ANOTHER TURKISH GENERAL CAPTURED BY RUSSIANS

Petrograd, Jan. 12 (9:52 p. m.).—Norsun Bey, chief of the general staff of the Third Ottoman army corps, who was sent by the sultan to the Caucasus to investigate the cause of the defeat of the Turks by the Russians at Sari Kaniysh, has been captured by Coscalets at Kara Urgan, according to the Tiflis correspondent of the House Gazette.

TERKS STILL CAPABLE OF DESPERATE RESISTANCE

London, Jan. 13 (4:05 a. m.).—A dispatch to the Times from its Petrograd correspondent says: "The victory in the Caucasus finds his difficulties by no means removed since the crushing defeat of the Turks. The Turks have assembled in large force and it is believed that there are 100,000 between Kara and Erzerum. At Kara Urgan, where they have succeeded for five days in holding the Russians back, they still show no signs of giving way. The Turkish resistance here is facilitated by proximity to Erzerum, whence the Turks are able to draw supplies."

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMY TO OVERWHELM SERBIA

London, Jan. 13 (2:35 a. m.).—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail reports it is the general belief in Russia that the projected new invasion of Serbia is due to the urgent demands of Hungarian statesmen that something should be done to defend their country, otherwise they threaten that Hungary will look after herself. It is stated, according to the same dispatch, that an expedition of 400,000 men is being made ready under the nominal command of Archduke Eugene of Austria, to which will be attached a German general as the real leader. The expedition will include two Bavarian army corps and a corps of Prussian reservists and is expected to begin operations about the middle of February.

Shonts, Thomas DeWitt Cuyler and Frank Hendry, were found guilty of criminal negligence today by the coroner's jury which has been holding an inquest on the death of two persons killed in a recent collision of elevated trains.

ROMERO IS ELECTED SPEAKER AS SCHEDULED

New Presiding Officer Pledges Himself to See That Rights of Minority Are Respected at All Times.

Special Dispatch to Morning Journal

Santa Fe, Jan. 12.—Speaker Secundino Romero emerged from the baptism of speech-making at the opening of the first session of the second state legislature today with a halo that it will take superhuman effort to keep on straight. It was a veritable lovefest and figuratively speaking, republicans and democrats, progressives and socialists fell upon each other's shoulders and went like long lost brothers who at last found each other and who, to celebrate the event made the election of Romero for speaker unanimous. If the pledges of the speaker for the two great parties are kept, the opposing political parties will meet each other more than half way to give the square deal and the session will be a model to all state legislatures to come. If the nominating speeches can be taken seriously, an era of good feeling has dawned for the state. "Always with political horobelpay," declaimed Nestor Montoya in nominating the San Miguel county leader. "Let us treat each other with consideration and work together amicably for the public good." On behalf of the republicans Mr. Montoya eloquently outlined a program of salutary legislation that should make every taxpayer's heart rejoice. He drew a picture of the candidate of the republican caucus that was most alluring. A. B. Renahan, in seconding the nomination, was equally as eloquent and equally as altruistic in the sentiments he expressed. "With casting our vote for speaker we cast partnership to the winds," he promised, "and will work conscientiously for the public good."

Representative Henry Swan or Quay was briefer, but equally as enthusiastic in nominating the veteran, John Y. Hewitt, of Lincoln county for speaker as the choice of the democratic caucus. He paid a deserved tribute to the gentle, old democratic warhorse, G. C. Smith of Union county, in a seconding speech that gives promise of forensic fireworks from him during the session. He said you and I are not in politics, said you and I are not in politics, said you and I are not in politics, said you and I are not in politics.

The Keynote Speech

Montoya, Hewitt and Thorp were named a committee to escort the speaker to the chair, from where he delivered the keynote speech of the session, briefly, forcibly, sincerely and characteristically. "We, the republican party, will be held responsible and we cannot share this responsibility. We must therefore act fearlessly to carry out the party pledges as made in our platform." That was the gist of his message, which was as follows: "Gentlemen of the assembly, ladies and fellow citizens: I certainly appreciate this expression of confidence. In having selected me as your president, after I feel that I have been honored to an extent far beyond what I shall ever be able to repay, my friends who have excited me to this position, I hope I shall not disappoint you. My every endeavor will be to try manfully and honestly to find the path where my duty lies and then to fearlessly perform that duty as I see it.

"In performing my duties as a speaker, I shall be my constant purpose to subordinate the will of this assembly rather than by any word or action of mine to restrain it. I shall use every means to facilitate rather than obstruct the free exchange of thought among the members of this body. "The people of New Mexico by their votes again have strongly expressed their confidence in the great Republicans and have renewed their allegiance to it in terms that cannot be gainsaid. As a party that has been twice a great and brilliant victor and in 1911 are held responsible to the people for the enactment of legislation which will secure by them freedom from the ills they have complained against. "The legislature both the houses and remain in its political makeup is compositionally republican and as a party we, the republicans, will be held responsible to the people for the enactment of legislation which will secure by them freedom from the ills they have complained against.

