Mr. Fall introduced Council Bill No. 104, to amend present laws so as to increase fees for applicants for the license of the board of pharmacy. The bill was passed. House Bill No. 126, to amend Section 1, Chapter 108, Session Laws of 1901, relating to licenses, was referred to the committee on territorial affairs. The Council then took a recess subject to the call of the chair in order that the judiciary committee might meet.

After the recess the judiciary committee reported House Bill No. 48, the Montoya local option bill. The majority of the committee recommended that it be tabled indefinitely. The minority consisting of Messrs. Martinez and Jaramillo, recommended its passage. Mr. Spies moved to table the minority report and this was done by a vote of 8 to 4. Messrs. Albright, Hughes, Jaramillo and Martinez voting nay. The majority report was adopted and the bill was tabled by the same vote. Fall, Hawkins, Jaramillo and Pinard voting against it. Mr. Duncan asked to be excused from voting and this courtesy was granted to him.

Mr. Fall protested and said that the 2,000 copies was excessive. Mr. Hawkins said he thought such a number little enough and Mr. Martinez, Mr. Amado Chavez and Mr. Albright spoke on it. The bill, as amended was passed. Messrs. Fall and Jaramillo alone voting against it.

House Bill No. 128, an act to appraise damages by animals of known owners, was referred to the committee on territorial affairs.

BURDICK MURDER MYSTERY AT BUFFALO

A Woman Was Taken to the Police Headquarters Today and No Specific Information Was Given Out Except That She Was in Some Way Connected With the Case.

THE WOMAN HAD BEEN EMPLOYED AT BURDICK'S ENVELOPE FACTORY

Buffalo, N. Y., March 7.—A woman known to have been under the eye of the police in connection with the Burdick mystery, was today taken to police headquarters. She was taken at once to the office of Superintendent Bull and the door of his office was locked. Heretofore any one whom the authorities desire to question in regard to the murder mystery have been taken to the office of the district attorney. The police refuse to state whether the woman has been placed under arrest or not. They decline to give her name, although they admit that she has been taken into custody in connection with the Burdick case.

The woman who was taken in custody was taken from a house at No. 19 Tupper street. At the house it was learned that she went there about six weeks ago to board with a Mrs. Coughlin, who keeps the house. Mrs. Coughlin stated the woman taken from her house by the police was Miss Maryann Hutchinson, who came to the house on February 17th. She said Miss Hutchinson worked for Burdick at the envelope factory up to four weeks ago. Miss Hutchinson has been released.

TELLES IS CONDEMNED TO DEATH

Judge McFie Designated Friday, April 3, as the Day for Execution.

PLEA OF GUILTY TO MURDER

The Prisoner Showed Little Feeling Until the End of the Sentence Was Reached.

There was an impressive scene in the district court this afternoon at 2 o'clock when Jose Telles, indicted for the murder of Eptacio Gallegos and for the murder of a man at Kennedy, stood before Judge McFie on his plea of guilty to murder in the first degree, to receive his sentence. Telles was one of the two men who escaped after murdering Eptacio Gallegos, the jailor, and after his indictment for that crime, entered a plea of guilty. The court room was crowded when he was brought in. He is still slightly lame from his experience while trying to escape and he was not shackled in any way. As soon as court was opened, Judge McFie ordered him to stand up and receive his sentence. Telles at first did not appear to be affected in any way, but as the court proceeded with his arraignment of him and his career, he grew paler and paler, and when the final death sentence was pronounced, all color left his face.

Judge McFie reviewed the crime for which Telles was confined in the jail here and then said that he had conceived the idea of escape. Judge McFie then said, "You took the jailor and locked him securely in a cell. You took the keys to the jail and could have gone without killing Eptacio Gallegos. You refused to leave the jail even on the plea of the court to let you go. But, on the other hand, you should have not harmed Gallegos. You refused to go. You waited half an hour for Gallegos and you said you would wait for him. It is evident, in the face of your plea of guilty and from your conduct that you intended to kill him. You took the life of one of the best citizens of Santa Fe, of Santa Fe county and of the territory. He was a law abiding and inoffensive citizen and yet you shed his blood deliberately. Ordinarily the blood which delves upon this court would be exceedingly disagreeable and one which would be protected to the utmost. But, on the other hand, in this case, the punishment is just. You took the life of Eptacio Gallegos in a dastardly manner. Your case is that of one who has adopted the life of crime and has followed it to the end. If there is any young man in the territory who has ever contemplated or is contemplating adopting the life of crime, let him see in this case that he ought to pause and hesitate. This sad case should be a wholesome example to such an one. This is a legitimate case of adopting the life of crime. You took the life of a man, by me shall his blood be shed. These words were spoken hundreds of years ago and they are as true today as when spoken. I am sorry that you must so end your life. The law is supreme and the lives of the citizens of the Territory and of the territories must be protected. You seem to realize that you have gone far enough in your life of crime and that you are prepared to end it. This is indeed a sad and pitiful spectacle. When you entered your plea of guilty, I asked you if you understood the penalty of death might be imposed upon you and you said that you did. I again asked you the same question and again you said that you realized what you were doing. You seem to feel that you have reached that point in your life where you feel that your blood should be taken for the blood you have shed. Such shall be the case. It is the sentence of this court that you be remanded to the custody of the sheriff of Santa Fe county and be held by him in secure confinement until Friday, April 3, and that on said day you shall be taken by the sheriff to some convenient place and there between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. be hanged by the neck until you are dead and may God have mercy on your soul."

