

FAMOUS LANDMARK IN OLD TOWN TO BE REPLACED BY MODERN HOME AT A COST OF TEN THOUSAND

One of the Show Places of Ancient Plaza, Originally Occupied by General Manuel Armijo, Last of Mexican Governors, and for Many Years Believed to Be Birth Place of Mrs. Phil Sheridan, Will Be Torn Down at Once; Was Occupied for Many Years by Distinguished Officers of United States Army.

A beautiful ten thousand dollar residence will soon be erected on the site now occupied by the long abandoned landmark located just west of the main plaza in Old Albuquerque, originally known to nearly everybody as the birthplace of Mrs. Sheridan, sister of General Phil Sheridan, and one of the show places of the city. No one knows just when the building was erected. It is safe to say that it is a century old and that it has been occupied continuously since its erection. General Manuel Armijo, the last of the Mexican governors, occupied the house in 1846 when General Kearney marched into New Mexico with a column from Colorado to suppress the rebellion of Juan de los Rios. Legend has it that General Kearney made a trade with Manuel Armijo whereby he came into possession of the house, holding there for a short time. United States army officers continued to occupy the house from 1848 until 1862, when the Texans came up the Rio Grande and captured the Union men to evacuate. The Sheridan place, as it is known, was purchased in 1888 by Charles A. Heister, who has occupied it since as a residence. Mr. Heister has always had in mind tearing down the old building and building a modern residence. Architect T. B. Craty has drawn up plans and specifications, together with his associate, John Harbois, and Mr. Heister has accepted them. The contractors will have an opportunity to bid on the work within the next two weeks and construction will begin as soon thereafter as possible. The Heister residence is to cost $10,000 and is to be two stories and basement, of hybrid construction, which is poured concrete over a steel frame. The trimmings are to be in brick work, Spanish tile roof, and glass windows. The twelve rooms are to be modern, furnished in every particular, with hot air, and all other like conveniences. There will be a veranda on the south side and an automobile driveway on the east side, with a garage in the rear.

Major H. H. Whiting of Old Albuquerque, "the historian of the Rio Grande valley," knows more about the history of the old Sheridan building than any other living person. Major Whiting today said that the idea held by many people that the old place was the birthplace of Mrs. Phil Sheridan, was erroneous; that Miss Sarah Buckner, a sister of Mrs. Sheridan, was born there, but that Mrs. Sheridan was born at Fort Union, New Mexico. Mrs. Sheridan, when a small girl, lived in the place for a number of years, with her father.

The building adjoining the Sheridan place, which is known as "Samuelson Inn" and which was for many years headquarters for the Star Stage line, before the coming of the Santa Fe railroad, is now being remodeled and renovated and will be conducted as a hotel.

The main of the old Sheridan place is another reminder that the old is giving way to the new, that the ancient landmarks will soon be a thing of the past, unless they are controlled by some historical society. The old Sheridan place has a history. Just what the history is no man knows. But enough of it is known to make a very interesting tale and Major H. H. Whiting, who is depended upon for the accurate history of old time places and persons in and around Albuquerque, has promised to write for the Evening Herald a brief sketch of what he knows about the old landmark.

INDIAN IS ACCUSED OF BREAKING THE SEALS ON CARS

San Jose Giron, of Isleta, Gets in Bad; Brought to Albuquerque Last Night by Santa Fe Officer.

Accused of larceny from a car sealed with a government seal, a Federal charge, San Jose Giron, a resident of Isleta Pueblo, was brought to Albuquerque last night by Special Santa Fe Officer George Thomas and lodged in the county jail. Giron was arraigned before United States Commissioner H. H. Whiting at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will probably be given a preliminary hearing Monday. According to the officer who made the arrest, Giron is suspected of having robbed a number of cars in the Isleta district. It is said that a "cash" was discovered, where a number of stolen articles were hidden.

ISLETA INDIANS TO CELEBRATE FEAST ON MONDAY

Ancient Pueblo to Be in Gala Attire in Honor of San Augustine Festival; Visitors Will Be Welcome.

The feast of San Augustine, the most important feast day in the calendar of the Isleta Indians, will be celebrated at Isleta Pueblo, thirteen miles south of Albuquerque on Monday, August 28. The Indians have been visitors to Albuquerque in large numbers for several days past, purchasing articles of wearing apparel and foodstuffs for the proper celebration of the feast. The feast will begin on daylight Monday and will be in full swing all day. Visitors from Albuquerque will be welcome at the feast, although those carrying kodaks will be viewed with suspicion. Albuquerque people may go to Isleta on Santa Fe train No. 5, at 11:25, returning on one of the trains which pass through Isleta between 4:30 and 6 in the evening. The railroad fare for the round trip is a few cents more than a dollar. Many visitors will go to the pueblo in automobiles and carriages.

SANTA FE TO SMASH ALL RECORDS TO PACIFIC COAST

Sixty-Three Hour Train Will Be Run Through Albuquerque From Chicago to Los Angeles Once a Week.

(By Evening Herald A. P. Leased Wire) Chicago, Aug. 25.—The announcement by the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad that a 63-hour train between Chicago and Los Angeles will be put on December 1, is likely to precipitate a speed war, according to railroad men. The train will be run once a week and an express rate of $15 will be charged.

The above Associated Press dispatch from Chicago confirms a rumor which has been current in Albuquerque for some time that the Santa Fe is contemplating putting on a train from Chicago to the coast that will break all records for fast time. Santa Fe train No. 9 now makes the trip in 10 days. The new 63-hour train, according to local Santa Fe officials, will be stop compartment, with no stop, both and a mail for women passengers. The train will be almost identical with the 15-hour train between Chicago and New York. The compartment special will stop in Albuquerque between eight and ten minutes, long enough to change engines and out a few chunks of ice and a few gallons of water on board. A number for the new train has not yet been selected. The innovation will be tried at first on a once-a-week basis, but it is believed that it will be so popular that it will be run twice weekly before the winter is over.

OUTDOOR SLEEPING ROOM IS A WINNER

Albuquerque Man Has Invented Portable Device Which Will Meet Long-Felt Want

A host of Albuquerque people who desire to sleep outdoors but who lack proper facilities for so doing, will be interested in the announcement that Otto Newlander of the Albuquerque Planing Mill company has invented a portable sleeping room, which seems to meet every requirement. This remarkable device is made in sections and so hinged that it may be folded up like a book. When folded it is little larger than a cot and may be easily transported to any location desired. When erected the portable room looks like a gable-roofed tent and is large enough inside to accommodate a full-sized bed and a stand. It is thoroughly screened, and in fair weather the occupant may be entirely in the open, except that he is thoroughly protected from flies and mosquitoes. The canvas side walls and roof are easily operated by ropes from the inside. In case of rain or excessive wind the occupant may close all or any part of his room, or will all or under rising from his bed.

Mr. Newlander has one of the portable rooms erected in the yard at the rear of his residence at 616 West Coal avenue, where those interested may see it. The cost of the device is moderate and a profitable demand for the Newlander portable room is predicted.