people in carrying out their legitimate business affairs and lighten their burdens, then all the credit for such legislation will be bestowed upon us by a generous and grateful people. "We are confident in which our party is now held by the people of this state will continue for many years to come. "What is demanded of the representatives is that they do their full duty toward the people. And, my fellow representatives, remember the eyes of our constituents are constantly upon us. Our conduct is being constantly and carefully scrutinized; you believe that public spirited citizenship demands that all public officials should be by the voter constantly kept under observation. In no other way can the public official be rewarded or condemned as he merits. Failure upon our part, the majority party here, will certainly bring down upon our heads the just condemnation which failure merits and deserves. As I said before, we, the republicans, as a majority party here, have the power, because we are in the majority, to control the deliberations of this house in all things, but we must not use this power ruthlessly and in disregard of the rights of the minority. The minority members have the right to present their views upon all subjects of legislation which may come regularly before us. They have the right to a free expression of those views and are entitled to a courteous and respectful hearing. I want to assure you gentlemen of the minority that as far as lies within my power, your rights and the duties you owe to your constituents will be safeguarded and protected. "I hope the rules this body adopts for our guidance will carefully and securely preserve the rights of the minority. "In American politics, from time immemorial, it has been the practice of political parties in their appeals to the voters for support to present what is called a platform, embodying the principles of the party. By this platform are certain matters and things representative of the party's performance of duty and things in keeping with this time-honored custom, the republican party of New Mexico by its representatives assembled in convention, deliberately entered into a solemn compact with the people of this state to undertake the performance of certain things. "We have by our party platform promised the people that we will correct certain abuses which have existed since we achieved statehood. These abuses have grown out of the administration of our laws and have become intolerable. We have promised the people relief from such abuses and I regard these political promises made to the people as being as sacred as a private contract entered into between individuals. We must carry out our promises and pledges to the people. "Of all the platform pledges made by our party, the promise to reform the taxation and revenue laws is by far the most important. The subject, taxation, holds more direct interest for every member of our state than any other question. Every one is directly affected by it—the capitalist, the farmer, the stock grower and the laborer. We have in New Mexico a great state. Our natural destiny is to become the peer of such great commonwealths as Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri. We have the natural resources at hand to become as great as the wealthiest states in the Union. In achieving this greatness we have a part to perform. It is up to us to assist our people in building up our state and expanding her industries. We can render this assistance by enacting an equitable and fair revenue law, a law which will by its enforcement not discourage enterprise and investment and not heavily upon the masses. A law which will equitably distribute the burdens of taxation among the people is what is demanded. We have in this matter of enacting a proper tax and revenue law the opportunity of associating our names with a reform which will endure and live, if we enact a law upon this subject which will prevent the taking power from being used as a political club, a law which in its administration is kept entirely free from politics and the provisions of which require it to be enforced with dignity, efficiency and without partiality. We will win the largest measure of gratitude and confidence of the people of our state."

due deliberation. You were elected to the position you are about to fill by the political party of which you are a member, it is true, but the result having been declared, you are now the presiding officer of your political opponents as well as of your political friends. To render the public service as will reflect credit upon your party and do honor to the position is necessary, and that is that you free yourself from all political bias when it comes to deciding questions which affect the general welfare and in which the rights of the people are the sole question to be considered. "Let me hope, then, my friend, that your administration shall be such as will enable every man, woman and child in our dear old county of San Miguel to point to it with exuberant pride."

His Sanchez de Mora was nominated for chief clerk by E. P. Davies in a brief nomination, and was elected by a strict party vote. Your General Antonio Fourchegu was nominated for chaplain by Nestor Montoya, J. W. Staffen seconding the nomination, and the election was unanimous. Representatives Sena, Hewitt and Renahan were appointed a committee to notify the senate that the house had organized, and Representatives Gonzalez, Miera and Mann were appointed to notify Governor McDonald of the same fact. The house then adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The afternoon was devoted by the republican members of the house to a caucus on the employes question, and the longer the members caucused the more hopeless the entanglement caused by promises made by the members. Finally the caucus adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Representative G. T. Black of Roswell, who is ill with the chickenpox, is reported much better and expects to be on duty next week.

The resolution was passed. Senate resolution No. 2 provided that Senator Miera be president pro tem who would preside in the absence of the lieutenant governor and in committee of the whole. DEMORALIZATION CAUSED BY ARRIVAL OF JAPS

(Associated Press Correspondence.) Peking, Dec. 10.—A letter from an American in Weihai, in the war zone through which the Japanese operated against Taling-tau, says the arrival of the Japanese so demoralized the ordinary government, that robbery is rife and certain roads have been abandoned by all traffic. A large temple, plainly visible from the railway, he said, had become the headquarters of a robber band. The Japanese had demoralized all responsibility for maintaining order, and as no Chinese troops were allowed in the war zone, he feared disorder might go unchecked for months. The letter says that where grain and supplies were spared by the sunning floods they have been taken, though paid for, by the troops. An agency of the Chinese Red Cross society has been established at Weihai, which hopes to do something to relieve the wide-spread destitution.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASER WIRE.) St. John, L. I., Jan. 12.—"Roaring Bull" buoy, which with its anchor, weighs 5,000 pounds, was carried away by a whale, according to officers of the Canadian government steamer Lansdowne in port today from a search for the missing guide. The Lansdowne found a dead whale fifty feet long, entangled in the chain of the buoy, which had been dragged a long distance. The whale apparently died from exhaustion.

Perhaps coffee hasn't finished with you, but wouldn't it be wise to quit it before results are serious, and instead use

PLEASE DELIVERS PARTING MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASER WIRE.) Columbia, S. C., Jan. 12.—In his farewell message today to the South Carolina legislature, Governor Blease commented upon what he described as the "encroachment by the federal government upon states' rights," many of which, he asserted, "had been stolen."

"Can it be possible," he said, "that under the lead of a man sometimes called a southerner, the democratic party is to become the party that is taking the power from the states and giving it to the federal government, and that the republican party, under the lead of a fighter of a Whittaker, is to become the state's rights party and stop this stealing of power?"

"I think my message, as declared, 'I have feared my duty to no man or set of men. I trust a fearless independence all well and good. If I have an unfortunate impression, or a well-earned confidence in officers of the government, I feel a great

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASER WIRE.) St. John, L. The Lansdowne found a dead whale fifty feet long, entangled in the chain of the buoy, which had been dragged a long distance. The whale apparently died from exhaustion.
