Don presented a wonderful varied menu, which was the more commended because of the narrow front of the operations. There were the slight, if not walking back the steady tramp of fresh reinforcements going forward, procession of swift smooth running motor ambulances whose headlights would be back in England in twenty-four hours, faster and steadily rolling procession of powerful motor trucks loaded with shells to find the hungry ever-thundering machine gun troops of the reserves in the fields or beside the gorged roads waiting their call, while the French population stood in their doorways and asked for the latest news from officers and men who knew nothing except concentrating their own parts in the big scheme of things.

Troops Are Drenched.

Sunday, after the attack succeeded, a chill autumn rain fell covering the field with mist and making arduous observation difficult. The troops fighting in the new line were drenched to the skin. Dead and wounded British and German lay side by side where there had been a line of fire.

3,000 German Prisoners.

The German prisoners were well clothed, neat and fresh in their comfortable quarters where they were caught by surprise but evidently they appreciated the generosity of the British rations. Three thousand prisoners were taken in the British attack, a small percentage of the British loss.

The captured German trenches still continue under shell fire.

Grape-Nuts and Cream is a concentrated cereal ration, especially prepared to counteract and rebuild the daily wear and tear of mind, nerves and brain.

Grape-Nuts is made of whole wheat barley, and contains all the nutriment of the grain including the vital mineral salts—Phosphate of Potash, etc., so lacking in white bread and many other foods, but absolutely necessary to thorough nourishment.