Telles said nothing in reply and was at once taken back to the jail.

Postmaster Walter has succeeded in securing for Santa Fe better connection with the Santa Fe flyer from the east. The general superintendent of the railway mail services writes to him as follows: "Referring to correspondence in regard to complaints from Santa Fe of delays to mails for that place from Santa Fe trains No. 3, I beg to state that the matter was taken up with the Santa Fe Railway Company and we are just in receipt of information from the president of that company that train No. 721 will not be held at Lamy waiting for connection from train No. 2, later than one o'clock. This is not all we had hoped to accomplish but it is some improvement over the conditions existing heretofore and we will continue to press for a direct connection from train No. 3."

Delegate Rodey deserves praise for pushing the matter at Washington upon request of Postmaster Walter.

DIFFICULTIES WITH LABOR UNION

The Men on the Wabaah Are Still at Work and Will Await With Patience the Decision of the Courts.

GOVERNOR PEABODY OFFERS TO ARBITRATE BETWEEN THE MILL OWNERS AND STRIKERS

St. Louis, Mo., March 7.—Far into the night the attorneys for the trainmen were busy at work last night in the preparation of a petition on which a motion for the dissolution of the injunction will be based. At 9 o'clock this morning, with a corps of stenographers, they took up the work again, but with all the energy they are putting forth, they said this morning that they could not definitely state just when the answer to the injunction could be completed. The attorneys have the entire field now and nothing will be done until they are ready to file the answer in the United States district court.

AT COLORADO SPRINGS. Denver, Colo., March 7.—Governor Peabody said today: "If either side to the controversy at Colorado City should request me to assist in the settlement of the troubles, there, I would be only too glad to use my good offices in that direction. No such request has been made."

There is no change in the situation and no developments. Nothing has been done towards recalling troops, and nothing is likely till the Cripple Creek miners decide whether or not they will go out on a sympathetic strike.

FLATBOAT CAPSIZED.

As a Consequence Nine Men Were Drowned in the Icy Waters of the St. Lawrence.

Glen Falls, N. Y., March 7.—It is reported that twenty men were drowned today by the capsizing of a ferry boat at Spier Falls. No particulars to hand yet.

NINE DROWNED.

Glen Falls, N. Y., March 7.—It was later learned that nine men were drowned by the capsizing of a flatboat, used as a ferry at Spier's Falls today. There were sixty men in the boat. The current was very swift and a mass of ice and logs struck the craft. In the confusion one man jumped out, and in jumping seized the tackle rope. This caused the boat to tip, half the men falling into the river, being carried down by the swift current. Search is now being made for the missing. The bodies of Michael Kennedy and two Italian laborers have been found.

STOCK MARKET IN CONFUSION.

The Surplus Reserves of New Banks Forecast a Little Panic.

New York, March 7.—The stock market was thrown into confusion today when the bank statement came out showing that the surplus reserves of the banks were reduced to below a million dollars. Operators in stocks accepted this as a plain intimation that they would be called upon by the banks next week to pay off loans and they hastened to market their holdings of stocks as best they could. The last half hour of the market was very much excited and towards the last prices crumbled in such an alarming manner that the fall of the chairman's hammer gave a feeling of relief. The last prices were at about the lowest extreme of declines, showing such figures as St. Paul 2 1/2, Union Pacific 3 1/2, St. Louis and San Francisco 2, Canadian Pacific 3 1/2, Manhattan 3 1/2, New York Central 2 1/2, and pretty much all of the active list 1 to 3.

JOINT STATEHOOD OR NOTHING IS THE ULTIMATUM

Senator W. H. Andrews Emphasizes from a Republican Standpoint What Judge N. B. Laughlin Stated from the Democratic Point of View--The Two Territories Should Work Together.

