. Frank is one of the best and most promising pupils he has ever had. Albuquerqueans feel no little pride in this auspicious beginning for Mrs. Frank, who is preparing herself for solo parts in oratorio and sacred concert work—the work best suited to her soulful voice.

Pettit Series.

Complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Bramlett Kent of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. R. Frederick Pettit, entertained two afternoons the past week in charming style. Tuesday afternoon an even dozen ladies enjoyed the informality and "chit chat" of a thimble party, finished by a toothsome luncheon. More pretentious, but not less pleasurable, was the reception Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Kent, who responded graciously to the cordiality of the invitees. Tasteful floral decorations augmented the pleasing interior of the Pettit home, and music of exceptional merit was rendered during the afternoon by Mrs. deWolfe-Smith and Prof. Fuhrmeyer on the harp and violin. A delicious concoction of fruit juices—otherwise called "punch"—was served by Mrs. J. R. White. Assisting the hostess in the dining room, where a menu of delicacies was served, were Mesdames Ogle and Rankin.

Mrs. Kent left Saturday afternoon for her home in Detroit, in company with the Telfer family.

Woman's Study Class.

Growing in interest, numbers and inspirational value to the students is the class of women that assembles every Friday afternoon in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A. for literary study in "The World's Best Literary"—the Bible. The lesson next Friday afternoon will deal with the beginning of the "Second Period of the Galilean Ministry of Christ," including the choosing of the twelve disciples and the Sermon on the Mount.

The rare privilege of receiving instruction and help from Mrs. Runyan, a former member of Dennison faculty and an eminent Biblical scholar, is attracting more ladies at each meeting and holding with intense interest the charter members of the class, for which there is no entrance fee or requirement other than the desire to study.

Mrs. Lamkin Entertains.

The home of Mrs. W. B. Lamkin was the scene of a pleasant and most profitable meeting of the ladies of the Missionary society of the Gold and Broadway church Tuesday afternoon. The subject of the day, "Negroes," was handled with the intelligent comprehension acquired by careful study of the problems of the question. Mrs. Archer reported on "The Condition of Negroes in Africa Before Being Brought to the United States." Mrs. Seivert gave a report on "The Characteristics of Negroes in the Black Belt." Mrs. Lamkin told the "Story of $100," and what it had accomplished by the establishment of a negro school in Alabama. An inspiring talk by Mrs. H. P. Williams, president of the society, was culled from the autobiography of Booker T. Washington giving the story of the life of the author.

In the future the meetings of the Missionary society will occur on Thursday instead of Tuesday.

Woman's Club.

"Provided a woman be well principled she has dowry enough" is one of the mottoes in the Woman's club calendar dedicated to the session next Friday afternoon, when the principles of business pertaining to administration of club affairs will be the feature of the day. Preceding the general meeting there will be a board of managers' meeting, and after the discussion of pertinent business by the club there will be an adjourned social session for the enjoyment of the members.

Bridal Couple at Home.

After April 12 Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stamm will be at home to their friends in the picturesque bungalow, 499 North Thirteenth street, that is to be the permanent home of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Stamm returned from their honeymoon tour the first of the week and for the present are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Stamm and Mr. J. C. Baldridge.

Farewell Gathering.

The last assembly of the Young Ladies' Sewing club prior to the departure of Miss Elsie Meyers for St. Louis will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cortez Quickel and will be in the nature of a farewell to Miss Meyers, although only the club members will be present and the customary industry will be pursued. Miss Meyers expects to leave the first of the week for St. Louis to visit friends for two months.

Mrs. Bouquet to Entertain.

The members of the Elder Ladies' Sewing club will be the guests tomorrow afternoon of Mrs. Bouquet and the usual occupation of needlework will engage the attention of the ladies, who are not "elder" except when compared to their young imitators, who also have a sewing club.

Mrs. Anson at Home.

The ladies of the Lutheran Aid society met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Anson for the transaction of business affairs of the society. The monthly "coffee" will be held in the near future at a date to be announced later.

Workers' Meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. Jesse A. Runyan will be at home to the officers and teachers of the Baptist Sunday school tomorrow evening, when a workers' conference will be held reative to the problems and methods of upbuilding the Sunday school.

Harry Strong, Jr., Host.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Presbyterian church were happily entertained Monday evening at the home of Harry Strong, Jr., who proved himself a royal "joy maker."

After a business session during which affairs of importance were discussed the Endeavorers held high carnival at the game of "hearts blocks," in which Miss Cora Oddard was declared past mittress in proficiency.

