SAYS COMMITTEE DIDN'T ENDORSE PRESIDENT W. G. TIGHT

Member of Alumni Association Tells of Meeting Held Last Night.

The following communication was received by the Citizen today:

"Editor Citizen—The article in the Journal this morning has been called to my attention, and as an officer of the Alumni association I cannot allow such a gross and intentional misrepresentation to pass uncorrected, in justice to the Alumni as a body. The facts are these:

"Upon arriving at the Woman's club after the banquet, before the musical and dance started, I was informed by Mr. Keleher that resolutions of this nature would be presented at the short business session that it had been planned to hold for the election of officers. I strenuously opposed this action, as it had been the earnest endeavor of the executive committee, in arranging the evening's entertainment, to avoid all reference to any past unpopularity, and insure a harmonious gathering. I brought it to the notice of other members of the committee and prominent alumni, who also felt it very bad taste to bring up a matter upon which there would be such decidedly conflicting opinions, in the midst of a social evening, and it was suggested to Mr. Keleher that the business meeting would be postponed until after the dance if he intended introducing these resolutions.

"A closed meeting of the executive committee was called. I was elected chairman. Mr. Keleher read the resolutions as printed in the Journal, I should judge. C. E. Hodgins, president of the Alumni, asked the object of bringing this before the executive committee and Mr. Keleher stated he desired to have the committee endorse it. I explained that the executive committee had no authority to act for the Alumni or as the Alumni association under our constitution, and that the most the committee could do would be to endorse resolutions for presentation to the association as a whole, to be acted upon by that body.

"Mr. Keleher gave the committee to understand that was all he intended and that the resolutions would be later presented to the association. The resolution was put as to whether the committee should endorse these resolutions. Messrs. Hodgins, Emmone and Keleher voted in the affirmative and Misses Tway, Harsch and Perkins not voting. I, as chairman, had no vote, and Mrs. Stroup and Miss Childers were not present.

"We proceeded with the program and dance and about 10:45 o'clock had a short business session, at which this matter was not mentioned.

"Whoever gave the article to the Journal, appearing in this morning's issue, wilfully and maliciously gave out what they know was not the truth. The Alumni association has not, as yet, had this matter presented to it, either for formal or informal discussion, as the article states, and certainly has passed no resolutions.

"Neither has the executive committee 'passed' any resolutions, and the party giving out that information must have had intelligence enough to know they had no power to do so. The resolutions show on their face that they were to be spread upon the minutes of the meeting and as it is quite generally known that committee meetings do not keep minutes, this must have been an attempt to insinuate that the resolutions were passed at a meeting of the association.

"I do not understand how any person felt justified, not only in giving out that which was not true, but in also adding that the resolutions 'express exactly the sentiments of the Alumni association.'

"I know of no one person competent to speak for the association and it is a gross injustice to the other alumni to have a resolution or an article, on any subject, appear in their name when they have had no opportunity to pass upon it and no notice of a meeting for that purpose.

"I have been somewhat actively engaged in preparations for the annual banquet and have met many of the alumni, and it has been the general feeling, so far as I have observed, irrespective of their personal opinions, that as an association they should take no part in this present unpleasantness, as it was of a personal nature and would not reflect on the university.

"I might with equal propriety, state this observation as an action of the association.

"I deeply regret that this matter should be again stirred up and brought before the public, but I can not allow the alumni to be placed in such an unfair and misleading position before the public.

(Signed)
"NELLE C. BREWER."

THESE BE STRENUOUS TIMES FOR ELKS AND FRIENDS

With Grand Fiesta Only Few Days Away the Work is Being Rushed.

The sound of the hammer and the saw can now be heard from cellar to garret in the Elks' building and booths of various sizes and shapes are beginning to adorn the floors of the different rooms of the building for use during the Elks' Fiesta, which commences next Monday evening and lasts six days.

Great preparations have been made for the vaudeville acts, which will be seen on the stage of the theatre each evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. The best talent promised to the occasion and the hour between eight and nine o'clock each evening promises to be full to the brim with bright, snappy comedy and musical features. The program for each evening's entertainment is being prepared by the vaudeville committee and this feature of the fiesta promises to attract considerable attention.

The supper, which will be served each evening in the large banquet hall of the building by the various ladies' committees also promises to be one of the leading features of the week and the following tempting menus have been prepared by the ladies and will be served as follows:

Monday Night.
Mrs. J. T. McLaughlin, chairman; the Elks' supper:
Cold roast turkey with cranberry sauce, baked sweet potatoes, hot rolls, asparagus salad with Mayonnaise dressing, ice cream and cake coffee and tea.

Tuesday Night.
Mrs. D. H. Carns, chairman;
"Southern supper":
Stewed chicken and rice, cold ham, apple sauce, candied sweet potatoes, hot rolls, lemon pie, tea and coffee.

Wednesday Night.
Mrs. M. L. Stern, chairman, "English supper":
Roast beef with mushroom sauce, browned potatoes, head lettuce salad, ice cream and cake, tea and coffee.

Thursday Night.
Mrs. J. A. Hubbs, chairman, "Veal Supper":
Roast veal, with dressing, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, cream pie, tea and coffee.

Friday Night.
Mrs. Amado Chavez, chairman, "Chicken Pie Supper":
Chicken pie, macaroni and cheese, potato salad, hot rolls, strawberry short cake with cream, coffee and tea.

Saturday Night.
David Combs, chairman; "Men's Supper":
The menu this evening is being kept a deep, dark secret. However, there will be plenty of whatever is served and no one will be permitted to leave the table hungry. Thirty-five cents will be charged for the meals and an excellent patronage is assured.
