CUPID KEEPS GAIT IT SET ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Eight More Devotees of Blind God Yield to Subtle Spell of June and Leap Year and Apply for Licenses to Wed.

Dan Cupid is a busy boy around Albuquerque these days. Friday he sent four couples to the court house for marriage licenses, all in a bunch, and yesterday he saw to it that four more applied for and obtained the necessary legal sanction between 1 o'clock and closing time.

The business in marriage licenses has run along in a very humdrum sort of way lately, but yesterday and the day before were exceptions, and went to balance up the dull seasons. The clerks in the office of the county clerk, from whom the licenses must be obtained, attribute the sudden increase in business to the advent of June, the bride's own month, but the cynical street car men, who see three out of every four couples who go to the court house for the documents, call it "leap year."

Anyway, the couples are going, and the preachers and justices are reaping the benefit.

The four who yesterday obtained the necessary permission to marry were Perry Kearney and Josephine Elhal, of this city; Juan F. Suarez and Francisca Garcia, of Bernal; Ed. S. Rodgers and Teresa Mae Beaven, both of Albuquerque, and Julia Elizabeth Mayock and Paul Nesch. The former was a teacher in the local public school, the latter being a resident of Deming.

EASTERN PART OF STATE IN FINE SHAPE NOW

Will C. Barnes, Assistant Chief of Grazing, Returns from Wichita National Forest with Optimistic Report.

That the eastern portion of New Mexico is in fine shape was the statement made last night by Will C. Barnes, assistant chief of grazing for the forest service, who returned Saturday from a visit to the Wichita national forest in Oklahoma. On his way back, Mr. Barnes crossed the entire eastern section of New Mexico. He declared last night that he had never seen so much grass nor such excellent prospects for stock raising and farming as were evident all over the state this year.

"The grass is fine," he said, "and the dry farmers are doing splendidly with the moisture of last winter. Many places which had all the marks of abandonment for several years have been opened up again and you can see the ranchers at work. Prosperity seems to be beaming on that section of the country, especially along the Belen cut-off."

Mr. Barnes gave a glowing account of the beauties of the Wichita forest, which he had never before visited. This forest is one of the national reservations. Because of the excellent grazing it affords, many buffalo, elk and deer are kept upon it, as a game preserve.

Local forest service officers are optimistic about securing the passage of an amendment to the forest service laws and regulations which will make it possible to give the states in which national forests are located an additional 25 per cent of the gross income from their forests for purposes of building and maintaining good roads. An amendment which will do this has already been passed by the senate, and is now before the house. Regarding the matter, a local official said yesterday: "The addition of 25 per cent of the forests' gross income to the road funds of the different states may be easily secured if the different commercial organizations will go after the matter hard, and push through the amendment now before congress. This would amount to a considerable sum in New Mexico, where there are many large forests, which are being more and more thoroughly put to use by the people. This use brings revenue which will grow in time to a large amount. Could the state secure a quarter of it, in addition to the quarter it already gets, great benefits might be obtained."

FIFTEEN FIRES IN FIRST TWO WEEKS OF LAST MONTH

Total of Almost Hundred Acres of Forest Land Denuded by Flames Within Fortnight; Blazes on Six Forests.

As the spring showers drain from the ground, the danger from fire in the national forests increases and the season known as the "fire season" begins. This year the fire season through the southeast was very late in opening, and because of the great dampness of last winter, will likely be one of brief duration and little loss.

However, reports made from all the forests in the states of New Mexico and Arizona, from whose supervisors reports are now required every fortnight, show that in the earlier two weeks of May, when the fire season really began this year, there were fifteen fires, spread over six forests in the two states.

He stated that the line was now clear at Selden, and that trains were again being run through without detouring by way of Hiteon and Deming to El Paso.

Mr. Fox said that the Santa Fe did not anticipate any further trouble from the flood waters of the Rio Grande. He was much interested in local conditions, and declared that it was a peculiarity of the Rio Grande that it ate away more bank, etc., when falling than when rising.

FUNNYISMS

IT OUGHT TO. Towns—I'm going to call my drama the "Vacuum Cleaner." Browne—That ought to have some drawing power.

NO DOUBT. "Reggy's wife has sued him for a divorce." "Will she marry again or go back to the stage?" "Yes."

CONCISELY STATED. "What sort of a hit did Reggy make with Peggy?" "Sort of a dull thud."

HAD A REASON. Belle—I understand you bought a gold brick? Harry—Had to. It was the only way I could get my name in print.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT. "Are you sure your chauffeur can be trusted?" "Yes, sir. We belong to the same college fraternity."

CRUELTY. Myrtle—Did you hear how that awfully sarcastic Miss Bangs got eyes with little Arthur Jones? Marion—No. Myrtle—She got up and gave him her seat in the street car.
