ALBUQUERQUE PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN AND INSTRUCT HER THOUSANDS OF VISITORS

Everything Will be in Readiness for the Opening of the Congress and Exposition Tomorrow and Guests Will be Shown Western Things Done in a Western Way, With Plenty of Excitement to Fill Every Minute of the Next Two Weeks and a Little Over for Good Measure.

EXHIBITS AT EXPOSITION GROUNDS FAR SURPASS FORMER ATTEMPTS WHILE PROGRAM OF AMUSEMENTS PROVIDES SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Products of the Southwest and West Are Shown in Greater Abundance Than Has Been Possible in the Past and the Work of the Reclamation Service Is Being Demonstrated to the Unbeliever With a Completeness That Leaves No Room for Argument—Big Convention Hall Is Ready for Sessions of the Most Successful Irrigation Congress Ever Held

Dozens of men are hurrying about the exposition grounds, putting the finishing touches on buildings, arranging exhibits, preparing walks and decorating; dozens of others are arranging chairs in the big new Convention hall, putting up pictures and adding the last details to the big building; while all over Albuquerque buildings are being decorated in honor of the sixteenth National Irrigation congress which opens tomorrow morning in Convention hall.

Albuquerque today presents a scene of activity, which will continue throughout the next two weeks, with something doing every minute of the time to amuse, instruct and entertain the crowds which have already begun to arrive. They come from the north, south, east and west, the vanguard of the attendance at the congress and exposition, which is confidently expected to break all records for New Mexico.

At the fair grounds most of the work has been done, and today the workmen are finishing up, although there will probably be a little yet to be done before the exposition can be called complete. It is representative of the west and the exhibits surpass anything ever attempted before in the southwest. They include everything from a bale of hay to a nugget of gold, and will show the development of the southwest and the success of irrigation in a way it has never been shown before. The list of attractions at the exposition grounds and downtown will afford entertainment for the visitors, whatever they desire. Albuquerque, assisted by the whole of New Mexico, has left nothing undone to please her guests.

The convention hall, erected for the accommodation of the irrigation congress, is ready for the opening tomorrow morning, when Governor Curry and President Goudy start the ball rolling, and the Albuquerque chorus of 100 voices joins in the "Irrigation Ode," assisted by a special orchestra and soloists. With the delegates already here and the promise of more from the congress coming to the best of any yet held and to bring home to the people of the United States the fact that irrigation is building up in the west and south-west an empire of its own.

Many soldiers in camp. Luna park presents the appearance today of a very business-like military camp. From El Paseo avenue to a half block beyond New York avenue, from north to south, and from Kelecher avenue to Twelfth street, from east to west, there stretches a vast canopy of white tents. Luna avenue cuts the camp in two, running north and south. The United States troops, consisting of four companies of the Twenty-first infantry under command of Major Hemen, are camped in military precision to the west of Luna avenue. The New Mexico troops, consisting of the A. and M. cadets from Mesilla, the Military institute cadets of Roswell and the National guard, are on the west side of Luna avenue. The two troops of cavalry from Fort Wingate will be camped at the north and south of Luna avenue.

The regulars. The regulars from Fort Logan arrived last night on a special train but the hour was not too late for Captain Clark M. Carr and several members of the military committee to be at the station to meet them. The detachment is composed of the first battalion of the Twenty-first, including companies A, B, C and D. The officers follow: Major Hearn and Staff Lieutenants Waro and Lentz; company A, Lieutenants Hobson and Schultz; company B, Lieutenants Preston and Woolnough; company C, Lieutenants Ristern and Glover; company D, Lieutenants Sayer and Davis. Lieutenant Hobson of company A is a brother of the gallant officer who a few years ago introduced the Hobson kiss. Each company has sixty-five men and the band is composed of twenty-eight pieces. Chief Musician Graves is in charge of the band.

Thomas is expected tonight. General Bell will remain a few days longer and then return to Washington. Captain Carr of the military committee, said this morning that General Bell had voiced himself well pleased with the preparations that had been made for the reception of the troops. General Luna park camp is probably the best arranged temporary military camp ever made in the southwest. Sanitary camps have been placed at intervals entirely around Luna park. Water and electric lights have also been placed conveniently for the soldiers.

