COLORADO'S FIRST WOMAN LAWYER FOUND DEAD

Aged and Wealthy Miss Ann Hunt Victim of Apoplexy; Death Comes While She is Kneeling in Prayer.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Denver, Feb. 16.—(Kneeling in an attitude of prayer, the body of Miss Anna Hunt, Colorado's first woman lawyer, was found in her home today.

The woman was wealthy and gave liberally to charity, but lived the greater part of her sixty-two years of life alone. From the manner in which her clothing and prayerbook had been laid out in the room in which she was found, it was believed that she had been stricken by apoplexy last Sunday.

Miss Hunt was one of the first expert law stenographers in New York city, whence she came to Colorado in 1890. She was the first woman to be graduated from the Denver University law school.

GIANT LOCOMOTIVE RUNS AWAY AT BELEN

Peculiar Construction of Mallet Proves Unexpectedly Valuable in Preventing Destruction of Machine.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.] Belen, N. M., Feb. 16.—Another advantageous feature of the construction of the large Mallet type of engines which are used out of Belen on the Santa Fe was demonstrated recently when one of the largest of these monsters ran away from the local coal chutes and plunged into the pit of the turn table. The engine was standing unattended at the coal chutes, and was apparently all right, when it suddenly started up slowly. It was not noticed until it was close to the turn table, and then it was too late to prevent the accident. When the large engine reached the edge of the pit the front part went down. The peculiar construction of that portion of the boilers which is known as the accordion, saved the engine from quickly becoming a mass of scrap iron. The accordion, made for the purpose of enabling the large engines to go around the mountain curves, thus giving a certain freedom to the boilers, opened out as the engine overbalanced, and allowed the front section to drop easily into the pit, practically while the hinder parts followed after. It was necessary to call the wrecker to pick the engine out of the pit, and it required several hours of hard work to get it again on the tracks. The accordion was stretched out by the accident that it was rendered practically worthless, but the remainder of the engine was in very good shape, and required only a little work in the local shops to make it fit for service again.

Valentine Party at Stubbs Home.

With the Valentine season have come many social functions in Belen during the last few days. One of the most brilliant of these was given at the home of Mrs. C. C. Stubbs Thursday evening, a company of young people being the guests. The home was prettily decorated throughout with hearts and valentines, and presented a most attractive appearance. During the evening the guests were entertained with valentine games and contests. Following several hours of merriment, all repaired to the dining room, where a delicious two-course lunch was served. The valentine idea was carried out in lunch also, and was the crowning feature of a most pleasant evening.

In Honor of Miss Becker.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. F. B. Dallas entertained a number of young people at her home in honor of Miss Luck Becker, who has gone to New Orleans to visit for some time. The evening was pleasantly spent in valentine amusements and light refreshments were served by the hostess. On the same evening the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church gave a valentine sociable at the home of Mrs. Barrer, it being largely attended. A musical program was given after the guests had assembled, and this was followed by valentine games and contests of various sorts. The ladies served a lunch consisting of cold meats and tongue sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee. They received a silver offering, from which a nice sum was realized.

Five Hundred Party.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. H. L. Abell was hostess to a number of ladies at a five hundred party. The time was pleasantly spent. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Stubbs Entertains.

Mrs. C. C. Stubbs entertained a number of ladies at her home on Friday afternoon at a five hundred party. The home was decorated as it had been for the party of the previous evening. Mrs. Stubbs served light refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Business Brisk on Railroad.

Business has once more become brisk on the Santa Fe, a large amount of freight being hauled through in every direction. Engine train crews are kept busy continually. On Thursday and Friday the various employees received their pay, and it was reported by railroad officials that the pay day was one of the largest in the history of the cut-off.

RAILROAD MANAGERS TO CONFER WITH UNIONS

New York, Feb. 16.—A conference committee of twelve, representing forty-eight eastern railroads, will meet union representatives soon to discuss the recent demand of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for increased pay. The meeting probably will be held next month. This announcement was made this afternoon by A. W. Sullivan, secretary of the conference committee. Warren S. Stone, head of the engineers, was notified yesterday that the railroad representatives would meet the brotherhood representatives and it now remains to fix a date. The increases asked for by the engineers are from 25 to 50 per cent, and if granted, would mean an aggregate increase to payrolls of $10,000,000. Although nearly fifty roads are concerned, it has been decided to handle the situation as far as possible through the conference committee of twelve vice presidents and general managers.