The rooms were dressed in the sweet-scented buds of springtime that lent an atmosphere of orchard scenes.

A lunch, palatable, dainty and wholesome, concluded the evening's pleasure.

Library Meeting.

The second in the series of round table talks on "Current Topics" will occur tomorrow evening in the parlors of the Young Women's Christian association, when the young women will be addressed by Miss Nell Wetter, who will specialize on "Current Literature" and Miss Beatrice Slight, who will give a resume of current events. These gatherings are growing in popularity and exciting intense interest in the circles of business girls who are privileged to hear them. A feature of the meetings is the delectable lunch served by the cafeteria secretary.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Eitram at their home on South Edith street are entertaining Mr. Eitram's sister, Mrs. E. L. Girtz, of Topeka, Kan., who arrived last night to spend a fortnight in this city.

Mrs. S. J. Philbrick, mother of Miss Ada Philbrick, left last week for Omaha, Neb., to spend the summer with another daughter and relatives of that city.

Mrs. Ida Mason, commander of the local hive of Ladies of the Maccabees and state deputy, returned the first of the week from a tour of towns in the southeastern part of the state in the interests of the state lodge.

Music lovers in this city are already anticipating with pleasure the arrival next month of Miss Lillian Elwood, the talented vocalist, sister of George Elwood, who will spend her summer vacation in Albuquerque. Miss Elwood formerly conducted a successful studio for the voice in this city.

Barnes' Mass Meeting

The privilege of hearing one of the eminent speakers of the nation on the work of the Young Woman's Christian association will be accorded to Albuquerqueans April 10, when Miss Helen Barnes will address a mass meeting in the Elks' opera house. The subject is of vital interest to every citizen as civic life is concerned in intelligent exposition and comprehensive of "What the Y. W. C. A. Means to Albuquerque" that will be forcibly presented by Miss Barnes. Although a specialist in the department of rural work, Miss Barnes will not speak on "The Country" as has been erroneously stated, but of the questions in the heart of Albuquerque that may be solved by the Y. W. C. A.

An idea of the value of the Y. W. C. A. elsewhere may be obtained from the figures of an annual report received by Miss Saxe from the Detroit association, where she was formerly educational secretary. The Detroit association is serving 1,000 noon meals daily to business young women. Five thousand four hundred and twenty-one women and girls were placed in lucrative situations the past year by the employment bureau. Through the boarding house directory 6,500 girls enjoyed the social and recreative features of the association that has for its annual budget $58,421.

Nordica's Appreciation of Cadman

In response to a letter from Madame Nordica urging him to assist her in operatic concert in Oklahoma City next week, Charles Wakefield Cadman will leave today for Oklahoma City to meet the renowned prima donna. Many of the choicest songs in Nordica's repertoire are the compositions of Cadman and for this reason, she desires the inspiring interpretations of the composer to assist in their renditions. Words of sincerest appreciation of his superlative work are expressed in the letter of Nordica to the gifted composer in this city. During his absence of a month Cadman will visit the Osage reservation to transcribe the native melodies of the tribe for the government; will confer with the Cherokee maid who has been a protege of Schumann-Heinck (and possessed of a wonderful voice, with the probability of inducing her to sing in the Indian opera "Daoma" that is the triumph of Cadman's art.

D. A. R. Entertained

After the postponement of the February and March meetings on account of illness of the regent and in the family of one of the leading members the assembly of the Daughters of the American Revolution Saturday afternoon was enjoyed with unusual zest by the members. Mesdames J. H. Wroth and Raymond Stamm were the hostesses at the home of the former that was exquisitely fragrant and pleasing in the tasteful decorations of fruit blossoms. The session devoted to routine business was followed by a delightfully informal social season that lasted till sunset.

The special work of the local chapter which has been notably successful is the promotion of patriotic education in the county through the medium of a circulating library that has been acquired by purchase of patriotic books, and by generous donations from the members and their friends. Prof. A. B. Stroup lends effective cooperation in the proper distribution of the books that are kept or returned to his office as the headquarters of the work. Although only embracing this county in its present scope, the nucleus for a state wide circulating library has been established by the D. A. R. and the worthy work is sure to grow. The past year the local chapter contributed a chair to the furnishing of the Continental Congress hall in Washington, D. C., for which all the chapters in America contributed something. On the back of the chair engraved in the brass tablet is the name of the local chapter. The state regent, Mrs. Prince, has gone to Washington to attend the annual meeting of the national chapter.