Captain Carr said this morning that it was regretted that General Bell could not remain longer, but said that there was some consolation in the fact that General Thomas had promised to stay during the congress and fair. The Fort Logan troops will remain in camp until October 10.

Major Hearn. Major Hearn, in command of the regulars, is one of the best army officers of the Department of Colorado. In raising out to the military camp this morning in Captain Carr's large touring car, Major Hearn expanded his lungs, took a couple of long breaths of the purest ozone on earth, shaded his eyes with his hand while looking at the azure blue San Juan, and expressed himself on Albuquerque, the camp location and the weather.

"It's ideal, isn't it?" he said. "That air is certainly good to breathe. I was knowing when we left Fort Logan Saturday night, and cold and blowing nine inches of snow covered the ground. It was just like this only different. I think that we will like it all right."

How to see the camp. The grounds can be reached by the New York avenue line easier than any other way. The car will stop at Luna avenue. There are cement walks the entire length of Luna avenue. The regulars are on the east side and the other troops are on the west. The footwell cadets are camped next to New York avenue. The National guard comes next and the Agricultural college cadets are on the extreme south end. The cavalry camps will be just north of New York avenue.

Luna boosters here. B. Knowles, a delegate from Luna county, is attracting attention with a badge which says: "First Irrigation Congress, Deming, November 7, 1893." Other Luna county delegates here today are C. A. Ament, Ralph Ely, S. Lindaver, E. E. Burdick, Newton Bolick, John Corbett, Jack Diamond, J. D. Jacobson. Twenty-five more are expected to arrive tomorrow and Luna county in addition to its big exhibit will be well represented by boosters.

Shoppers arrive. The five shoppers who will participate in the coming irrigation congress chorus arrived in the city this morning. They represent the European quartet of Los Angeles and are as follows: Messrs. J. P. Dupuy, E. E. Nay, L. Zinnaman, F. W. Wallace and Leroy Jenson. The vacancy in the quartet on occasion when Mr. Dupuy is singing solo work is taken by Mr. Jenson. Both are tenors. These five men will aid in the staging of the "Irrigation Ode" on the opening of the congress at Convention hall tomorrow morning by the Irrigation Congress chorus. Mr. Dupuy was formerly a resident of this city, having married a Miss Jenks of Albuquerque some time ago.

Mexico City excursion. C. F. Berna, general agent for the Mexican Central railway, who is in the city working up interest in the $25 round trip excursion which is to be run from Albuquerque to the City of Mexico, says that this is the lowest rate ever proposed for this trip and is probably the lowest rate the Mexican Central will ever offer. The tickets go on sale October 3 and will remain on sale until the 10th of the month. The return limit of the tickets is October 28. Mr. Berna said last night that if he could get seventy-five or a hundred people to leave the arid land in the Salt river valley, and particularly to the promotion of the Roosevelt dam project, completion of which means so much to the people of Arizona.

Mr. Fowler looks forward with enthusiasm to the day when the great Salt river valley, with its 500,000 acres of fertile soil, will be intensively farmed and when a virtile people gathered from all portions of the world will be settled within the zone tributary to his home town.

During the session of the congress Mr. Fowler will be unshined in a mass of business and social duties connected with its work, but will always find time to converse with those interested in his locality or with those interested in irrigation problems who have any information which may add to his already extensive knowledge.

SEVEN MEN DROWNED.
Chicago, Sept. 28.—Although seven men are believed to have been drowned in the capsizing of a pleasure launch last night in collision with the Nickel Plate railroad bridge across the Calumet, the police are still unable to determine the identity of the victims and no bodies have been recovered. The sole survivor of the party, Elmer Westergren, the owner of the craft, is under arrest, and has not given a coherent account. He is apparently in a dazed condition.

STEWART IS APPOINTED.
Washington, Sept. 28.—Joseph Stewart of Missouri, superintendent of the division of railway adjustment in the postoffice department today, was appointed second postmaster general, succeeding James S. McCleary of Minnesota, who resigned to become a candidate for Congress.

HEAVY RAINFALL BREAKS THE DROUTH

Washington, Sept. 28.—The breaking of drouth throughout the country is announced in reports to the weather bureau today. Rains have been followed by decidedly cooler weather and heavy frosts are reported from points in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and the north.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 28.—A soaking rain which began Sunday evening has extinguished the main forest fire in Marinette county. The towns of Groll and Kinsman on the Wisconsin & Michigan railroad were wiped out and six or eight families had to flee for their lives. McAlester was saved. Millions of feet of pine and hard wood were burnt.

