Santa Fe Society Notes

A REQUIEM.

Under the glowing western sky, Lay my body when I die; Here, beneath the blessed sod, Leave me to the west and God!

When the dead shall all arise, Let me see, with quickened eyes, Western mountains, vales and plains, And the ocean with its strains Of melody, repeated o'er To the familiar beach and shore.

Let me see the birds awing, Hear the lark and mocker sing, Breathe the air of earth and sea With fragrances of flower and tree; Heaven then will close me round— Illus in sight and scent and sound.—Elizabeth Critchton.

THE MELTING POT.

It was a mere coincidence that the day after all of Santa Fe had seen "The Melting Pot" at the theater, Mrs. Paul Radin addressed the Santa Fe Woman's club at the Palace of the Governors, on "Revolutionary Russia," but her hearers could not help seeing in her an impersonation of "Vera," the heroine in Zankov's play. Mrs. Radin, a native of Russia, a member of a family active in revolutionary propaganda, brought the personal touch to a subject that is thrilling and romantic. She held the audience that crowded the auditorium spellbound as she told of the black hand, the secret service, the Programs, the Nihilists, and the spiritual, mental and material serfdom of the masses of the people. Youth, beauty, charm and earnestness combined to make deeper the impression of the address. Miss Abraham sang effectively two Russian songs that were applauded. Tea was served in the Rito de los Frijoles room, Mrs. M. C. Chapman and Mrs. Edgar L. Hewett presiding at the tea urn.

PRIMITIVE ART AND ARTISTS.

No less notable than Mrs. Radin's address, was the illustrated talk by K. M. Chapman on Monday afternoon at the Palace of Governors to the class in Archeology of the Santa Fe Woman's club. Mr. Chapman went back to the beginning of design, of art, and found that among primitive man even in the stone age and in the caves inhabited a million years ago, the human mind strove to express itself in beautiful design. Stepping into the dawn of history, Mr. Chapman compared the early art in the Euphrates, the Nile, the Indus, the Yanktsiang valleys and followed it through Greece, Rome, Egypt, Babylon, Japan, to Guatemala, Mexico, Peru, to the Palmito Park and Mesa Verde. The illustrations made still more graphic the intensely interesting talk, which was so absorbing that the class has requested him to continue the subject with two or more future lectures. In the audience were visitors like Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Bronson of Providence, R. I., who were so charmed that they enrolled for the summer school giving up a trip to the Canadian Rockies which they had planned so as to be in the Rito de los Frijoles in August.

NEW MEXICO'S LODGE STAR.

The Palace of the Governors is the civic center of the southwest and the events that have taken place within its walls for more than three hundred years are rivaled by the incidents of the present day in interest. In addition to the two lectures mentioned above, a great meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce and the National Parks association with Assistant Secretary of the Interior A. A. Jones was held in the reception room on Friday. It was an epoch-making occasion as the result of which it is likely that the Pecos forest will in part become a national park and the Palmito Cliff dwellings a national monument, whose fame the United States government will spread to the ends of the earth. Other meetings held this week, were those of the Child Welfare committee and of the Civic Committee of the Woman's club and of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce.

DINNERS AND DANCES.

Friday evening, a number of dinners were given. Dr. James A. Massey was host at one, Mr. and Mrs. Dunlavy at another. A third was a smoker and dinner in honor of Assistant Secretary of the Interior A. A. Jones, at the Montezuma hotel.

Saturday evening, Miss Ethel Church gave an informal dance at her home on East Palace avenue. Tickets were placed on sale this week for the Charity Ball on St. Valentine's Day. It will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Trade and is to eclipse former affairs of this kind, brilliant though these have been. Something like a hundred tickets have been disposed of already assuring a fine throng. The floral decorations are to be most beautiful. The board met the past week and appointed its committees to have charge of the various preparations for the affair.

SOCIAL CENTER MEETING.

At the social center meeting on Friday evening at the high school, Governor McDonald will make an address on "Citizenship" and Mrs. Baehrens will dance several Spanish folk dances.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are arranging for a great patriotic celebration on Washington's birthday in which the entire community is to take part.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

The Ladies' Bridge Tournament at the Santa Fe club, on Thursday evening brought out a larger attendance even than last week. The prize was carried off by Mrs. Charles C. Catron. The successful affair is being managed by Chairman Arthur Sellman of the club's social committee. The Monday club was entertained by Mrs. Arthur G. Jaffa. The extra guests were: Mrs. Small, Mrs. Renzhan, Mrs. March, Mrs. Ervien, and Mrs. Parker. The Thirteen club met with Mrs. Walter Kegel. Mrs. Small, a former member, was a guest. Mrs. Parker was hostess to the Tuesday Evening club, the extra guests being Mesdames Hall, Kegel, Wright, Van and Wickham. The Saturday club met with Mrs. Harry Lee, the guests being Mesdames French and Wells. The Presbyterian Aid society was entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Gay Harrington. The Woman's Guild of the Church of Holy Faith met the same afternoon with Mrs. Paul A. Hall.