Hyde-McGillvary Wedding

Impressive and beautiful was the home wedding last evening when Miss Anna Teresa McGillvary and Mr. Alvin Waldo Hyde plighted their troth in the presence of their relatives, the sacred service being pronounced by Archdeacon Warren of St. John's parish in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Owen.

Both the young people recently traveled across the continent and selected Albuquerque for the place of the union of the lives that had been attracted by heart sentiment in northern climes. The bride, of Alexandria, Canada, is a sister of Mrs. H. P. Owen and arrived in this city six weeks ago for an ante-matrimonial visit. The groom is an attorney, representing a powerful business corporation of Hartford, Conn., whence he arrived with his father, William Waldo Hyde, the day preceding the wedding.

Marked by simplicity and elegance in every detail of appointment the service last evening occurred in a setting of lavish floral decorations embellishing the handsome Owen home. Delicate lilies of the valley predominated in the floral adornment augmented by other white blossoms and touches of green. Beneath an exquisite bell-shaped design of white blossoms holding white satin streamers reaching to the corners of the room, the bride, party stood to plight their vows. The bride was charming in a "chic" traveling suit and was given away in marriage by Mr. Owen. After congratulations an elaborate wedding supper was enjoyed by the company, and Mr. and Mrs. Hyde left on the El Paso train for New Orleans and other southern cities included in the honeymoon itinerary. Mr. William Waldo Hyde, prominent attorney and ex-mayor of Hartford, Conn., left today for his New England home.

"Ten Dons" Feted

Judge Edward A. Mann was the cordial host last evening when the "Ten Dons" assembled about the banquet table to partake of a daintily served feast before proceeding to the game of the evening—an address by Mr. H. E. Fox and general discussion by the company. Mr. Fox read an able paper on "Modern Tendencies in City Government That Should Be Encouraged," and elucidated clearly the various advantages to accrue to citizens through the commission form of government that has been successfully demonstrated in progressive cities of the east and is no longer in the experimental stage. Municipal ownership of public enterprises was also treated at length in the presentation of the subject that evidenced careful thought and judgment. The lively discussion by the professional men present gave an added zest to the evening's pleasure and profit.

Varsity Lecture

The last of a series of scholarly lectures by Dr. Silliet to the University students on generic subjects will be heard tomorrow morning during the assembly hour at the university. The topic of the address tomorrow will be "The Intellectual Progress of Europe from 1750 to 1789," and the students are anticipating a treat in its delivery.

Mrs. Rice, Hostess

Mrs. L. G. Rice was the gracious hostess this afternoon at her home on East Central avenue, the occasion being an informal neighborhood party in honor of her guest, Mrs. E. R. Paul of Santa Fe, who formerly resided in this city. The pleasure incident to the renewal of intimate friendships was augmented by the occupation of the company in fancy needlework and culminated in the enjoyment of dainty refreshments.

Benevolent Society Meets

Yesterday morning in the office of Hon. F. W. Clancy the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society held the regular monthly business session and heard the report of the month's activities presented by the president, Mrs. H. B. Ray. This report shows in figures the wide reaching influence and benevolent aid extended to the destitute and needy in our midst by this noble work. Following is the summary of Mrs. Ray's report of the society's work during March:

Calls made	32
Persons helped to clothing, food and transportation	37
Garments distributed	79
Expenditures.
Expended for coal	$29 75
Expended for provisions	72 60
Expended for transportation	15 00
Total	$117 35

Donations of clothing were received from Mrs. J. A. Skinner, Mrs. W. E. Warren and Mrs. McLandress. No donations of cash were received during the month.

St. John's Guild Meets

This afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rummell the ladies of St. John's guild held their weekly meeting to discuss the details of the post-Lenten tea and needlework sale at the home of Mrs. Amado Chaves. The ladies have been indefatigable industrious during Lent in their sewing preparatory to the post Lenten event. The young ladies of St. Margaret's guild are planning to cooperate with the ladies in the affair that promises to equal or perhaps surpass the many successful bazaars given by the ladies of St. John's parish.

LODGES

Delegates Return.