New York, Sept. 28.—Hope at last is seemingly justified that the drouth, which has prevailed for months over the entire eastern section of the United States is about to be broken. Although only light rains have yet fallen, there has been a general precipitation over the entire area affected.

Waco, Texas, Sept. 28.—The first cold snap of the season sent the thermometer down this morning to 45. In north Texas tender vegetables have been nipped by the frost.

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—The disastrous drouth which has prevailed in this section for many weeks was broken early today when showers fell in many points in Ohio during the night and early today.

Cincinnati, Sept. 28.—Before the rain today, which broke a six weeks' drouth in the Ohio valley, the Ohio river had dropped below three feet at this point, reaching the lowest stage in thirteen years. Vegetables had dried up and river business was at a standstill.

HASKELL WILL SUE ON HEARST CHARGES

Governor Announces He Will Make Editor Acknowledge He Lied.
Kansas City, Sept. 28.—A special from Guthrie today says that Governor Haskell announced on his arrival here last night that he would bring suit against Hearst next Wednesday.

"For criminal libel, governor?" he was asked.

"Well, I don't know what you would call it," he said.

"To make him prove what he said?"

"No, sir. To make him prove what he said was not true."

HOBOES GATHERING FOR BIG CONVENTION

They Meet at New York and Discuss Today "Health of the Unemployed."

BANKERS FIGHT THE POSTAL BANK

Government Should Not Take Up Work Intended For Individuals Says Committee.

BIG CONVENTION OPENS AT DENVER

Hundreds of Bankers Throng Colorado City For Annual Meeting, Which Promises to Be More Interesting Than Any former Session.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 28.—Postal savings banks are opposed in the report of the committee on that subject, of the American Bankers' association, which began its annual convention here today. The committee reports as follows:

1. It is our opinion that unless imperatively demanded by public needs the functions of the United States government should not be extended to the spheres more properly occupied by state governments, or by corporate or individual effort.
2. The savings system of the majority of the states, with the modern facilities for transacting business by mail, are adequate to the needs of the people, and the safeguarding of their deposits. It is evidenced by the record of this association that it is the constant endeavor of the banking fraternity to improve the conditions in the remaining states.
3. Although, in our opinion, no great detriment will result to the existing savings banks system from the establishment of postal savings depositories, inasmuch as the present facilities are superior to any that could be afforded by the government, or to those of the countries where postal savings banks now exist, yet the previous experiences of the United States government in conducting banking institutions, and notable in connection with the Freedmen's Savings and Trust company, do not encourage us to believe that the proposed savings system would be managed more wisely or with better success than the existing savings institutions.
4. We think it preferable to educate the newly arrived foreigner to American methods rather than to accommodate our methods to his inexperience.
5. We point with pride to the record of the savings institutions of the United States. While the figures for 1907 are not yet available, during the year 1906 the aggregate net loss to depositors was the trivial sum of $120,000, being three-tenths of one per cent on a total of three billion, five hundred million dollars in savings deposits, whereas the proposed government ratio of two per cent would have deprived the depositors of at least fifty million dollars in interest in the same year.
6. We submit that our savings institutions have performed a great service throughout the United States in developing the country. A large proportion of the deposits in these institutions is invested in first mortgages to build homes and in municipal bonds, all of which investments have greatly assisted in the up-building of the various communities.
7. We hold that the history of the United States demonstrates that in safety and in adaptability these institutions are developing as the country develops, through a process of evolution, and that the record of the past is a sufficient guarantee for the future that our present banking facilities will steadily grow to meet all the requirements of the country.
8. While we believe the basic objections we have urged against a postal savings system are unanswerable, we further submit that the bills now pending in Congress for the creation of that system should not be enacted into law, because specifically wrong in the following particulars, to which many others could be added:
 - A. The exemption of deposits from legal process is vicious, as it would provide a demerit for funds of the dishonest and the fraudulent, where they could place their money, draw interest on it and be free from attachment, which would prove a serious menace to the business interests of the country.
 - B. In the use made by the government of the funds coming into its possession through the postal savings depositories, the provisions of the bills do not assure a wide and equitable distribution of the funds deposited nor prevent the centralization of the people's money, which be-
