change. The result was that when the market here opened it was difficult to say whether the longer of the shorts were the most vigorous in pressing the selling side. Stop loss orders proved numerous, and no adequate support was encountered until the setback reached the dollar mark. Improved weather for the harvest in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri seemed to be looked on as more of an offset to any damage inflicted by frost in the spring wheat states. Bulls were further discouraged by increased country offerings of new wheat to arrive.
