CAPITOL BURNED.

Explosion and Fire in Washington Last Evening.

Supreme Court Room and Other Rooms Totally Destroyed.

Priceless Documents and Bu of Justices are All Lost.

DAMAGE OF $200,000.

Washington, Nov. 7.—An explosion and fire last evening wrecked the supreme court room and the rooms immediately adjoining on the main floor of the capitol. The damage to the building is estimated at $200,000. The entire rear portion of the great marble pile from the main floor to the subterranean floor practically is a mass of ruins. The force of the explosion was such that the coping stones on the outer walls, just east of the point where the explosion occurred, were bulged out nearly two inches, the windows in that part of the building blown out and looked doors 150 feet away were forced from their hinges. Fire followed the explosion, which occurred in a small room, tightly inclosed by stone walls in the subterranean basement, immediately below the main entrance of the building. In this room was a 500-light gas meter fed by a four-inch main. Flame originating from the explosion darted up the shaft of the elevator, communicating with the second rooms of the supreme court, the office of the marshal of the court and the supreme court library. Before the flames could be subdued the priceless documents of the record room were almost totally destroyed. The library of the supreme court was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water, practically destroying the great collection of law and reference books. Justice Harlan said that while the loss of records is great, it is fortunate that the later records of the court, which are kept in the office of the clerk of the main floor, were not injured. Among the losses which will be most sincerely regretted are those of the books of Chief Justice Marshall and other distinguished members of the supreme court, which were arranged on small pedestals about the supreme court chamber.

SCENE OF DESTRUCTION. The big capitol building was a scene of wreck and devastation to day. A small army of workmen was carrying off the debris and half burned official documents. The examination of the court room showed no damage done there. The loss to the court was in the marshal's office and storage room where valuable old records were kept. The extent of the loss is not yet exactly determined. Senator McMillin's committee room was hastily prepared for the justices.

MORE PARTICULARS. An examination of the meter room, where the gas that supplied the capitol is measured, showed no damage to pieces. Several of the supreme court justices visited the scene of the catastrophe this forenoon. They found the busts of former chief justices, which line the walls of the old chamber, were uninjured. Marshal Wright's office was completely gutted. The only damage that cannot be made good was done in the rooms of the supreme court, where were stored all the official records and original copies of opinions from the foundation of the government. All these records were destroyed. The original records of the court's proceedings, covering the same period, appear to have been preserved probably in good condition. The assistant architect of the capitol, Mr. Wood, after a preliminary examination said: "I find the minor damage sustained by the building but no part of the structure as first equipped. The heavy foundations do not appear to be disturbed. The walls blown down are confined to the thin encircling walls, covering the steam pipes, etc. No heavy sustaining arches or pillars have given way so far as I can find. I hope we can flush repairs by the time congress convenes."

THE SECOND FLYER. From the East Arrived on Time To-Day. The second passenger train of the season, known as "The Flyer" arrived at 1:15 a. m. on the schedule time, at the local station. The train was, however, unavoidably detained here over the time to depart, 11:20 o'clock, and did not get away until 11:50 a. m. Engine No. 813 with Engineer Keen at the throttle brought the train in. Conductor Gabeloff being in charge. Conductor Frost will look after the comfort of the passengers from this point west. Engine No. 119, manned by Engineer Beckwith, will try to make up the time lost in Albuquerque. The train was a magnificent affair with six cars including a combination baggage and smoking car, a dining car, three standard passenger coaches, Pullman sleepers and an observation car of six sections, observatory, library, etc. The cars were comfortably filled with tourists bound for the land of the setting sun. It is reported that the entire seating capacity of the first seven of these fast trains out of Chicago has already been engaged by touring individuals. The first flyer from the west arrives here at 6:50 o'clock Tuesday evening.

G. H. Sack, of Warrenburg, Mo., died on the train while on his way home from Mexico last Saturday night. Undertaker Strong was notified and removed the body to his undertaking establishment. He received a telegram from a son of the deceased, W. C. Sack, of Louisville, Neb., instructing him to bury the remains in that city. The funeral will take place to-morrow with burial at Fairview. The body, which was stolen from Dr. J. F. Pearce a few nights ago, has been recovered and the thief discovered. He is a well-known young man of this town and has confessed to the stealing. As Dr. Pearce refused to prosecute, the young man has not been arrested but it is unnecessary to state that he has been so thoroughly scared that he will never steal another wheel.

Dr. J. F. Pearce, who was called to Omaha last Saturday to dress and sew up the wounds which Aragon received in a ball cutting scrape on Friday night, states that Aragon was not fatally injured and will recover. He is situated in the street just above the heart, and the interference of a rib was the only thing that saved Aragon's life. The Rough Riders of the city held a meeting in the quarters of the Home Company Nov. 2 last night. Arthur Spencer was instructed to write to Colonel Roosevelt and Major Rodas with reference to organizing a society of the Rough Riders, who participated in the battle of San Juan. The boys will hold another meeting Thursday evening. The Afro-American republicans of this city will hold a ratification meeting to-night at the building one door east of the Gehlert saloon. C. C. Crockett, W. B. Johnson and other good speakers will address the meeting and everybody is invited. The second night, November 10, 1898, of the Temple Albert Bazaar, a decided and new feature will be introduced; a grand talent show, secured in sing and dance. The ladies of the Bazaar have spared no expense and trouble to make the Bazaar a great success. Wm. Chaplin, the Railroad Avenue brot and shoe dealer, is still sick. His wife, who was his store to-day, informed THE CITIZEN representative that she expected him to be able to appear at the store to-morrow. If you want to enjoy a good oyster supper, patronize the Woman's Relief Corps this evening at the new Seattle building.

SPAIN'S ARGUMENT.

Against Cession of Philippines Received at Washington.

Want an Indemnity Instead for the Attack on Manila.

Day Instructed to Renew Demand for Cession of the Islands.

MEET AGAIN TUESDAY.

New York, Nov. 7.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says: Spain's exhaustive argument against the cession of the Philippines to the United States has made the officials more determined to take the islands. Instructed by the chairman of the American commission, require the commission to renew, on Tuesday, their demand for the cession of the group to the United States. They will make in their communication first an offer of money in payment for the islands. The sum will not exceed the amount authorized by the Spanish government for improvements in the Philippines. Secretary Hay has received a full statement of the action of the government in delivering a note through Cambon, the French ambassador to President McKinley, which set forth the understanding of the Spanish government that in agreeing to the protocol its sovereignty over the Philippines would not be affected. It is claimed by the Spanish commissioners that this declaration was made by President McKinley as a matter of fact that the note had been delivered, but the president declined to answer it, either in writing or verbally to Cambon in the United States. He declared, it is said, that instead of the United States acquiring the Philippines, this government should pay their government indemnity for the attack on Manila after the peace protocol had been signed and for the damage consequently done. After the Philippine question has been disposed of by the Spanish commissioners, the determination of the claims filed by Americans against Spain and by Spaniards against the United States.
