Waters-Pierce Oil Company But a Figurehead.

TWO-THIRDS OF EARNINGS GO TO JOHN ROCKEFELLER

Attorney for the Missouri Branch of the Trust Goes to Jail on the Charge of Contempt.

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—Inquiry into the affairs of the Standard, Republic, and Waters-Pierce oil companies was reached here today.

Among the principal witnesses summoned were C. H. Pierce, president of the Waters-Pierce company; C. H. Eckert, C. D. Eckert, and A. H. Findley, officers of the company, and President Royer of the Republic Oil company.

Immediately after the hearing Charles M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce company, who had been on the witness stand during the afternoon, was constructively placed under arrest on a contempt charge.

After Mr. Adams had readily answered questions relative to his official position with the Waters-Pierce company, Attorney General Hadley asked Mr. Adams to name the stockholders of the company. He declined to reply.

In defending the witness' course, his counsel stated that the witness might by his answer subject himself and others to legal proceedings, and that he had the constitutional right not to answer.

"Then I ask that he be committed to custody," said the attorney general. "And you can apply for a writ of habeas corpus, which will give an opportunity for a test of this question in court."

FOLK APPEALS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

Governor of Missouri Urges Clean People of Philadelphia to Persevere in Great Fight for Elimination of Graft.

"THERE IS MORE AGGRESSIVE ROTTENNESS AND LESS AGGRESSIVE PATRIOTISM IN OUR LARGE CITIES THAN ANYWHERE ELSE. IF THE PATRIOTISM CAN BE MADE AS AGGRESSIVE AS THE ROTTENNESS, THE PROBLEM OF GOOD GOVERNMENT WOULD BE SOLVED BY THE PEOPLE TAKING THE GOVERNMENT INTO THEIR OWN HANDS.

"IF CORRUPTION IS TO BE ERADICATED, THE PEOPLE ALONE CAN DO IT.

"THE MAN WHO IS WILLING TO LIVE FOR HIS CITY AND STATE EVERY DAY IS THE MAN THAT INEDED JUST NOW.

"THERE MAY BE JUST AS MUCH PATRIOTISM IN GIVING ONE'S TIME TO THE BETTERMENT OF CIVIC CONDITIONS AND ELECTION OF GOOD MEN TO OFFICE AND PURIFYING THE BALLOT AS IN BARING ONE'S BREAST TO THE BULLETS OF THE ENEMY."

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—The great battle between the republican organization and the city party, the municipal reform organization recently formed here, was enlivened to-day by the visit of Governor Folk, of Missouri, who came to lend his voice in the interest of good government.

The crowd that attempted to gain entrance to the Academy of Music to-night was so great that the doors were closed before the meeting began.

Several thousand persons who could not get in, were addressed by City party speakers. While the curb stone mass meeting was in progress, Governor Folk arrived, and the assembly could not permit him to enter the building until he had addressed them.

He made a short speech. When he entered the academy the audience stood up to welcome him.

With him on the stage were Governor Burham, Jr., president of the City club; former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, former United States Attorney General Wayne McVeagh; William Potter, and about a hundred other citizens of prominence.

Mayor Weaver occupied a proscenium box and was given a warm welcome when he appeared.

President Burham in explaining the objects of the club, said the organization was allied to no party, that it neither endorsed nor named candidates, but stood ready to help any genuine movement for good government.

He presented Wayne McVeagh, who made a brief speech, introducing Governor Folk.

Governor Folk said in part: "The most conspicuous fact of municipal government in the United States today is that they are governments by the few, and not by the people.

"The moral revolution now sweeping over the land means the patriotism that comes from the heart, not from the head. Many men would be willing, if need be, to give up their lives for their city or state if they are needed, sometimes, and this kind of patriotism cannot be too highly commended.

PRINCE CHARLES OF DENMARK TO BE NORWAY'S KING

Believed He Will Accept the Vacant Throne.

REPUBLICANS URGE A GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE

Christiania, Norway, Oct. 16.—King Oscar's official refusal of the offer of the Norwegian throne for a prince of the House of Bernadotte is expected tomorrow, when the government will immediately ask the Storting to authorize an invitation to Prince Charles of Denmark to become king.

The republicans are making desperate efforts to secure a plebiscite. Tonight they published a manifesto protesting against the election of a government. It is understood that republicans now control 30 votes in the Storting, and it is feared that Prince Charles will decline if the republican minority is sufficiently strong to be worthy of consideration. In government circles however, it is declared that the question will be settled before the end of the present week.

MISSOURI'S INSURANCE MAN DEMANDS TO BE SHOWN

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 16.—W. D. Vandiver, superintendent of the state insurance department, tonight sent an official communication to the St. Louis attorneys of the New York Life Insurance company, in which he assumes that a letter received from them is an answer to his demand that there be an immediate change in the management and that certain monies refunded if the company is to be allowed to continue in business in Missouri.

Mr. Vandiver's letter says that the communication from the insurance company's attorneys is neither a denial or an admission of the facts which he alleged in his letter to the company, and states that under a decision of the supreme court, the Missouri superintendent of insurance has the absolute authority to act in the matter. Mr. Vandiver offers to give another hearing to the representatives of the New York Life Wednesday or Thursday.

SEAMEN TELL A HARROWING TALE OF SHIPWRECK

Six of Eight Castaways Died of Thirst.

TWO SURVIVORS REACH PORT AFTER HEART BREAKING TRIP

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—A story of a North Atlantic shipwreck in which eight seamen suffered so fearfully from exposure, hunger and thirst that six of them either died outright, were washed away or, crazed by their fearful experience, threw themselves into the sea, was told today by the two survivors of the coasting schooner Van Name and King of New Haven, which was benten to pieces by a gale off the South Carolina coast on October 6.