SENATOR ANDREWS TOLD THE EASTERN PEOPLE OF THE MAGNIFICENT PROGRESS THAT NEW MEXICO HAS MADE

Senator W. H. Andrews returned yesterday noon from Washington where he has been fighting energetically to secure statehood for New Mexico. His long legislative experience, his wide acquaintance among the statesmen at Washington, his close relations with Senator Quay, made his work on behalf of statehood especially valuable. Senator Andrews can speak authoritatively on the status of the statehood question if any one can, and he says most emphatically that New Mexico will be granted statehood by the present congress at its winter session. But New Mexico and Arizona will be admitted as one state and that unconditionally, except that the capital is to be at Santa Fe, mainly for historic and sentimental reasons. Separate statehood is out of the question, need not be considered at all for a long time to come, if ever. The point to be accomplished is to shape popular opinion to favor statehood, to overcome the prejudice of Arizona against a union with New Mexico.

Senator Andrews says that Senator Quay was terribly in earnest in pushing the statehood bill, but at no time could he persuade the Republican steering committee of the senate to consent to a vote on the omnibus bill. The Republican majority was even opposed to a compromise and it was a great victory for the statehood workers when the Republican leaders at last consented to make a compromise proposition. The statehood battle would have been won then, if Arizona had declared enthusiastically for the compromise, but Delegate Mark Smith refused to do this and the Arizona legislature in its resolution passed at the eleventh hour demanded preposterous conditions and as a consequence the Democratic senators refused the proffered compromise and thus statehood was defeated.

However, the Republicans have agreed to give the territories statehood, have agreed to make it a caucus measure and will pass it by Republican votes. But all dreams of separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona must be put aside. The majority in congress will never consent to that and the fight for statehood must be made along the lines of joint statehood and to overcome the prejudice, if any such exists, against the proposition to unite the Territories. The state would come in with two senators, three representatives, would have five electoral votes and would immediately be of importance in political affairs and be a leader among the western states. In extent and resources the new state would be a veritable empire that could support a state government and state institutions as they should be supported. Senator Andrews said that if he ever had any personal ambitions in connection with statehood he sacrificed them when he came out for joint statehood but he deemed the welfare of the territories above every other consideration. Before returning home, Senator Andrews was interviewed by the Philadelphia North American, which devoted a whole page to a symposium of interviews favoring statehood for New Mexico. The article is illustrated with pictures of territorial institutions and portraits of Senators Quay and Andrews. The following is a synopsis of the interview with Senator Andrews:

"Senator Andrews bubbles over with enthusiasm when he talks about the Territory of his adoption. He firmly believes that the Statehood fight is won, and that the generalship of Senator Quay is bound to place New Mexico among the galaxy of States by 1904. He sat in Senator Penrose's committee room, that on immigration, while talking for The Sunday North American.

"The former Pennsylvanian knows his story well. He can rattle off statistics about New Mexico until his listener's head is in a whirl, and he can, and does, give more reasons why his adopted Territory should be taken into the National Sisterhood of the States than even his Chief has been able to figure out.

"According to him it is a God-fearing, peace-loving, prosperous community that needs only the proper encouragement to become soon the greatest of all the States.

"New Mexico is the greatest country out of doors. Why, it is Republican to the backbone. The entire native population is Republican, because it desires protection. The Mexican cattle would come in over the border and swamp the cattle raisers but for the benign protective policy of the Republican party.

"Why, in our Territorial Legislature there are but two Democrats, and they are in the lower house. They are mighty good, sensible people, those natives. They are docile, peaceable and industrious. They want statehood to a man. Then the American population is knocking with all its might.

"We had with us in the fight just closed, Senators Quay and Penrose, Elkins, Gallinger, Mason, Burton, Perkins, Burrows, Foraker, Hansbrough, and McCumber, of North Dakota; Jones and Stewart of Nevada, and Foster and Mitchell of Washington, among the Republicans.

"But I do not care to talk about the political aspect of the situation. New Mexico is big enough to talk about on her own merits. The rear farms in New Mexico as big as counties down East. There are big, broad, whole-souled men who are developing the resources of the country. Four of the biggest men in the Territory are Joshua Reynolds, the banker, Solomon Luna, a Republican National Committeeman, a man of great wealth, his interests being in agriculture and sheep; W. S. Hopewell, a capitalist, who owns thousands upon thousands of head of cattle, and is chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and Frank A. Hubbell, chairman of the Republican State Committee, another big and good man. Such men as these shape the course of the Territory, and may be depended upon to conduct the affairs of the new state.

"Do you happen to know that the admission of New Mexico into statehood was stipulated in the annexing of the territory? For over 50 years the old states have kept New Mexico out under false pretenses. The territory is as orderly as the State of Pennsylvania. There are more churches per capita and more schoolhouses than in any other jurisdiction in the country.

The Roman Catholic church has an archbishop at Santa Fe, Archbishop Bourgade. Every little community has its little Catholic church, and there are thousands of people belonging to other denominations.

"New Mexico is the only one of the states and territories where train robbery is made a capital offense. The carrying of a concealed weapon is a very serious offense with us. Law and order prevail everywhere, and a man is safer from robbery and attack in Santa Fe or Albuquerque than in Philadelphia.