ALL PART OF THE GAME.

When your engine's softly purring, — and you take the hills on "high" — When the country rolls beneath you, and above you shines the sky — When the roads are smooth and quiet — and the signposts do not lie —

When beside you sits a maiden with the joy-light in her eyes, — Then it's heaven to jog along!

When the engine starts in missing, and of gasoline you're shy, — When you have a nasty blowout to amuse the passer-by — When the roads are full of mudholes, and a storm is drawing nigh — When beside you sits a bonhead who persists in asking "why?" — Ah! it's there to wheeze along! —Cleveland Plaindealer.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR MRS. BISHOP.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Charles A. Haynes entertained informally in honor of Mrs. Charles L. Bishop, who left yesterday for Gallup to visit Mrs. R. C. Garrett and from there going to San Diego where she will make her residence in the future. It was a sewing party and a score of old-time friends gathered to bid Mrs. Bishop farewell. On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Theodore Corrook entertained for Mrs. Bishop.

ATTRACTIVE ART EXHIBIT.

This week, also, opened the exhibit of fall landscapes, by Sheldon Parsons. His newest pictures are included. All of them are canvases of merit but a few stand out above the others and proclaim that Mr. Parsons is adding to his laurels. There are vistas of the cliff dwelling region, of Taos, of Santa Cruz and of course, of Santa Fe. — Mrs. Parsons knows his Santa Fe intimately and discovers beauty in spots that his fellow citizens have been passing by unobserved never suspecting the loveliness to which they were blind until the genius of Mr. Parsons proclaimed it. Fortunate Santa Fe, to have so great a genius glorify its nooks and byways! Gerald Cassidy also placed an exhibit in the assembly room, a striking picture! "The Answered Prayer," which is bound to arouse much comment and receive much praise.

IN HONOR OF MRS. SMYLL.

Mrs. James A. French was hostess on Wednesday afternoon at a smart social affair in honor of Mrs. S. G. Small who is visiting Mrs. A. E. Renzhan at "The Willows" on East Palace avenue. There were five tables of bridge. On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Renzhan and Mrs. Small will be at home to their friends.

COMING AND GOING.

Mrs. N. B. Laughlin will leave tomorrow for Globe, Arizona, to spend six weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Marshall.

Mrs. R. F. Asplund expects to leave shortly for the east and will remain away several weeks during her absence attending the national meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs and possibly also the National Educational convention in New York. She will visit Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., before returning.

Mrs. T. H. Spencer has returned to her home at Carrizozo after spending the winter at the executive mansion. Her mother, Mrs. McDonald accompanied her for a visit of several weeks at the McDonald ranch home.

Mrs. E. C. Abbott and daughter Jane expect to leave shortly for a visit with Mrs. Abbott's sister in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cassidy go next week to New York, expecting to return next winter. During their absence, Sheldon Parsons and daughter, Miss Sarah Parsons, expect to occupy the Cassidy home.

Judge and Mrs. William H. Pope expect to leave tomorrow for New Orleans, La., to spend some time. They may visit other places before returning for the summer.

Miss Sophie Knapp and niece, Miss Helen Knapp, have gone from Los Angeles to San Francisco to visit relatives.

W. B. Douglas has returned from Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Harwood of Paris, France, have given up their attempt to reach Phoenix and have established their studio in the Hayden house. Dr. and Mrs. Bronson of Brown university, Rhode Island, left for San Diego on Friday but will return for the summer school.

Mrs. Jasper and son of Brookline, Mass., have taken possession of the residence of Adjutant General Harry T. Herring.

Under-Nourished.
"How thin and peaked Simms is looking! You'd think he didn't get enough to eat."
"He doesn't. You see, his wife allows him twenty-five cents a day for luncheon and coffee, so all the luncheon he ever gets is the olive in the cocktail."

Tuberculosis Is Helped

by what may be called the "natural" treatment. This is based on plenty of fresh air, a sufficiency of well-cooked pure food and as large a measure of rest as can be had.

While it should never be neglected, this treatment does not always secure the desired results. Sometimes there is need of medication in order to bring about the requisite body resistance.

In such cases Eckman's Alternative has been used with a large measure of success. Indeed, in many instances, tuberculosis apparently has yielded to this preparation. In any case, it is worth a trial, and since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is safe. From your druggist or direct, Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia.