The two men who lived through the five days and were rescued by the schooner Stillman of the Kelly, which arrived here late today, are William Thomas and William G. Warner, both about 29 years old, six feet three inches tall and half from Antigua, British West Indies. The six, who one by one succumbed, were: Captain William A. Maxwell, of New Jersey; Mate, E. A. Chase, home since 1886, left Charleston, S. C., for New York on October 4 with a cargo of hard pine. Two days later she ran into a heavy gale and after wallowing about in the great seas for several hours sprang a leak. The pumps were started, but within a short time the engine room was flooded and the pumps choked.

At 8 o'clock on the morning of October 6, with her hold full of water, the little schooner was hove down on her beam ends.

The crew clambered up on the weather side and lashed themselves to the bulwarks. There they remained, washed by the seas that broke mercilessly over them, all day Friday. That night the storm increased in fury and one great wave crashed aboard, breaking both legs of Seaman Arthur and sweeping Griewell from his fastenings. Arthur's companions could do nothing to ease his sufferings, but when on Saturday the schooner turned completely over they managed to cut his lashings and drag him on a piece of the after-hatch. It was several hours before they were all huddled together on their little raft. That night Arthur died in the arms of Captain Maxwell, and his body was dropped overboard.

Sunday brought a ray of hope when a craft was sighted, but the gloom shut in again as she passed by without heeding the little group of seamen who frantically signalled her.

That night the waves subsided and a little rain fell which was eagerly caught in a tarpaulin and brought some relief. It was only temporary and not long after Mate Chase's mind gave way entirely and the craft was again lightened when he jumped into the sea.

The next victim was Captain Maxwell, who on Monday forenoon became violently insane and followed his mate's example of self-destruction as a relief to his sufferings.

The spectacle of two men throwing themselves into the sea proved too much for the German engineer and a few hours after Captain Maxwell's death he too leaped to his death.

The last victim was the head steward who died Monday and whose body was consigned to the waters by the two remaining seamen.

BURTON'S TRIAL IS RESUMED

Kansas Senator Appears in St. Louis Court.

ARGUMENT ON DEMURRER TO SENSATIONAL INDICTMENT

Counsel for Defense Seeks to Show Postoffice Department Without Authority to Make Investigation.

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—The hearing of arguments by Judge Van Deventer in the United States circuit court on the demurrer of United States Senator Burton, of Kansas, to the indictment charging him with having used his influence in behalf of the Rialto Grain and Securities company of St. Louis, before the postoffice department, was begun today.

Mr. Burton was remanded last spring after his case had been sent back by the supreme court, and the indictment charges him with knowingly receiving a compensation while a United States senator for services rendered in a case then pending in which the government was interested.

Attorney Haynes, of Chicago, counsel for Burton, declared today that the indictment fails to charge that Burton knew of the case pending in the case of the Rialto Grain company, and that it cannot be extended to an allegation that Burton knew of the case pending in the case of the Rialto Grain company.

Attorney Haynes argued further that while the indictment charges that Senator Burton agreed to receive compensation for his services, it does not set out with whom he agreed. The indictment, he argued, does not specify as to the services rendered or when the services were to be rendered.

It is alleged by the indictment, Haynes stated, that the question being investigated by the postoffice department was whether the Rialto Grain company had violated section 5480 of the criminal statutes. The only power that makes such an investigation possible, he argued, is a court, and if the postoffice department was making such an investigation it was without right.

Senator Burton was in court and sat quietly beside his counsel.

WARDROBE COST HIM A MILLION

Prince Philip Wants Divorce at Once.

PRINCESS HAD 60 PARASOLS AND ONE HUNDRED HATS

One Hundred and Ninety-Five Pairs of Shoes, a Few Admirers and Half Million of Debts.

Gotha, Du-bu-y of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Oct. 16.—The suit brought by Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha for an absolute divorce from his wife, Princess Louise and for an adjustment of their joint property interests, began here today before the ordinary court for the trial of divorce cases the prince having waived his technical right to have the case tried by a special court as provided for under the laws of his family.

Both principals were absent, but the Austrian officer, Lieutenant Keglevich Mattasich, with whom the princess eloped, and his attorney, the court asked of the prince's attorney if they wished to make any motions. They replied that the prince had no objection to the proceedings being public. The attorneys for the princess also declined to require privacy.

Seek Amicable Separation.

The president then began the proceedings by proposing to the lawyers that the two parties seek to bring about a reconciliation, explaining that this was not meant to get the princess or prince to live together again, but to agree to an amicable separation and satisfactory agreement regarding the property. The lawyers agreed to take the matter under consideration and asked for an intermission for that purpose.

The prince's lawyers said the prince asked for an absolute divorce in order to secure a complete separation of the couple.

During the recess the lawyers agreed to an arrangement on the following basis:

The prince to guarantee the payment to the princess of a yearly allowance of $15,000 and also to pay to her a lump sum of $20,000, provided she abandon all of her claim against the prince and that after the divorce she adopt the name and title of Louise, Princess of Belgium.

After these terms were laid before the court, a recess was taken in order that the princess might be photographed for her consent to the agreement.

Later in the day the lawyers for the princess attacked the competence of the court to try the case at all.

The court then adjourned until October 20 to study the question of its competence, to get an answer from Princess Louise and also from the Austrian law to Prince Philip's agreement that the court avoid raising the question as to which party is guilty.

The prince's bill of complaint besides alleging the princess' misconduct with Keglevich Mattasich, says that although the princess received a yearly allowance she had contracted debts which in 1895 amounted to $744,812 of which the prince has paid $218,000, and that in her wardrobe were found 75 pairs of silk shoes, 120 pairs of other shoes, 60 parasols and about 100 hats.
