THEY DIDN'T MEET. And the Elevator Man Doubled If They Would on Earth.

A well dressed woman walked into the Crocker building yesterday afternoon and took an elevator. Her husband saw her from across the street and hurrying over took the next elevator.

"Have you seen my wife here?" "Yes, she just went up this minute."

"Your husband has just gone up again," said the elevator man.

"Well, I'll wait here," he said, "and if I see her I'll call her name."

"I'm demmed if I'm going up again," said he. "I'll wait right here, and he sat down on the stairs."

"I hope they'll meet in heaven," remarked the elevator man.—San Francisco Post.

A Letter. (To an Aspiring Novelist.) MY DEAR MISS LOLLA—Replying to yours of the 29th of February, let me say that it is not so difficult as you seem to think to become a successful novelist.