FREE LIST FATAL TO TYPEWRITER MAKERS

Washington, Feb. 16.—Charles Straus, of New York, representing interests which manufacture typewriter machines, told the senate finance committee today that the typewriter makers would be obliged to close up shop and do business abroad if their machines were placed upon the free list of the tariff, as is proposed in the democratic bill. Much material is asserted, he said. Robert Hearne, a sewing machine manufacturer, said there was no necessity for a protective duty on sewing machines, and that they could be manufactured cheaper in the United States than abroad.

SOCORRO ENTHUSES AT NEW ROAD TO ALBUQUERQUE

Believed Little Work Will Make San Acacio Route Fine Highway; Unique Cable Ferry Over Rio Grande.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Socorro, N. M., Feb. 16.—The people of Socorro are highly pleased at the immediate prospect of a first class highway, suitable for automobiles, between the San Acacio and Albuquerque, and it is understood that the force of convicts recently working on the Blue Canyon road to Magdalena, at present finishing up some important work at San Antonio, will be brought back here at once and put to work on the re-building of the road north out of here past the School of Mines. The road can be easily and inexpensively carried out to the mesa at the San Acacio, and the road thence to Albuquerque is already in first class condition. Mr. Batchelder, a young farmer who has purchased three hundred acres of alfalfa land at San Acacio, is installing a cable ferry with a barge that will carry two or three automobiles of loaded wagons across the Rio Grande without difficulty. The party of road builders from this city that recently went to Albuquerque, is enthusiastic over the possibilities of this road as affording in quick time, an easy and high speed thoroughfare between Albuquerque and Socorro.

HOW THE SANTA FE INSTRUCTED THE FARMERS

Interesting Review of Splendid Work of Agricultural Demonstration Train in Employees' Magazine.

"Instructing the Farmers of New Mexico," is the title of a four-page illustrated article in the February number of the Santa Fe Employees' Magazine, written by Secretary H. B. Henning of the New Mexico Bureau of Immigration and a splendid advertisement for the new state. The story of the trip is given in full, with the results already attained and the experts in charge and the railroad men who did so much to help make the enterprise a success. "Nothing," the article concludes, "has met with such general favor and so much enthusiastic appreciation as has been accorded the demonstration train by the people, and especially the farmers of New Mexico." The frontispiece of the February number is a fine illustration of William F. Bush, superintendent of motive power of the Santa Fe system, who died recently. "He was a splendid example," says the legend beneath the picture, "of the self-made man." The magazine is an illustrated description of the past year's completed great work across the Mississippi River fifteen miles south of Fort Madison, Iowa. As usual, the magazine is full of splendid illustrations of all sorts and a fine line of illustrations.

ALLEGED BRIBE MONEY DISPLAYED IN COURT

Greene, Va., Feb. 16.—Five hundred dollars in bills were found in a trunk today in a room at the Washington Hotel in a building owned by a prominent local merchant.

his former partner, William Tilton, to buy Tilton's silence in the pending case. Stevens was the main witness for the defense in the trial of former County Commissioner E. J. Ester, who is charged with forgery and false pretenses. The case turns on the alleged delivery of lumber to Weld county, Stevens formerly having owned a sawmill at Lyons, Colorado. Stevens testified to the fact of delivery. He denied that his partner knew of any of his dealings with the county and denied having paid the $500 to Tilton. Following the dramatic courtroom scene, it was brought out that Stevens had been arrested on the bribery charge as he was about to board a train for Denver.

I Forgot This Order

"PLEASE take this order; I forgot to leave it on my way to the train this morning. Get it up to the house without fail, won't you?"

The business man frequently hurries to catch his train and forgets to leave the order for house supplies at the grocer's or the butcher's.