D. E. Phillips and William Moore, official delegates from the local camp to the southwestern convention of the Woodmen of the World held recently in Slaton, Wells Texas, have returned and made their report at the meeting of the W. O. W. in the Elks' building at the last session. Mr. Phillips reported the interesting matter of an appropriation of $15,000 by the national treasury for the establishment of a sanitorium for the southwestern jurisdiction that includes New Mexico, Texas and Arizona. The hope of New Mexicans that it might be established here is vain, the speaker said, because the great majority of the Texas vote in placing so important an institution will undoubtedly favor their own state. The discussion of the affairs of Woodcraft was most inspiring, as there was an attendance of 2,200 delegates from the camps of the three states included in the jurisdiction of the southwest. The national assembly of the supreme lodge will convene in Rochester, N. Y., June 14.

Report of Deputy.

At the regular business session of the Maccabees yesterday afternoon Mrs. Ida Mason, lady commander of the local hive and state deputy reported on the activities of her recent tour throughout the southern towns and cities, including Deming, Silver City, Las Cruces and Eden. Those hives, while progressing somewhat slower than the older ones, are yet steadily upbuilding, and the state deputy aided materially in adding to the membership lists and in the wise counsel of one experienced in the work.

The Herald will be pleased to receive items, such as engagements, weddings, parties, teas, musical events, club and other news of personal interest, with the names of those present, for the Society page, either from Albuquerque or any other place in New Mexico. Write only on one side of the paper and give all names in full. The items should be indorsed with the name and address of the sender—not for publication, but as a matter of good faith. Address Society Editor, The Evening Herald, Albuquerque, or telephone 1458.

New Brown Bread Recipe

Never soggy—Easily made

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Nearly everybody likes Boston brown bread, but so many have experienced trouble with its being soggy, they have become discouraged. Here is a new recipe that cannot fail if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You will be delighted with the result.

K C Brown Bread

One and one-half cup yellow cornmeal; 1½ cup entire wheat flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 1½ cup sweet milk; ½ cup molasses; 5 level teaspoons K C Baking Powder.

Sift together, three times, meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Mix molasses and sweet milk and stir into dry ingredients to make a smooth batter. Turn into two empty K C Baking Powder boxes, thoroughly buttered, and let steam three hours. This bread is particularly good to serve with salads or raw oysters; also at breakfast, as toast of all kinds.

Raisins or currants may be added though some prefer it without.

Readers of this paper may obtain The Cook's Book containing this and 99 other delicious recipes free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago. Send for The Cook's Book today. 26

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

WILL MAKE MAP OF MANZANO FOREST

With a view to publishing a series of accurate maps of the grazing lands of the Manzano national forest, J. T. Jardine of Washington, D. C., is in Albuquerque organizing a working force. These maps will show the extent of the grazing lands in the forest, and will contain much valuable information, besides permitting of a more accurate checking of the number of cattle or sheep now being grazed on the land.

As a result of this work it is expected that a large amount of grazing land will be disclosed which has not heretofore been in use, and that the number of cattle or sheep so land which has been overstocked will be reduced.

WILLARD HAS BOOM ON IRRIGATION PLANTS

A great deal has been said lately regarding the question of irrigation by pumping at Willard and some speculation has been indulged in as to the effect the unusual amount of rain and snow we have had lately would have on the attitude of the wide-awake farmers of that vicinity toward the question of pumping.

To show that they have not been blinded to the real issue by this assistance from Divine Providence, and are fully alive to the fact that notwithstanding the unusual amount of moisture we are having at present their crops would be entirely lost to the failure of such an unreliable supply for even a very short space of time during the growth of the crops, they have taken the only positive means of avoiding any such chance of failure by deciding to at once install individual pumping plants throughout the valley.

The irrigation club of Willard has gone into the question very thoroughly, studying up the advantages and disadvantages of every type and system of irrigation on the market today, and has had representatives of all manufacturers working in this territory before the club, explaining the advantages of their systems and machines to the fullest extent.

Having gone into the matter so thoroughly and with sufficient deliberation to assure themselves that there could be nothing else learned regarding it, the farmers were in position to place their orders with full assurance that they are getting the very best for the purpose that can be obtained in the country, and the following leading citizens of the valley have placed their orders with our townspeople, the Albuquerque Foundry and Machine Works, who are extensively handling this character of equipment and who are furnishing them with Fairbanks-Morse engines and centrifugal pumps.

W. A. Dunlavy, 20 horse power.
Peter McKisser, 20 horse power.
C. D. Dilly, 12 horse power.
Dr. V. E. Cheyney, 12 horse power.

There are a number of other members of the irrigation club who will place their orders within a few days in order to be prepared for the drought which inevitably comes every year in this territory.
